LUXURIOUS MEXICAN CARIBBEAN

YOUR NEXT ESCAPE

BY SOFÍA LUST

There's luxury you can see and there's luxury you can feel, and the Mexican Caribbean is one of those rare places that offers both. White-sand beaches and turquoise water may be the backdrop, but what keeps travelers coming back are the details: a massage with Maya clay, a mezcal tasting at sunset, a plunge pool that disappears into the jungle.

Think White Lotus meets Frida Kahlo: cinematic, sensorial and always rooted in something local.

The true upscale experiences happen just beyond Cancun's borders, in Riviera Maya, Tulum, Isla Holbox and select corners of Cozumel and Bacalar. ▶

Where to Stay:

Design, Detail and Discretion

Luxury starts with where you sleep — but more importantly, how you feel when you wake up.

At Rosewood Mayakoba, you’re transported by boat to your private suite hidden within a mangrove lagoon. Your butler leaves your favorite coffee at your door in the morning. The bathtub has its own view. Nothing seems overdone — just right.

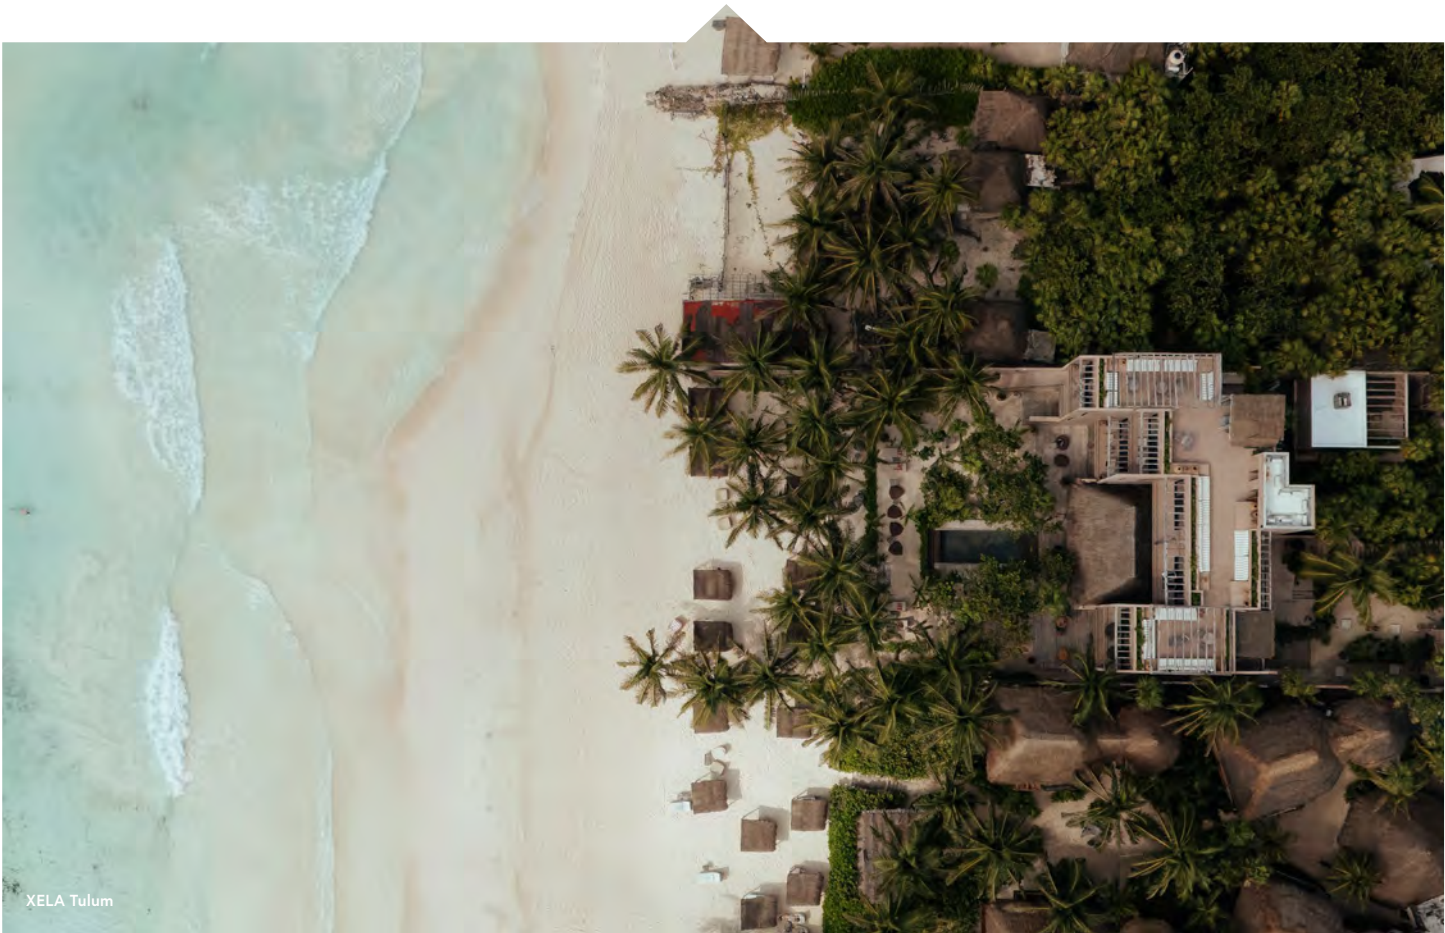

Hotel Esencia is a former private estate turned boutique resort that feels more like an artist’s retreat than a hotel. Here, every detail is intentional. Rooms are sunlit, minimal and elegant. The clientele? Discreet. Understated. Mostly in linen.

