

IN-PERSON ARKHAIOS FILM FESTIVALS

Anthropology Student Association (ASA), University of South Carolina, Columbia, SC

At the Department of Anthropology, gain an appreciation for cultural and biological diversity while pursuing research and fieldwork opportunities locally and abroad. No matter what career path students choose to follow, they leave the program with an understanding of human diversity, research skills for collecting and making sense of information and the ability to communicate their findings. Beyond the classroom, ASA is for anyone interested in learning about and discussing culture, linguistics, archaeology and biological anthropology.

Archaeology Museum, University of South Alabama, Mobile, Alabama

The University of South Alabama (USA) Archaeology Museum showcases artifacts from the Gulf Coast and covers over 12,000 years of prehistory and history. The USA

Archaeology Museum fuels public curiosity, awareness and appreciation for the region's past, the ways of life of ancient Woodland cultures, mound-building Mississippian peoples, early French settlers, and an African American family after the Civil War, and its relevance today through exhibitions, education, and public programming.

Darlington County Museum, Darlington, South Carolina

The museum, an addition to the nearly 100-year-old archive building, is filled with Darlington County history. Centuries-old documents, pieces of African American history, NASCAR and racing memorabilia, and droves of Native American historical pieces line the museum's walls.
