Looking Ahead -Events on page 2

November, this year, has been a bittersweet month to close the Church's year for both the Diocese as a whole, and more especially for a number of individuals. These have been sad and difficult events. At one point in the latter half of the month five of our active priests were in hospital at the same time. Fortunately for three, the stay was short and now (at the time of writing) only one remains, but periods of recuperation and rehabilitation have still to be spent before full recovery. With the depletion by five in the number of priests earlier in the year you can imagine the challenges which face individual parishes, the Diocese as a whole, the remaining priests, and me.

I have to put on record my gratitude to those priests who through their generosity and their preparedness to move around have enabled parishes to keep the Lord's day holy with the celebration of Mass. Those circumstances were, I think, my worst ongoing nightmare, become reality, though one for which I was already preparing with a further phase in restructuring within the Diocese. About which a little more in a moment.

The 'sweet' is the joyous and happy event was that at the Plenary meeting of the Bishops' Conference of England and Wales (CBCEW), which took place at the same time as this sickness, the bishops passed the resolution that the Shrine of St. Winefride in Holywell should have the designation of "The National Shrine of St. Winefride in England and Wales." It may surprise many that this was not already the case; that the Shrine with its antiquity and centuries' old cult, its tradition of pilgrimage and devotion should not already have been a national shrine, but in terms of recognition and law that was the case – a situation now rectified. Included in that recognition, drawing on the legend of St. Winefride and bringing her life's experience into the twenty-first century is the particular strand of prayer, hope and consolation for the victims, especially women, of sexual harassment, violence or abuse that was inaugurated at the annual Pilgrimage Mass this year.

Only days before the bishops met to discuss this matter, the Holy Father (in an address to the Rectors of Shrines) spoke of the important place of shrines in the life of the Church: they must be places of prayer and forgiveness, adoring silence to 'gaze on the essentials of faith', and consolation and mercy.

Pope Francis said: "Finally, one goes to the Shrine to look to the future with greater confidence. Pilgrims need hope. They seek it in the very gesture of pilgrimage: they set out in search of a safe destination to reach. They ask for hope in prayer, because they know that only a simple and humble faith can obtain the grace they need. So, it is important that, returning home, they feel this has been fulfilled, and are filled with serenity because they have placed their trust in God".
<https://www.vatican.va/content/francesco/en/speeches/2023/november/documents/20231111-incontro-santuari.html>

Those words of Pope Francis, of looking 'to the future with greater confidence', resonate with me as I address you on Advent Sunday about the way we must take the Church into the future in North Wales. There are many facets to the challenge we are already facing and we cannot ignore them now, with an unrealistic hope that things will change for the better sooner rather than later.

Early in the New Year I will hold a number of meetings across the Diocese and explain, in person, a way forward as I see it. All this is to be done in a spirit of hope and preparedness to accept inevitable change. As we begin a new year in the life of the Church I ask you to pray throughout Advent that, inspired and renewed by the celebration of the birth of our Lord and Saviour, we may together accept those difficult decisions which have to be made, and grow stronger as 'missionary disciples' as a consequence.

Please be assured of my continued prayer for you and your families and may Advent be for you a time of blessing, joyous expectation and holiness,

† Peter

Praying with St Beuno's Outreach: 'As one friend to another

In this monthly reflection, St Beuno's Outreach invites you to pray with an image and a verse of Scripture or other material.

During Advent our hearts turn to watching and waiting in hope for the coming of Christ Jesus: the One who comes in the light of truth to dispel our darkness. It is also a season when we try to prepare ourselves personally for the Lord's coming, repenting of those times when we have failed to let his light shine through us.

Take a moment to reflect on this month's image of the Advent wreath. Its intertwined evergreen leaves remind us of the promise of eternal life that Christ brings, and the light of the candles carries special symbolism. In most traditions the first candle, lit on the first Sunday of Advent, represents hope – a sign of our hopeful expectation as we await the coming of the Messiah. The next three candles mark the themes of peace, joy (the pink candle, for the third Sunday of Advent – Gaudete or 'Rejoice' Sunday) and love. The large white candle is the 'Christ candle', lit as we mark the birth of Jesus on Christmas Day.