Classic Vacations features both Rosewood Mayakoba and Hotel Esencia in its curated collection of sumptuous beachfront escapes across the Riviera Maya.

In Tulum, the vibe shifts. Properties like Habitas and La Valise are designed with soul: stone basins, raw woods, outdoor showers, local art. At Habitas, the rooms are tented sanctuaries with canvas walls, palapa roofs and hardwood floors — some with private plunge pools and ocean views. The on-site restaurant, Moro, cooks over open fire, and the hotel offers sunrise yoga and cacao ceremonies. La Valise, meanwhile, features jungle and beachfront suites, including ones where the bed rolls out onto a private terrace so you can sleep under the stars. Some have soak tubs or plunge pools and there’s even access to a private cenote.

Looking for off-grid? Casa Chablé — a remote ecoluxury resort within the Sian Ka’an Biosphere — is accessible only by boat or 4x4. The reward? Ultimate seclusion, private-chef dining and Wi-Fi only if you ask for it.

Once a sleepy fishing village, Mahahual has blossomed into a refined yet authentic culinary destination, thanks to its proximity to the Mesoamerican Barrier Reef

Gourmet Cuisine:

From Fire to Fine Dining

This is a region where accomplished chefs are redefining Mexican cuisine through local sourcing, bold creativity and global technique.

In the Grand Costa Maya, Bacalar offers lakeside dining experiences like Los Aluxes, where dishes such as tikin xic — a local Maya fish dish marinated in achiote and cooked in banana leaves — are served alongside refreshing hibiscus water. For a vegan twist, Mango y Chile serves tropical dishes like mango ceviche and Caribbean-inspired “burgers.”

Once a sleepy fishing village, Mahahual has blossomed into a refined yet authentic culinary destination, thanks to its proximity to the Mesoamerican Barrier Reef and a growing foodie scene. Maya Chan Beach Club, just a short shuttle from the cruise port, blends laid-back elegance with quality cuisine — think skirt steak marinated in

Mayan herbs, fresh white sea bass in garlic butter and Veracruz-style charro beans prepared in their beachfront kitchen.

In the heart of the village, Tropicante Beach Club is a local favorite, especially praised by cruise visitors for its shrimp ceviche and limey guacamole served in palm-shaded comfort.

Visitors can also stroll through the small Mahahual Market, where artisans offer Huichol beadwork and Talavera pottery.

In Holbox, the culinary rhythm is set by the sea. At Luuma, charred octopus skewers glazed in achiote butter are served beneath lantern-lit palms, blending rustic charm with refined ambiance.

For something equally elegant but more relaxed, Milpa and Painapol offer distinctive takes on local flavors. At Painapol, coconut-lime ceviche arrives in a hollowed-out pineapple, while smoothie bowls adorned with edible flowers and tropical fruit have become island icons.

In Maya Ka’an, culinary tradition thrives in community life. Visitors can join local families — often around Felipe Carrillo Puerto’s vibrant market — to handpick ingredients like chaya, habanero and fresh tortillas. From there, community-based cooking classes in villages such as Muyil offer immersive experiences: guests learn to prepare poc chuc (pork marinated in regional citrus) and sikil p’ak (roasted pumpkin-seed and tomato dip) using ancestral techniques over wood-fired stoves. These workshops typically include a shared meal under a thatched palapa, along with a stroll through traditional milpas — small Maya farms — where many of the ingredients are grown using century-old methods. ▶

Wellness:
Grounded in Ritual, Elevated in Design

In this corner of the Yucatán Peninsula, wellness isn't just something you book — it's something you live. From jungle-fringed cenotes to ancient healing rituals, the entire setting invites you to slow down, breathe deeper and reconnect with yourself. Many luxury resorts draw inspiration from Maya holistic health, blending local herbs and time-honored traditions into their treatments.

Grand Velas Riviera Maya sets the tone with its award-winning SE Spa, where hydrotherapy circuits, aromatherapy rituals and Maya clay treatments take center stage. Each experience is designed to restore balance while embracing the Riviera Maya.

At Rosewood Mayakoba, “Sense, A Rosewood Spa®” creates a sanctuary of serenity with treatments using local ingredients inspired by ancestral practices. From open-air spa suites overlooking the mangroves to healing journeys rooted in nature, this is indulgence with intention.

Chablé Maroma offers one of the most authentic settings, as its spa is literally built around a cenote. Every treatment begins with a foot bath and intention-setting ritual. Guests can experience obsidian stone therapies, cacao ceremonies and full-body exfoliations with honey harvested on site.

For those seeking privacy and personalized wellness, Banyan Tree Mayakoba introduces Eastern and Maya influences through its holistic spa menu. Signature treatments incorporate herbal compresses, sound therapy and the soothing elements of water in tranquil villa settings.

When your schedule is nonstop, your mind overstimulated and your energy stretched thin, taking a spa vacation is strategic. This is your chance to unplug, recharge and return with clarity, calm and focus. Let the Mexican Caribbean remind you what it feels like to truly take care of yourself.

Upscale Activities:
More Than Just Sunbathing

For some, luxury means doing as little as possible. But for others, there's a full menu of upscale experiences — on land and at sea.

Sailing is one of the best ways to explore this coast. Private catamarans depart daily from Puerto Aventuras or Cozumel, usually with snorkeling gear, paddleboards, meals by an onboard chef and a crew ready with your next mimosa.

