

PRIVACY POLICY

Effective Date: September 10, 2026

Drakeford Law (“Firm,” “we,” “us,” or “our”) respects your privacy and is committed to protecting the personal information you provide when visiting our website, <https://drakefordlaw.com> (the “Website”). This Privacy Policy explains the types of information we may collect through the Website, how we may use and disclose that information, and the choices available to you.

1. Information We Collect

Information You Provide to Us

We may collect information that you voluntarily provide through the Website, including when you:

- Submit a contact or consultation request;
- Send us an email or other communication; or
- Schedule an appointment or consultation.

This information may include your name, email address, telephone number, mailing address, and any information you choose to include in your message. Please do not submit confidential, sensitive, or time-sensitive information through the Website.

Information Collected Automatically

When you visit the Website, certain information may be collected automatically, including your Internet Protocol (IP) address, browser type, device type, operating system, referring website, pages visited, and the dates and times of your visits. We may use cookies, analytics services, and similar technologies to collect information regarding use of the Website.

2. How We Use Information

We may use information collected through the Website to:

- Respond to inquiries and requests for information;
- Evaluate requests for legal services;
- Schedule consultations;
- Communicate with clients and prospective clients;
- Provide and improve the Website and our services;
- Maintain the security and integrity of the Website;
- Analyze Website usage and performance;
- Comply with applicable laws, regulations, professional obligations, court orders, or legal processes; and

- Protect the rights, property, and safety of the Firm, our clients, and others.

3. Attorney-Client Relationship and Confidentiality

Visiting this Website, submitting a contact form, sending an email, or otherwise communicating with the Firm through the Website does not, by itself, create an attorney-client relationship. An attorney-client relationship is showed only after the Firm has agreed to represent you and any required engagement agreement has been signed.

You should not send confidential or sensitive information through the Website before an attorney-client relationship has been established. Information submitted before an attorney-client relationship exists may not necessarily be protected by the attorney-client privilege.

Nothing on this Website constitutes legal advice. Information provided on the Website is for general informational purposes only and should not be relied upon as legal advice regarding any particular matter.

4. Disclosure of Information

We do not sell your personal information.

We may disclose information when reasonably necessary to:

- Service providers that assist us in operating or maintaining the Website or providing related business services;
- Technology, hosting, security, analytics, scheduling, or communications providers;
- Government agencies, courts, regulators, or other parties when required by law or legal process; or
- Protect the Firm's legal rights, prevent fraud, address security concerns, or protect the safety of others.

Service providers may receive information only as reasonably necessary to perform services on our behalf and subject to applicable contractual or legal obligations.

5. Cookies and Analytics

The Website may use cookies and similar technologies to improve functionality, understand Website traffic, and evaluate how visitors use the Website.

We may also use third-party analytics services that collect information about Website activity. Depending on your browser and applicable law, you may be able to disable or limit cookies through your browser settings.

Disabling certain cookies may affect Website functionality.

6. Third-Party Websites

The Website may contain links to third-party websites or services. We are not responsible for the privacy, security, content, or practices of third-party websites.

The inclusion of a link does not necessarily constitute an endorsement of the third-party website or its privacy practices. We encourage visitors to review the privacy policies of third-party websites before providing personal information.

7. Data Security

We use reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards designed to protect personal information collected through the Website. However, no website, electronic communication, or method of transmitting information over the Internet can be guaranteed to be completely secure. Accordingly, we cannot guarantee the absolute security of information transmitted through the Website.

8. Data Retention

We may retain personal information for as long as reasonably necessary for the purposes for which it was collected, to comply with legal and professional obligations, to resolve disputes, and to protect our legitimate business and legal interests.

Retention periods may vary depending on the nature of the information and our relationship with the individual.

9. Children's Privacy

The Website is not directed to children under the age of 18, and we do not knowingly collect personal information from children under 18 through the Website. If we become aware that personal information from a child under 18 has been collected through the Website without appropriate authorization, we will take reasonable steps to delete it.

10. Your Privacy Choices

Depending on where you reside and applicable law, you may have certain rights regarding your personal information, including rights to request access to, correction of, or deletion of certain personal information.

To make a privacy-related request, please contact us using the information below. We may need to verify your identity before processing certain requests.

11. Email and Electronic Communications

If you provide your email address or other contact information, we may use it to respond to your inquiry or communicate with you regarding services you have requested.

If we send promotional or informational electronic communications, you may request that we discontinue such communications by following any unsubscribe instructions provided or contacting us directly.

12. Changes to This Privacy Policy

We may update this Privacy Policy periodically to reflect changes in our practices, technology, legal requirements, or other circumstances. Changes will be posted on this page with an updated “Last Updated” date. We encourage you to review this Privacy Policy periodically.

13. Contact Us

If you have questions regarding this Privacy Policy or the Firm's privacy practices, please contact:

Tresa Fitch Drakeford, Esq.
Telephone: (301) 507-0828
Email: attorney@drakefordlaw.com