As you read the prayer, take a moment of quiet to unite consciously with Christians all over the world who are longing and waiting in hope for Christ's coming.

You may then like to reflect:

What do I really desire from Jesus, God made man for me?

What am I longing and waiting for?

How can I be more ready to welcome Jesus when he comes this Christmastide?

Our text this month is the old Opening Prayer for the First Sunday in Advent, which invites us to pray with longing and waiting for the coming of the Lord.

Father in heaven,
our hearts desire the warmth of God's love and our minds are searching for the light of your Word.

Increase our longing for Christ our Saviour and give us the strength to grow in love, that the dawn of his coming may find us rejoicing in his presence and welcoming the light of his truth.

Amen.

Speak to the Lord, as one friend to another, and ask for what you need to grow in love. You may like to close your time of prayer with the expectant, joyful Aramaic word 'Maranatha', the language of Jesus himself: 'Come, our Lord!'

Gospel Year of Mark

The Coming

The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the son of God.

. . . John appeared, baptising in the wilderness and proclaiming a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sin. And all the country of Judea and Jerusalem were going out to him and were being baptised by him in the river Jordan, confessing their sins. Now John wore a leather belt around his waist and ate locusts and wild honey. And he preached, saying, "After me comes one who is mightier than I, the strap of whose sandals I am not worthy to stoop down and untie. I have baptised you with water, but he will baptise you with the Holy Spirit.

(Mark

1:1,4-8 ESV-CE)

Nothing that is worth doing can be achieved in our lifetime; therefore, we must be saved by hope.

Nothing which is true or beautiful or good makes complete sense in any immediate context of history; therefore, we must be saved by faith.

Nothing we do, however virtuous, can be accomplished alone; therefore, we must be saved by love.

No virtuous act is quite as virtuous from the standpoint of our friend or foe as it is from our standpoint. Therefore, we must be saved by the final form of love which is forgiveness.

The Gospel According to Mark

As we embark upon the 'Year of Mark' for the Gospel readings through the liturgical year, here is a thumb nail description of his work.

The gospel of Mark has a narrative structure composed of a particular liveliness of accent assembled within a project in which theological interest dominates historical preoccupation. His scope in fact, is to place in relief the figure of Jesus as the "gospel of God," the kingdom which he came to announce, his destiny as the suffering king, crowned on the cross and victor over death.

Throughout the coming months we will hear much of St. Mark's Gospel in the liturgy (Lectionary: Sundays Cycle B - 61.1% and Weekdays Cycle 2 - 96.3%), there is that and still more to discover from the sixteen chapters comprising 678 verses. Why not give it a go and read the whole of St. Mark's Gospel at home, alone or with your family, or with fellow parishioners in the coming months. Reading the Gospel in that continuous way enables you to make connections and gain understanding that cannot be made with even the most attentive listening at Mass.

Discover the key highlights of this Gospel in a creative and fun way:

A Layman's view

For centuries, it was thought that the Gospels were written in the order we say them, "Matthew, Mark, Luke and John". But biblical scholarship, (seen as too cerebral and intellectual) saw that really Mark must be the first to have been written.

Why?

Could Mark have heard Peter speak about Jesus?

Could he even have been there?

What makes us think that?

Because when Jesus calmed the waters, Mark says that Jesus was lying on a cushion in the boat, and when Jesus was arrested, Mark says that a young man ran away naked.

of Mark:

How did he know these things? They are such startling images!!

Then, scholars found that just about ALL the stories and parables, the miracles and the words of Jesus are found in Matthew and Luke, or one or the other, suggesting that Mark really was the source of information and detail.

So, if we want to get to know Jesus, then Mark is the best source.

AND, as the shortest Gospel, it won't take long to find out!!

It is well worth reading..... Of course!

NATIONAL SHRINE OF ST. WINEFRIDE IN ENGLAND & WALES

Bishop Peter writes:

"I am delighted that the Bishops of England and Wales have elevated the Shrine of St. Winefride in Holywell to the status of a National Shrine. Without changing the historic interest and character of the Shrine - drawing on the legend of St. Winefride itself - It brings the added relevance of that aspect of healing and consolation, for women especially, who have been the victims of sexual harassment, violence or abuse."