Divers and snorkelers can explore the Mesoamerican Barrier Reef — the second-largest in the world — via private dive excursions to coral reefs and underwater caves. Cozumel and Akumal offer some of the region's best visibility.

Golfers can tee off at championship courses like El Camaleón, designed by Greg Norman and a host for top-tier events. Located within the world-renowned Mayakoba resort, this course gracefully integrates landscapes, including tropical jungles, winding mangroves, serene freshwater canals and pristine oceanfront views.

Traveling with Kensington? They'll match your style with private access to Tulum's ruins, guided visits to Cozumel's coral reefs or chef-led cooking classes back at your villa in Playa del Carmen. Each activity is custom-built — from private transport to personalized service — so that every outing feels like it was designed just for you.

Sip and Savor:
Tequila, Mezcal and More

Cocktails here don't come with paper umbrellas — they come with stories you can taste. At Zapote Bar in Playa del Carmen, ranked #11 in North America's 50 Best Bars, head bartender Joshua Monaghan crafts drinks using local ingredients like hoja santa, cacao and wild herbs — along with inventive twists like their Negroni variants. Over in Tulum, Arca blends jungle flavors into its libations and dishes; think mezcal-infused cocktails paired with smoked pumpkin seed dips and open-fire cooking.

Wine culture is quietly blossoming too. At Riviera Maya spots like NÜ and Axiote, sommelier-selected wines from regions such as Baja California's Guadalupe Valley and Querétaro are poured alongside dishes that marry Mexican sea-to-table freshness with South American varietals.

LUXE AT THE PORTS

A bite of grilled lobster. The scent of salt carried on a breeze. Time stretches. The horizon softens. The Mexican Caribbean doesn't just redefine luxury. It reminds you why you crave it in the first place.

COZUMEL

Book a private catamaran to El Cielo, a secluded sandbar known for its crystal-clear water and abundance of starfish — only accessible by boat. Or spend the day unwinding at the Spa at Dreams Cozumel Cape Resort & Spa, known for its holistic treatments and hydrotherapy circuits.

ISLA MUJERES

Spend the day at Playa Norte, one of the world's most beautiful beaches. Enjoy VIP service at Playa Norte Beach Club or the chic Green Demon Beach Club, where hammocks sway over turquoise waters and menus feature fresh ceviche, lobster and handcrafted cocktails. For a more upscale vibe, Oceanvs Beach Club combines elegant design with Caribbean flavors and sunset views that will take your breath away.

PROGRESO (YUCATÁN)

Take a chauffeured ride to Mérida for lunch at Rosas & Xocolate, a beautifully restored colonial mansion that houses a restaurant, boutique spa and artisanal chocolate shop. Afterward, wander through concept stores and art galleries before heading back to the ship.

Small-Group Excursions

Not Just Different, Better

For travelers who want to go deeper, Windstar Cruises delivers something few others can: the freedom of a yacht-style experience, with all the comfort and care of a luxury cruise.

Serving fewer than 350 guests, Windstar's all-suite and sailing yachts reach smaller ports where larger ships can't go — places that feel worlds away but are surprisingly within reach. Even in more well-known destinations, Windstar shows you a side that most travelers miss — with overnight stays and small-group excursions that get you closer to local culture and everyday people.

On board, the atmosphere is refreshingly relaxed, with genuine, friendly service from a crew that makes you feel right at home. Suites feel like private retreats, with plush linens, spacious closets, granite vanities and thoughtful touches like L'Occitane bath products.

Voyages include perks most would consider "extras" — like complimentary specialty dining, 24-hour room service, gym and sauna access, and exclusive cultural discovery events. And with itineraries across Europe, Tahiti, the Caribbean and beyond, there's always something new to explore.

Windstar isn't just small-ship cruising. It's a smarter, more personal way to see the world — and one travelers tend to return to, again and again.

Thanks to Oceania Cruises’ immersive mixology program, average drinks are elevated into something quite special. Across the fleet, you’ll find the latest cocktail-crafting trends and techniques, such as Negronis aged in wooden barrels, entertaining rum mixology experiences, unique specialty beverage carts and more. These experiences have been perfected at Founders Bar, a chic hotspot on Oceania Vista and Oceania Allura, where you can settle into a snug armchair and watch your cocktail be prepared tableside. Chef's Table

Best Overall Wine Experience

Wine Cruises, AmaWaterways

Although most of the cruise lines in this publication have excellent wine lists and onboard sommeliers, AmaWaterways gets the nod from our travel advisors. This is mainly due to one important fact: AmaWaterways often sails through Europe’s most iconic winemaking regions, giving them unparalleled access to iconic vineyards and winemakers. They also host more than 80 annual Wine Cruises, where guests are treated to specially curated wine tastings guided by an expert. One of the best parts of these Wine Cruises is visiting Europe’s legendary vineyards and wineries. Whether you’re strolling through France’s 14th-century Château de Montaigne or visiting Austria’s stately Burg Clam castle, you’ll discover the local wine culture in ways you’ll never forget.

