

From the United States

Adam

★★★★★ Love this pin!

Reviewed in the United States on August 1, 2022

Verified Purchase

Love ♥

I had a stroke in 2017. My handicap isn't something that u immediately see. I have the pin on my backpack (purse). It makes things so much easier, at checkout, if u have a question or just in general, as u meet people! Love this! ♥

Helpful

Report

Cpt Roland Jarvis

★★★★☆ does the job, with restrictions

Reviewed in the United States on August 14, 2015

Verified Purchase

plastic, single pin (allows it to swing and not stay straight. Pit falls off easily. It looks good and does the job except for the comments.

One person found this helpful

Helpful

Report

T-Rex

★★★★★ The best invention for a disabled person ever

Reviewed in the United States on April 27, 2015

Verified Purchase

I bought these for me. I suffer with autoimmune diseases and that is considered an Invisible disease. I also give them out to people who suffer from chronic illness in my care packages for WWW.PippasHappinessProject.com and they are a huge hit.

The delivery was fast and packed properly. The product was exactly what I expected.

2 people found this helpful

Helpful

Report

Monique

★★★★★ Great product for Dad that can't communicate!

Reviewed in the United States on April 5, 2015

Purchased these for my Dad. An excellent way for people to understand that he is not able to communicate quickly without a full explanation. Small enough to wear, but big enough for people to notice. Great product.

2 people found this helpful

Helpful

Report