Sadness after a moment of Celebration

Joy and sadness are part of our human life. This has been the experience of the parish of Connah's Quay.

On Sunday 19th November, during the 11.00 am Mass celebrated by Father Jaspher, David Marshall was presented with his gold medal from Paul Briers, the National Honorary Lay President of the Archconfraternity of St Stephen.

The Gold Medal is normally presented for 50 years of service on the altar. The parish was delighted that David received his medal that weekend.

The joy of celebration turned to sadness, because that very week, on 23rd November David was found at home, having passed away suddenly.

David was a pupil at Venerable Edward Morgan, and then St Richard Gwyn High School, where although always in delicate health he nevertheless worked hard and loyally. David's life was always one of sincere effort, no matter the difficulty, and in which he always wanted to help others and succeed.

His many school friends will remember David with fondness and love, and the thoughts and prayers of his parish, and friends are with his father, Tom, and the family.

May David's eternal reward be in heaven, and may he rest in peace.

The Archconfraternity of St Stephen

Known as

The Guild of St Stephen

The Altar Servers' Guild

History of the Guild

The Guild of St Stephen is an International Organisation of Altar Servers founded in England in 1904 by Father Hamilton McDonald when he formed a Society of Altar Servers at the Convent of the Sacred Heart in London. In 1905, Pope Pius X gave his approbation to the Canonical establishment of the Guild at Westminster Cathedral and in 1906, the Sacred Congregation of Rites made the Guild an Archconfraternity prima primaria enabling all the parish branches to be linked with it. The Guild spread, and in 1934, Pope Pius XI enabled all Guilds of Altar Servers throughout the British Commonwealth to be affiliated with the Archconfraternity at Westminster. The objectives of the Guild:

- To encourage, positively and practically, the highest standards of serving at the Church's liturgy and so contribute to the whole community's participation in a more fruitful worship of God.
- To provide altar servers with a greater understanding of what they are doing so that they may serve with increasing reverence and prayerfulness and thereby be led to a deepening response to their vocation in life.
- To unite servers of different parishes and dioceses for their mutual support and encouragement.

The Guild Medal

Reminders of St Stephen,
the first Martyr.

At the top is the crown, the sign of victory and martyrdom.

The words

“Cui Servire Regnare est”

To serve is to reign.

The Chi Rho indicates Christ at the centre of servers' lives.

The palm branches are traditional signs of martyrs.

The medal is worn with a red cord - red as the colour of martyrdom.

The Guild Patrons are St Stephen, and St Thomas More.

The 1983 Code of Canon Law did not distinguish between male and female, so some parishes accepted female altar servers. It was not until 15th March 1994 that the Congregation for Divine Worship affirmed that both men and women may serve at the altar. Pope Francis in 2021 confirmed this as a 'permanent permission'.

Generally, altar servers are considered old enough after receiving First Communion.

It remains an honour to be so closely involved in the liturgy

Annual Mass in Cardiff

Leaving Wrexham at 6am for Cardiff I joined members of the Archconfraternity of St Stephen for the annual Mass at St David's Cathedral. Making myself known to the persons in charge, I was made very welcome. With Mass starting at noon, I joined the many already there, and once robed we joined other servers already assembled. The Mass was celebrated by Archbishop Mark O'Toole and about 20 priests concelebrated. We were about 200 servers. The 300+ congregation consisted mainly friends and relatives of the servers.

Servers attended from England and Wales as well as one from Kentucky! Otherwise, the furthest travelled was from Lancaster.

After Mass we posed for photos, and then enjoyed refreshments before travelling home. (PRH)

Around and About in the Diocese

Secular Franciscan Order - SFO

(or O.F.S - Ordo Franciscanus Saecularis)

In the thirteenth century, St Francis of Assisi and his brothers became so popular that hundreds of people wanted to leave everything to join him. It became a bit of a problem!

Local tradesmen and ordinary people were needed to work at their jobs to keep the local economy going. Not everyone could be a monk or friar. Nor could every woman opt for the cloistered life with the newly formed Franciscan sisters started by St Clare.