Best Exclusive Dining Experience

S.A.L.T. Chef’s Table, Silversea

Silversea’s S.A.L.T. (Sea And Land Taste®) program takes culinary immersion to a new level through a comprehensive approach that will leave your tastebuds buzzing. While the program includes the S.A.L.T. Kitchen with an ever-changing menu, the S.A.L.T. Bar serving regionally crafted cocktails, and hands-on classes at the S.A.L.T. Lab, the highlight is the nightly showcase at the Chef’s Table. This intimate scene revolves around a choreographed menu of small plates highlighting regional flavors and star ingredients, all accompanied by special wines and cocktails. For example, on a Mediterranean cruise, you may enjoy Mazara red prawns from Sicily served with artichoke and citrus, or Piedmont-grown Black Venus rice with monkfish, chorizo crumbs and saffron aioli. Each course is served with illustrated cards explaining the hero ingredients you are about to enjoy.

Best Spa Service

Zero Gravity Wellness Massage, Regent Seven Seas Cruises

While any good spa treatment should transport you to a higher plane, Regent’s Zero Gravity Wellness Massage takes you to outer space. Provided in the cruise line’s Serene Spa & Wellness™ center — a globally inspired, tranquil haven of health, beauty and wellness — this treatment helps you achieve a state of weightlessness as the advanced treatment table suspends your body, allowing for precise and targeted therapy on every muscle group. It feels as if you’re floating in the cosmos, being massaged by celestial beings.

Wellness Massage

Best Caviar

Caviar in the Surf, Seabourn

Seabourn is the king of caviar. Not only do they provide complimentary caviar throughout your voyage, but one of their most popular Signature Events is based on the delicacy. Available on select sailings in the Caribbean and Thailand, Caviar in the Surf® is an upscale beach barbecue where uniformed staff members wade out into the water and invite guests to get iced Champagne and caviar at a surfboard bar. This lavish event is an all-out beach party filled with music, watersports and plenty of time to enjoy your lunch. For polar cruises, Seabourn also offers a Caviar on the Ice event, but this one is on deck ... there’s no need to plunge into the cold waters to get served.

It feels as if you’re floating in the cosmos, being massaged by celestial beings.

Afternoon Tea

Best View from Your Room

Panorama Suites, Avalon Waterways

Everything about Avalon’s 200-square-foot Panorama SuitesSM was made with the view in mind. It all starts with the window-facing Comfort CollectionSM bed, a haven of softness that is difficult to escape each morning. From your bed, you’ll savor both the complimentary Continental breakfast room service as well as the view from the wall-to-wall panoramic windows that open a full seven feet wide to create river cruising’s only Open-Air Balcony®. This creates the ideal setting to leisurely watch hilltop castles, bustling villages and sprawling vineyards pass by. It’s tempting to keep ordering room service and spend the entire day in bed, though the cruise line’s included shore excursions will motivate you to eventually leave your room.

Best Onboard Education

Guest Lecturers, Viking

Serious travelers love to learn about the places they visit. While the best way to do so is via a shore excursion, some cruise lines complement those experiences with onboard lectures and classes. According to our travel advisors, Viking has the best Guest Lecturers. In addition to the Viking Resident Historian on every cruise, Guest Lecturers are brought on board to cover such diverse topics as art, architecture, music, geopolitics, the natural world and more. These are not ordinary subject matter experts — they’re authors, astronauts, military commanders, former diplomats and news correspondents, all eager to share their knowledge with you.

Best Tea Service

Afternoon Tea, Cunard

It will be no surprise to anyone to discover that the best afternoon tea service — the most British of traditions — is found on a historic British cruise line, Cunard. Every day aboard their distinctive fleet, between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m., Cunard’s signature Afternoon Tea takes place in the regal Queens Room. Here, white-gloved waiters bring out delectable finger sandwiches, scones and patisserie on fine-bone china, along with several types of Twinings fine-leaf teas to choose from. Devonshire clotted cream and strawberry preserves are on hand to dress up your scone, along with a resident pianist or harpist to fill the air with pleasing melodies. Make the occasion extra special by donning a tea dress or a smart casual suit, though more casual dress is certainly welcomed.

