

WEBSITE TERMS OF USE AND LEGAL DISCLAIMER

Effective Date: September 25, 2026

These Terms of Use and Legal Disclaimer (“Terms”) govern your access to and use of <https://drakefordlaw.com>.

By accessing or using this Website, you acknowledge and agree to these Terms. If you do not agree with these Terms, please do not use the Website.

1. INFORMATIONAL PURPOSES ONLY — NOT LEGAL ADVICE

The materials and information provided on this Website are for general informational and educational purposes only. Nothing contained on this Website is intended to constitute, and should not be construed as, legal advice regarding any specific matter or circumstance. Laws, regulations, administrative rules, court decisions, and agency policies may change over time, and legal outcomes depend upon the particular facts and circumstances of each matter. You should not act, refrain from acting, or make legal decisions based solely upon information contained on this Website. You should consult a qualified attorney regarding your individual circumstances.

2. NO ATTORNEY-CLIENT RELATIONSHIP

Your use of this Website does not create an attorney-client relationship between you and Drakeford Law (“The Firm”) or any attorney associated with the Firm. An attorney-client relationship is established only after the Firm has agreed to undertake representation and any required engagement agreement has been executed. Submitting a contact form, sending an email, leaving a voicemail, scheduling a consultation, or otherwise contacting the Firm does not, by itself, create an attorney-client relationship. The Firm reserves the right to decline representation for any reason permitted by applicable law and professional responsibility rules.

3. DO NOT SEND CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

Please do not send confidential, privileged, sensitive, or time-sensitive information through this Website, email, a contact form, or other electronic communication unless and until an attorney-client relationship has been established or an attorney at the Firm has specifically requested the information. Information submitted to the Firm before an attorney-client relationship has been established may not be protected by the attorney-client privilege or other confidentiality protections. Before accepting a new matter, the Firm may need to determine whether a conflict of interest exists. Accordingly, prospective clients should initially provide only the information reasonably necessary for the Firm to determine whether it may consider the representation.

4. NO GUARANTEE OF RESULTS

Nothing on this Website constitutes a promise, warranty, prediction, or guarantee regarding the outcome of any legal matter. Any description of past matters, representative matters, case results, settlements, administrative outcomes, or other results is provided for informational purposes only. Past results do not guarantee or predict similar results in future matters. Every legal matter is different, and an outcome depends upon numerous factors, including the particular facts, applicable law, evidence, procedural posture, decision-maker, opposing parties, and circumstances of the matter.

5. ATTORNEY ADVERTISING

This Website may constitute attorney advertising under the laws and professional responsibility rules of certain jurisdictions. The Firm does not intend the Website to contain any false or misleading statement regarding the Firm, its attorneys, services, experience, or results. No statement on this Website should be interpreted as a guarantee or promise regarding the outcome of any matter.

6. TESTIMONIALS AND ENDORSEMENTS

The Website may contain testimonials, reviews, endorsements, or statements concerning experiences with the Firm or its attorneys. Such statements reflect the experiences or opinions of the individuals providing them and should not be interpreted as a guarantee, warranty, or prediction regarding the outcome of any other legal matter. Results and experiences vary depending upon the facts and circumstances of each representation.

7. THIRD-PARTY LINKS AND RESOURCES

The Website may contain links to third-party websites, government agencies, courts, professional organizations, publications, or other external resources. These links are provided solely for convenience and informational purposes. The Firm does not control and is not responsible for the content, security, accuracy, availability, or privacy practices of third-party websites. The inclusion of a link does not necessarily constitute an endorsement, sponsorship, or recommendation of the third party or its content.

8. NO DEADLINE OR TIME-SENSITIVE RELIANCE

You should not rely upon communication through this Website to protect a legal right or satisfy a deadline. Submitting information through the Website does not mean that the Firm has accepted your matter or agreed to take any action on your behalf. If you are facing a statute of limitations, filing deadline, hearing date, appeal deadline, response deadline, or other time-sensitive legal obligation, you remain responsible for protecting your rights unless and until the Firm expressly agrees to represent you with respect to that matter.

9. WEBSITE AVAILABILITY AND SECURITY

The Firm does not warrant that the Website will be continuously available, uninterrupted, secure, or free from errors, viruses, malicious code, or other harmful components. Users are responsible for taking reasonable precautions when accessing the site.

- To attempt unauthorized access to the Website or related systems;
- To introduce malicious software or harmful code;
- To impersonate another person or entity; or

11. LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, Drakeford Law, its attorneys, employees, contractors, and agents shall not be liable for any loss or damage arising from or related to reliance upon information contained on this Website, inability to access the Website, use of third-party links, or transmission of information through the Website. Nothing in these Terms is intended to limit any responsibility or liability that cannot lawfully be limited or excluded.

12. PRIVACY

Information collected through the Website is subject to our Privacy Policy. By using the Website, you acknowledge that you have had an opportunity to review the Privacy Policy.
