In the case of a chemical emergency, you will be notified by a firefighter or police officer, or an alert will be announced on local radio & TV stations.

WHAT SHOULD YOU DO?

- Go indoors and stay there
- Turn on your radio or TV and listen for additional instructions
- Notify hearing-impaired and any handicapped people you know in area
- If in a vehicle, close the windows and turn off ventilation system
- If Evacuation Is Ordered by Authorities:
Stay calm. Pack the most important things you and your family will need, such as medicine, clothes, baby supplies, portable radio, flashlight, checkbook and credit cards. Lock your house and turn on the porch light as you leave. Use your own vehicle if you can. If you have room, take neighbors who need a ride. Keep car windows and air vents closed. Turn on the car radio to hear instructions. If you don't have your own transportation, ask a neighbor or call the fire or police department. Authorized personnel will be stationed along major routes to direct you out of the affected area and toward a reception area. Security personnel will be deployed in the evacuated area to prevent looting and vandalism. You may return to your home as soon as the emergency is declared over by authorities
- If You Are told to Shelter in Place: Stay calm. Close all windows, doors, dryer vents, range vents, exhaust fan grills and fireplace dampers. Turn off all window fans, exhaust fans, furnaces and air conditioners. Stay tuned to local radio or TV stations for further updates.
- Schools will care for and protect children; do not contact the school.
Bring pets inside. Seal cracks around doors and windows with tape or wet towels.