AMPLIFY YOUR ITINERARY

WHAT TO WEAR, READ, EAT AND BUY
ON YOUR NEXT BIG JOURNEY

BY AMY MUTSCHER

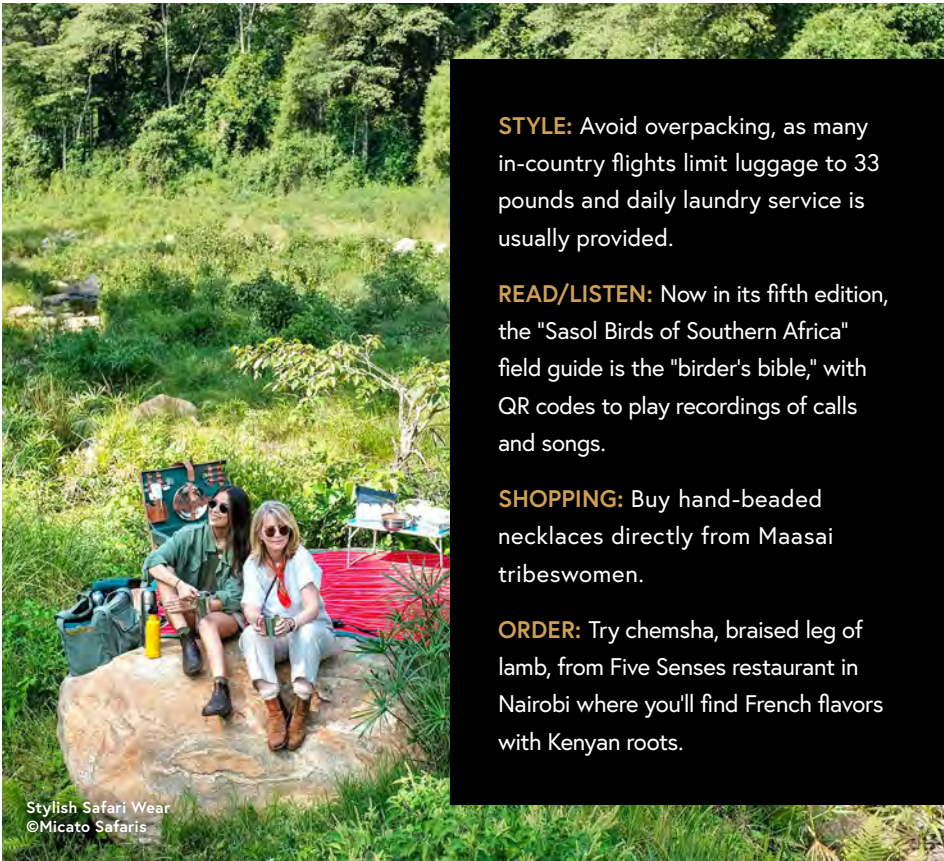

Much of the excitement around trip planning is the building of anticipation as you sift through the options and come to decisions. Once the cornerstone of your itinerary is laid, add a few flourishes that elevate your vacation into one of life's most treasured experiences. Imagine yourself in the back seat of a Land Rover on the Serengeti, or on deck as your cruise ship pauses to observe glaciers calve and splash into the sea, or toasting an anniversary at a seaside taverna in Crete. How will you complete the picture? Read our recommendations on how to immerse yourself in the journey. ►

African Safari

Atop many travelers' wish lists is a luxurious African safari. The prospect of seeing rare wildlife in its ancient homeland is reason enough before adding all the fabled enhancements like hot-air ballooning, villager greetings, guided walking treks and spectacular sundowners. Designing the perfect safari vacation lends itself to expert guidance, and our agency can help answer many common questions about planning the trip of a lifetime.

Maasai Beaded Necklace

STYLE: Avoid overpacking, as many in-country flights limit luggage to 33 pounds and daily laundry service is usually provided.

READ/LISTEN: Now in its fifth edition, the "Sasol Birds of Southern Africa" field guide is the "birder's bible," with QR codes to play recordings of calls and songs.

SHOPPING: Buy hand-beaded necklaces directly from Maasai tribeswomen.

ORDER: Try chemsha, braised leg of lamb, from Five Senses restaurant in Nairobi where you'll find French flavors with Kenyan roots.

Alaska Cruise

Among the most-searched cruise destinations, Alaska is a winning pick for a multi-generational family vacation. Less-mobile family members can participate in many of the beloved aspects of visiting Alaska: wildlife-watching with binoculars from a private veranda, attending the popular lumberjack show and taking a seat at the table every night for dinner with the entire family. Consider booking a concierge-class suite that offers outsized benefits like opulent interiors, dedicated attendants and exclusive access to private lounges and sundecks.

STYLE: Alaska fashion is functional with a nod to Native heritage. Pair locally made XTRATUF boots with a Copper River Fleece vest or hat to complete the look.

