JOE EHMAN

Joe Ehman teaches International Baccalaureate Film and is the IB Diploma Programme Coordinator at the Obama Academy in Pittsburgh PA. He has taught film for the past 9 years, and originally went to college to become "Indiana Jones". The experience with Arkhaios was very enjoyable because it combined his love of film, history, and archaeology. The purpose of the filmmakers who submitted to Arkhaios stood out most to him. It was very interesting to see the passion for teaching and history that was evident in all of the films.

RALPH FONTAINE

Ralph Fontaine is an actor, director, writer, and producer who has worked in front of and behind the camera in Los Angeles, New York, and Seattle. Stories, both fictional and true, about the origins, history, and potential future of humanity have captivated him for as long as he can remember. Characters including D'Artagnan from 'The Three Musketeers' and real-world icon Dr. Jane Goodall have inspired him to continue learning about and chronicling the strange experience that is being a human. After acting, directing, and producing for projects ranging from regional theater to reality television, episodic webseries and corporate video, Ralph is currently working on his first novel. In addition to pursuing this variety of creative muses, Ralph enjoys traveling with his wife Tracy.

NATALIE HARVEY

Natalie Harvey was named the Director of the Office of Cultural Affairs at the Town of Hilton Head Island in 2022. She manages the Town's public art, marketing of arts and cultural organizations, community outreach and the annual "Crescendo" celebration focused on the island's art, culture, and heritage. Natalie's educational background is in Art History and Historic Preservation. She was the editor of the Images of America volume "Hilton Head Island." Her interest in the "pre-bridge" era on Hilton Head Island led to her thesis work in graduate school and many exhibitions at her previous position with the Coastal Discovery Museum.

My favorites were "Lost Tombs of Notre Dame" and "IZNIK". Great films again this year.

JENNIFER KNUTSON

Jen Knutson is the Assistant Director of the University of South Alabama Archaeology Museum in Mobile, Alabama (B.A., University of North Florida) and president of the Alabama Archaeological Society, Southwest Chapter and the Florida Anthropological Society. Jen is also a Project Archaeology certified Master Teacher and public archaeologist. Originally from north Alabama, she has excavated sites across northern Florida from St. Augustine to Pensacola, including work on her current M.A. thesis research at the University of West Florida on the French Huguenot Colony of Campbelltown in British West Florida.

"Stones Are Speaking" is my pick!

Her most recent research and publications include "The Anthropology of Food" and the forthcoming manuscript "The Anthropology of Grief". Beyond academia, she actively participates in community outreach, conservation efforts, and cultural heritage projects. Her thesis was on citizen science and indigenous ecological knowledge

LARRY LANE

Larry Lane is an archaeologist and public information coordinator with the South Carolina Department of Natural Resources (SCDNR) Heritage Trust Program. Larry received his MA in Art History from the University of South Carolina (USC) where his research focused on trends that shaped vernacular architectural developments in Columbia, S.C. from 1890 to 1940. He received a BA in Anthropology focused on South Carolina archaeology from USC and a BA in English Literature from Flagler College, St. Augustine, Fla. Larry is a U.S. Army veteran with 23 years of service as a Public Affairs

Specialist and Journalist. I loved all of the Neanderthal films.

ABIGAIL MCCORMICK

Abigail McCormick found her passion in the healing arts after training at the prestigious Heartwood Institute in Northern California. She enjoys bringing a bit of peace and calm to her clients through the healing arts. As an independent artist, Abby enjoys nature photography, mixed medium painting and a love of documentaries on all topics of human existence, human expression and human experience. Abby is an avid nature lover, hiker, camper, and loves experiencing new adventures.

JEFFREY MCQUILLEN

Jeffrey McQuillen, M.A., is an instructor at the University of South Carolina-Beaufort, where he teaches Freshman Composition and film studies; and he is the program coordinator for the Film Minor. This is Jeffrey's seventh year adjudicating for Arkhaios including three as the committee chair.

2025 SCREENING COMMITTEE (CONT'D)

DREW MILLER, REV.

Drew Miller is an Anglican Priest serving in Florence, SC, where he lives with his wife, son, and retriever. Originally from Charleston, SC, Drew grew up gathering fossils and artifacts from dredge mounds and river banks. This sparked a lifelong passion for studying human history, with particular interests in early hominid evolution and in the first peoples of North America. He leads historical tours as a docent with the Florence County Museum, and participates in local digs with the Archaeological Institute of the Pee Dee whenever he can. Drew holds a Bachelors in Sociology (Furman University) and a Masters of Divinity (Trinity, Ambridge).

DR. KILEY MOLINARI

Dr. Kiley Molinari is an Associate Professor of Anthropology, Francis Marion University. Her research focuses on topics such as material culture studies, Indigenous new media, language and cultural revitalization and retention, digital cultural heritage, and collaborative research in Native North America. She has been working on various projects and presentations with the Apsáalooke People (Crow Tribe) since 2010.

DR. ERIC POPLIN

Eric Poplin, Archaeologist, is Senior Archaeologist at Brockington and Associates, where he has worked from their Mt. Pleasant office since 1990. Research interests include plantation archaeology, Native American adaptations in coastal SC, the interactions of Native Americans and Europeans during the Contact era, and military sites. Most recently, Eric has been studying Altamaha pottery made by the Yamasee Indians during their 40-year residence in South Carolina.

IAN N. ROA

Ian Roa is a Ph.D. archaeology candidate at University of Pittsburgh. His dissertation is focused on Maya-animal relationships in ritual ceremonies from the Preclassic to the Terminal Classic (300 BC - AD 1000). He is interested in learning about the life histories of ritually important animals through stable isotope analysis, including documenting their geographic origin and diet. His research is based across four ancient Maya sites in western Belize, seeking to understand if the ceremonial use of specific species correlates with ecological changes and social pressures over time.

JIM SIDLETSKY

Jim Sidletsky teaches Media Arts at the University of South Carolina Beaufort. His own work specializes in the creation of 3D Modeling and Texturing hard surface objects, characters and environments. Most recently, Jim worked on an NFT collection and subsequent trailer for the ResQ Project of sheltered companion animals. Jim also wrote and directed the short animated film "The Ghostly Lovers of Fripp Island", the first in a series of ghost stories based on Low Country tales and lore. Jim contributed 3D modeling and visual effects work to the television series "Dead by Midnight", by You42 productions.

JAN LEE SWEATT

Jan Lee Sweatt is an independent artist of photography and paint, graduating Summa Cum Laude from Queens University, Charlotte, NC with a BA in Art History and Museum Studies. Jan served as the Secretary of the Artifact Acquisition Committee at North Carolina Museum of History. In this capacity Jan developed, with curators, a refinement in the museum's process for acquiring artifacts: confirming authenticity, relevance and prospect of exhibit. In addition to her study of US Southern history, she is persistent in the exploration of film, photography, and ancient worlds.

My favorites: "Hunt for the oldest DNA", "Let it stay between us".

MARIA TRUITT

Maria Truitt is a Senior Video Producer/Editor at Discovery Education in Washington D.C. She holds a B.A. in Anthropology from the University of Virginia, and an M.A. in Visual Anthropology, Ethnographic Documentary from the University of Manchester. In her current role, Maria oversees the production of videos covering a wide range of national and international subjects. She is excited to return as a member of the 2024 selection committee.