So, the (friars) became known as the First Order. The ladies who joined Clare were the Second Order. Now there was a need for a Third Order: lay people who would be able to adopt the Franciscan spirituality and life-style without leaving jobs and family life.

Today, that Third Order has become the Secular Franciscan Order. It is a worldwide community of people who find a great example in the life and spirit of St Francis and St Clare. Because of the relevance and joyfulness of the Franciscan style and spirit, the appeal is there for the young and old.

Nowadays, many people are concerned about ecology, the environment, social justice, meditation / mindfulness and a lighter, freer touch when it comes to faith. All these are addressed by the Franciscan Way.

The Franciscan spirit is characterised by humour, humility, an appreciation of simplicity and earnest desire to live the Gospel while acknowledging our weakness, and often failure, to do so. Franciscans rejoice in being a brother or sister of all created things – rocks, stars, trees, rivers, animals and every human being. This blend of fraternity and gratitude make the pursuit of peace and concord inevitable.

I belong to the Chester fraternity and try to attend the monthly meetings where I can meet and talk with my brother and sister Franciscans for mutual encouragement in following the Franciscan way. The OFS in the Wrexham diocese is in Flint.

Having just joined the OFS I am still an 'enquirer', but I can already see that it is the sort of community needed today to counteract some of the more negative and destructive influences that are having such an impact on our lives.

There is a good website for more information (<https://ofsgb.org>). Have a look and see if you might like to come and see what attracted all those medieval folk over 800 years ago.

Thought for the day:

You are writing a Gospel,
 A chapter each day,
 By the deeds that you do,
 And the words that you say.

They read what you write,
 If it's false or it's true.
 Now, what is the Gospel,
 According to you?

What is time?

When a man sits with a pretty girl for an hour, it seems like a minute.
 But let him sit on a hot stove for a minute -and it's longer than any hour.

That's relativity!

In Advent, the task is a simple tradition: create a CRIB
 Take a box, any size. Lay it on its side.
 Cover with "crumpled" paper, preferably grey or black (like rock)

Place in it:

- week 1, hay/straw/grass, ox and ass
- week 2, shepherds, sheep, manger
- week 3, Mary and Joseph
- week 4 stars and angels
- Christmas Day, Baby Jesus.

The figures can be drawings, made and coloured by the children.

In this way, Advent is a time of anticipation, and preparation. It teaches the concept of 'waiting' and time passing. It can be decorated, and coloured as is wanted. Most of all, it is YOUR crib.

Advent wreath

Make a circle of leaves, with four purple candles, and one white. Light one each week, saying a prayer. A good song to sing is 'Christmas is coming, the church is glad to sing'. Words in the hymn books, or 'on line'.

Advent Calendar

Swap a chocolate for a prayer this year!! A daily prayer instead of a daily chocolate. Healthy as well!

The Christmas Tree

When that arrives (or is brought from the attic), decorate with a prayer about Light and Hope, and reflect that evergreen is the everlasting love of God.

The Christmas Cake

Stirring the cake is the time to make a wish (for others). A wish for someone else is a prayer.

Beware what you wish for.....

A young man fell in love with a highly respected actress. For months he escorted her to all the 'right' places and then decided he wished to marry her. Fearful for his own reputation, he hired a private detective to investigate her background. The agent had no knowledge of the client, and presented the report:

"Miss Xxxxxx has an excellent reputation. Her past, spotless, and her associates beyond reproach. The only hint of scandal is that in the past few months she has been seen in the company of a young man of doubtful reputation."

Out of the mouths....

A class of nine year-olds performed their nativity play. It opens at the inn. Joseph and Mary ask for a room.

Innkeeper: "Can't you see the 'No Vacancy' sign?"

Joseph: "Yes, but can't you see that my wife is expecting a baby any minute?"

Innkeeper: "Well, that's not my fault"

Joseph: "Well, it's not mine either."

Are we a welcoming community...?

The retiring parish sidesman was introducing his young successor to the role. "And, remember, my boy, that we have nothing but good kind Christians in this church – until you try to put someone else in their seat"

A definition of Patience:

Something you admire in the driver behind you, but not in the one ahead.