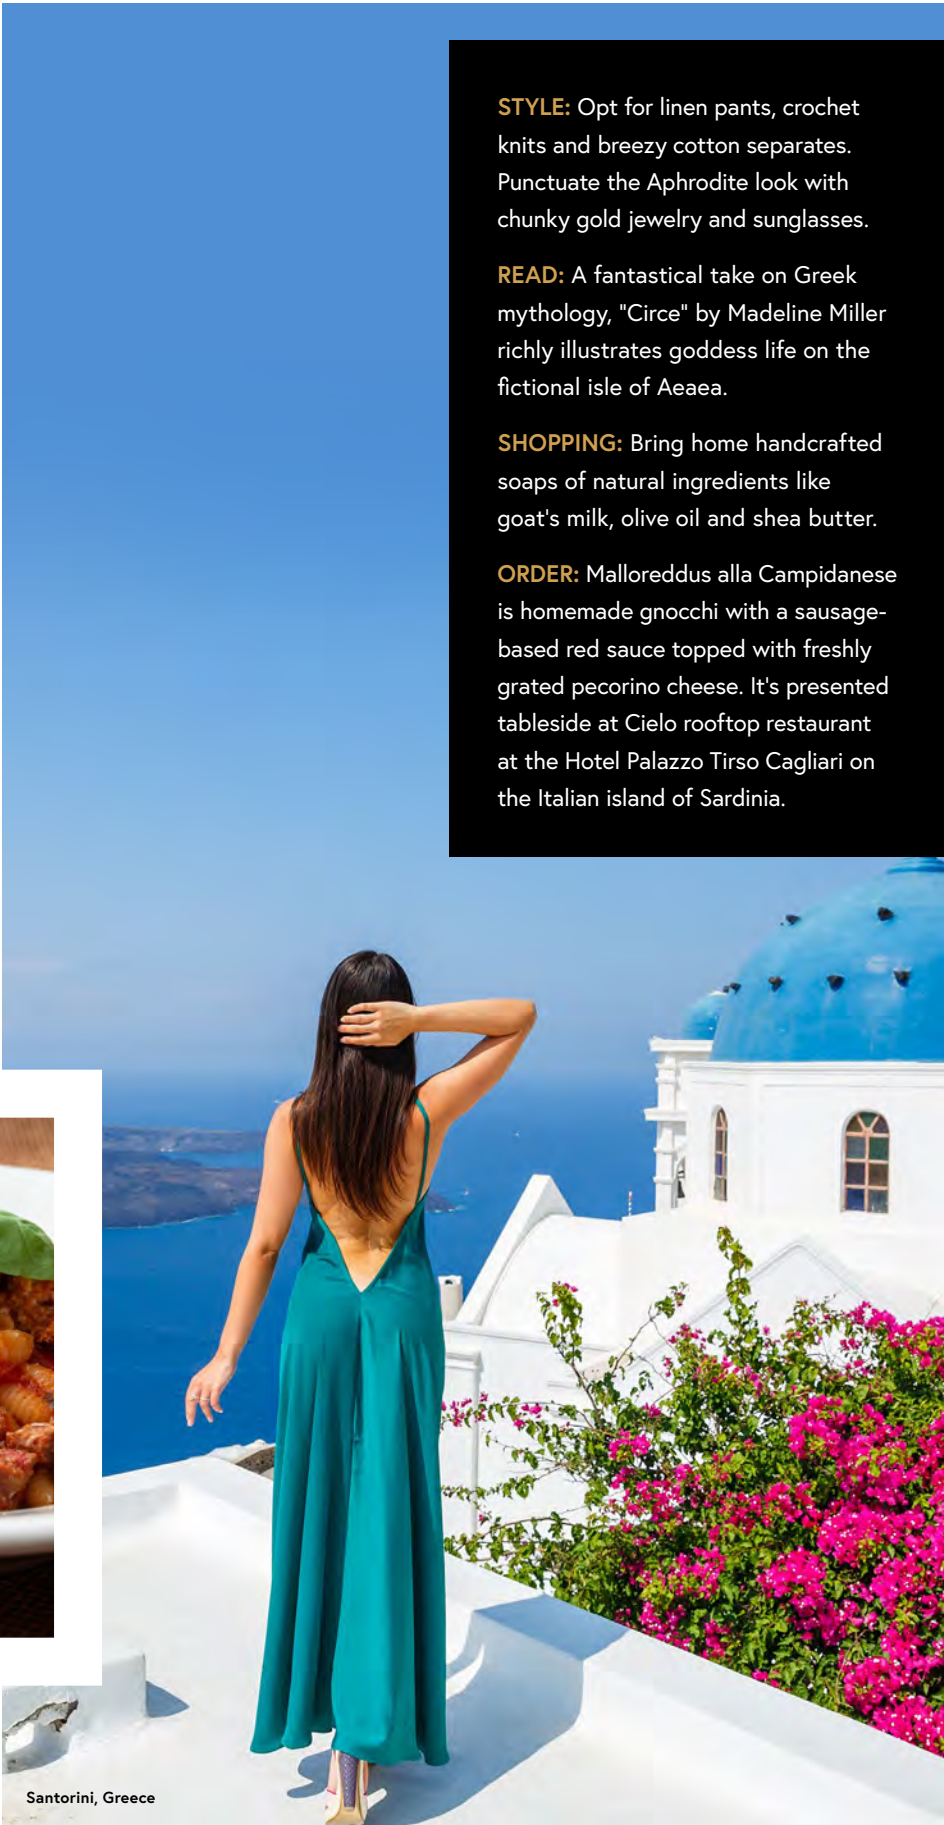

WATCH/READ: Revisit the Gold Rush in "The Call of the Wild" by Jack London via streaming service or paperback.

SHOPPING: Qiviut is the underwool of the Arctic musk ox. This ultra-fine fiber is spun into scarves, hats and sweaters by skilled artisans.

ORDER: Order wood-fired pizza from In Bocca Al Lupo — an Italian phrase used to wish good luck (literally, "into the wolf's mouth") — in Juneau. Chef/owner Beau Schooler is a James Beard nominee.

Mediterranean Islands

Maxed-out sun, exquisite cuisine, historic sites and nightlife worth staying up for all add up to a captivating island vacation you'll be reminiscing about for years. The Med offers a wealth of destination options in Italy, Croatia and Greece — either island-hopping aboard a cruise ship or nestled into a five-star resort. Arise with guided sunrise yoga facing clear, blue waters before embarking on a catamaran excursion to swim and snorkel in a private cove. Explore a UNESCO heritage site like Delos, easily reachable from another Greek island, Mykonos. Indulge in a spa day with a muscle-soothing massage followed by a luxuriating soak in hydrotherapy baths. Thanks to the favorable climate, languid lifestyle and iconic beaches, Mediterranean islands offer the perfect balance of culture, history, adventure and relaxation.

Santorini, Greece

STYLE: Opt for linen pants, crochet knits and breezy cotton separates. Punctuate the Aphrodite look with chunky gold jewelry and sunglasses.

READ: A fantastical take on Greek mythology, "Circe" by Madeline Miller richly illustrates goddess life on the fictional isle of Aeaea.

SHOPPING: Bring home handcrafted soaps of natural ingredients like goat's milk, olive oil and shea butter.

ORDER: Malloreddus alla Campidanese is homemade gnocchi with a sausage-based red sauce topped with freshly grated pecorino cheese. It's presented tableside at Cielo rooftop restaurant at the Hotel Palazzo Tirso Cagliari on the Italian island of Sardinia.

Travel Deeper. Stay Longer.

Luxury is no longer defined by chandeliers and square footage — today's travelers seek something richer: connection, culture and meaning. With its boutique ships and signature Destination Immersion® approach, Azamara invites you to step off the beaten path and into the heart of a place. This is travel designed for those who want to go beyond the postcard — to linger longer, go deeper and feel more connected.

