- If temperatures are anticipated to go above 80 degrees or below 60 degrees, contact us as soon as possible – we may still be able to bring animals, but only heat/cold-tolerant species.

To ensure a safe and enjoyable experience for all guests and animals, we kindly request the following for the event space, which can be indoors or outdoors, as long as the following provisions are met:

- A clear, level area, at least 4ft by 4ft of flat unobstructed floor space for our wagon/transport cart. If outdoors, there must be a weatherproof shelter with plenty of shade/light for the duration of the presentation. Outside temperatures cannot be higher than 80 degrees, or below 60 degrees.
- The space should be free from, to the best of your ability: loud music, sudden noises, strong chemical/deodorizing smells, and other animals, including cats, dogs, and other reptiles; they must all be out of sight in another room (if indoors) or contained somewhere out of sight for the duration of the event. Guests should be seated or standing at least 4 feet from the presentation area unless invited forward for supervised interaction.
- There should be no food or drinks in the presentation area, and the lighting should be bright enough for guests to see the animals clearly (and get good pictures!) and for us to monitor their well-being. We also ask that at least one responsible adult over 18 be present for every 10 children under 14, and at least two adults for every 10 children under 10. Thank you for helping create a safe, comfortable environment for both your guests and our animal ambassadors.