MORE TIME, MORE WONDER

Azamara is known for its extended stays and overnight calls, giving you the time to see cities in their evening glow, savor a late dinner ashore or catch an impromptu street performance that tourists on tighter schedules miss entirely.

UNFORGETTABLE CULTURAL ENCOUNTERS

No other cruise line offers anything quite like AzAmazing Evenings® — exclusive cultural events curated just for guests, from private ballet performances in St. Petersburg to local festivals in small Mediterranean villages. These are not just shows — they're experiences that stay with you.

COUNTRY-INTENSIVE VOYAGES

Sometimes one taste just isn't enough. With Azamara's Country-Intensive Voyages, you explore one country in depth, from its marquee cities to its unsung gems. You won't just visit Italy, for example — you'll know it, from the cliffs of Amalfi to the piazzas of Florence.

SMALLER SHIPS, BIGGER EXPERIENCES

Because Azamara's ships are smaller and more nimble, they sail right into ports that big ships can't reach — like the center of Bordeaux or the winding Guadalquivir River to dock in the heart of Seville. This gives you access to authentic moments, local markets and scenic corners that most travelers only glimpse from afar.

Azamara isn't just another luxury cruise — it's an invitation to travel deeper, stay longer and experience the world in a meaningful way. Because true luxury isn't about the square footage — it's about how much space a journey can take up in your memory.

DISPATCH FROM FRANCE

A LUXURIOUS JAUNT THROUGH
LA CAMPAGNE

BY JUSTIN GIBSON

The French countryside (“la campagne”) proves a worthy match to Paris itself — like terroirs and wine, there’s something in the very land that lends itself to the good life. Nestled like gems in a crown across this beautiful landscape are bastions of society that shine and gleam with charm. No two cities are alike; each has its own medley of notes and flavors that combine to be a one-of-a-kind paradise for unwinding. Here are five idyllic escapes that might not have been on your radar (but should be). ►

Lyon

Perched at the junction of the Rhône and Saône rivers, Lyon is a jewel of a metropolis. Some 2,000 years have collected on shore here, ranging from the Roman Amphithéâtre des Trois Gaules to the ultra-modern Confluence district on the ever-posh Presqu’île peninsula. You’ll find designer labels adorning the window displays of 15th-century architectural facades, traditional French cooking sharing the spotlight with thrilling fusion dishes from up-and-coming chefs plus revolutionary libations from alchemical mixologists.

Where to Stay: Villa Maia is a timeless refuge from the city. Situated atop the Fourvière (the locals know it as “the hill that prays”), a conventual silence is prevalent in the halls and rooms of this intimate hotel, resulting in a uniquely serene and spiritual atmosphere.

What You Can’t Miss: Lyon is the French Capital of Gastronomy — the birthplace of the Michelin stars. You best believe the cuisine is downright decadent, an indulgence for the soul.

Start your day with a pink praline brioche (a specialty of Lyon) and a coffee, perhaps from Antoinette Pain & Brioche. For a lavish lunch, Contre-Champ has earned a Michelin star for its quaint bistro fare rooted in local produce and the seasons.

In the evening, savor an apéro with a view at Les Muses, Opéra’s rooftop bar. Ayla is a Franco-Lebanese restaurant where every dish explodes with flavor. For post-dinner drinks, consider La Cave des Dominicains (only open to the public on Friday evenings): set in the cellars of a convent and run by monks, it’s a one-of-a-kind ambiance. But! For those seeking a more modern setting, Soif! makes for a fun evening, as the wine cellar channels rec room with various games such as foosball, Jenga, darts, Pac-Man and Space Invaders.

Lyon, France

Bordeaux

The wineries and vineyards of Bordeaux need no real introduction — these are the rolling hills and charming chateaux you imagine when you hear “French countryside.” The world’s capital of wine is a port city set on the shores of the Garonne River, comprised of scenic pedestrian streets, cafes, markets, museums and canals. But the real draw is the land surrounding the city.

Where to Stay: Les Sources de Caudalie is a fairytale made manifest: 20 minutes outside the city proper, nestled between vineyards and forests is a complex of tasteful respite. Another choice is Mondrian Bordeaux Les Carmes — an immersive luxury chateau in the heart of the wine merchant’s district.

What You Can’t Miss: Sure, there’s a picturesque city and all that it entails ... but that comes second to the stunning countryside chateaux. Realistically, if you pace yourself, you can manage three chateau appointments per day. It also helps to have a general idea of the lay of the land: The left bank favors cabernet sauvignon, while the right bank is ideal for merlot blends. Two worth visiting first would be Château Figeac (wines with incredible flavor on a landscape listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site) and Château de Camarsac (a 14th-century fortress certified for its modern environmental management).

Château Margaux, Bordeaux

Biarritz, France

Biarritz

A mere 20 miles from the Spanish border, this surreal small town has been a go-to getaway for society’s upper crust and royalty since the 1800s; today, it’s married its noble roots with the modern appeal of a major surfing destination. The end result is a unique ambiance: timeless chic coastal resort with the undeniable (and effortlessly) cool aura of a surf spot.

Where to Stay: Fresh off a renovation, Hotel du Palais Biarritz is a legendary, 5-star former imperial palace overlooking the Atlantic Ocean. Any of its 86 rooms (56 of which are suites) is certain to include regal pampering, with each promising one-of-a-kind views of the city and the ocean.

What You Can’t Miss: Start with a morning dip at La Plage du Port Vieux before treating yourself to a slice of Basque cake for breakfast at the ever-famous Miremont Patisserie. From there, while the day away shopping along Rue Gambetta; there’s bound to be something that catches your eye in the dozens of breezy boutiques. In the evening, channel your inner 007 with a visit to Casino Barrière — a simple, yet stately, Art Deco institution overlooking the Grand Beach. ▶

Saint-Tropez

The French Riviera is a fever dream of opulence and charm, glitz and glamour and off-the-radar respite. Of the cities lining the coast, perhaps none are as sun-drenched or dreamy as the quasi-hidden gem that is Saint-Tropez. This is a beach town on par with any Caribbean Isle, a yacht-filled port as plush as Monaco, a sleepy fishing village as charming as Cinque Terre and a party hub that can hold its own with Ibiza. Suffice it to say, a vacation here takes on the form of your go-to daydream.

Where to Stay: You're simply awash in sumptuous options. Arev St. Tropez is a discreet oasis that's a mere five-minute walk from the heart of the village; Airelles Saint-Tropez is a five-star palace perched on a hilltop right on the outskirts; Cheval Blanc St-Tropez is an homage to the Bohemian village right on the waterfront.

What You Can't Miss: Beach clubs and nightlife comprise the social scene in Saint-Tropez like the sun and the moon comprise the sky above; your days will be spent with the former, while the latter brings back the fervor of long college nights and all that they promised. For the daytime: Le Club 55 is an institution — arguably the local favorite of beach clubs. But there are others, depending on your preferred flavor of beach day: La Réserve à la Plage is a quintessential Saint-Tropez scene; Verde Plage is an elegant bohemian affair that can get quite lively after lunch; Club Les Palmiers has an air of ultra refinement (there will be no Champagne showers here). If you need a break from the beach, embark on some retail therapy along the Rue François Sibilli, a palm-lined street home to the major luxury brands.

In the evenings, you'll find plenty of dining establishments that double as the night's entertainment. L'Opéra Saint-Tropez Restaurant is a time-honored staple with its Champagne sprays and table-dancing ... but the lively scene at Gaïo Restaurant and Nightclub might signify the changing of the proverbial guard. A third excellent option is La Goia; they serve fine Italian food before turning into a VIP room with sets from famous DJs.

Strasbourg

Right at the edge of the German border is Strasbourg — the capital city of the Grand Est region, the formal seat of European Parliament and the shining embodiment of Europe's democratic institutions. Within these streets, you'll find French and German culture deftly blended, a medieval past and a progressive future woven together like an intricate tapestry. At the heart of the city is a canal-lined Old Town, an island that seems brought to life from a quintessential postcard.

Where to Stay: Located in the heart of the city, the Hotel Maison Rouge Strasbourg serves as the perfect home base between bouts of exploration. Curating a cozy Art Deco ambiance, this Old-World hotel whisks you back to bygone eras while still providing the latest and greatest in luxury lodging.

What You Can't Miss: Truly, the draw of Strasbourg is in wandering its streets, soaking up the throes of daily life here. It's hard not to romanticize a stroll along its canals, across its medieval bridges and past its historical monuments. The Cathédrale Notre-Dame is a sight to behold, as is the Protestant Church Saint-Thomas. The Palais Rohan deserves part of your afternoon; often described as "Versailles in miniature," the wealth of art on display inside is a feast for the eyes. Other must-visit spots are the Grande Île (the aforementioned island, filled with timber-framed houses) and, for the civic-minded, The European Parliament.

Beyond Five Stars

FRANCE'S PALACE HOTELS

Hotel du Palais Biarritz in Biarritz, France

In France, luxury reaches its highest expression in properties honored with the rare Palace distinction — an official title granted by the French government to only the most exceptional hotels. These are more than places to stay. They are cultural landmarks, design masterpieces and discreet havens for royalty, artists and icons. From the golden façades of Paris to the Alpine peaks of Courchevel and the sun-soaked Riviera, each Palace hotel offers not only sublime service and singular style, but also exclusive benefits when booked through our agency.

Grand-Hôtel du Cap-Ferrat, A Four Seasons Hotel

Four Seasons Hotel George V

PARIS

Four Seasons Hotel George V

Just off the Champs-Élysées, this storied grand hotel is as synonymous with Parisian elegance as the Eiffel Tower itself. This legendary address is the only five-star hotel worldwide to hold four Wine Spectator glasses, thanks to its three-Michelin-star Le Cinq restaurant and Michelin-star Le George wine programs. Wander interiors regarded as a masterpiece of Art Deco revival, see the legendary floral installations by Jeff Leatham or sip Champagne in the garden courtyard after a day of exploring the Right Bank's designer ateliers. A favorite of royals, designers and world leaders, this palace is Paris at its most polished.

Cheval Blanc Courchevel

THE ALPS

Cheval Blanc Courchevel

Perched in Europe's most exclusive ski village, Courchevel 1850, this jewel of a hotel is where Alpine tradition meets contemporary flair. With just 36 rooms, the experience is deeply personalized — think monogrammed pillows, Hermès bathroom amenities, Guerlain spa treatments and ski valets who warm your boots before you hit the Trois Vallées slopes. Art is woven throughout, from its fusion of Murano glass, Zeburano marble and vibrant artwork by Paola Pivi and Xavier Veilhan to the culinary canvas of Le 1947, the hotel's three-Michelin-star restaurant helmed by Yannick Alléno. This is winter, reimagined.

THE RIVIERA

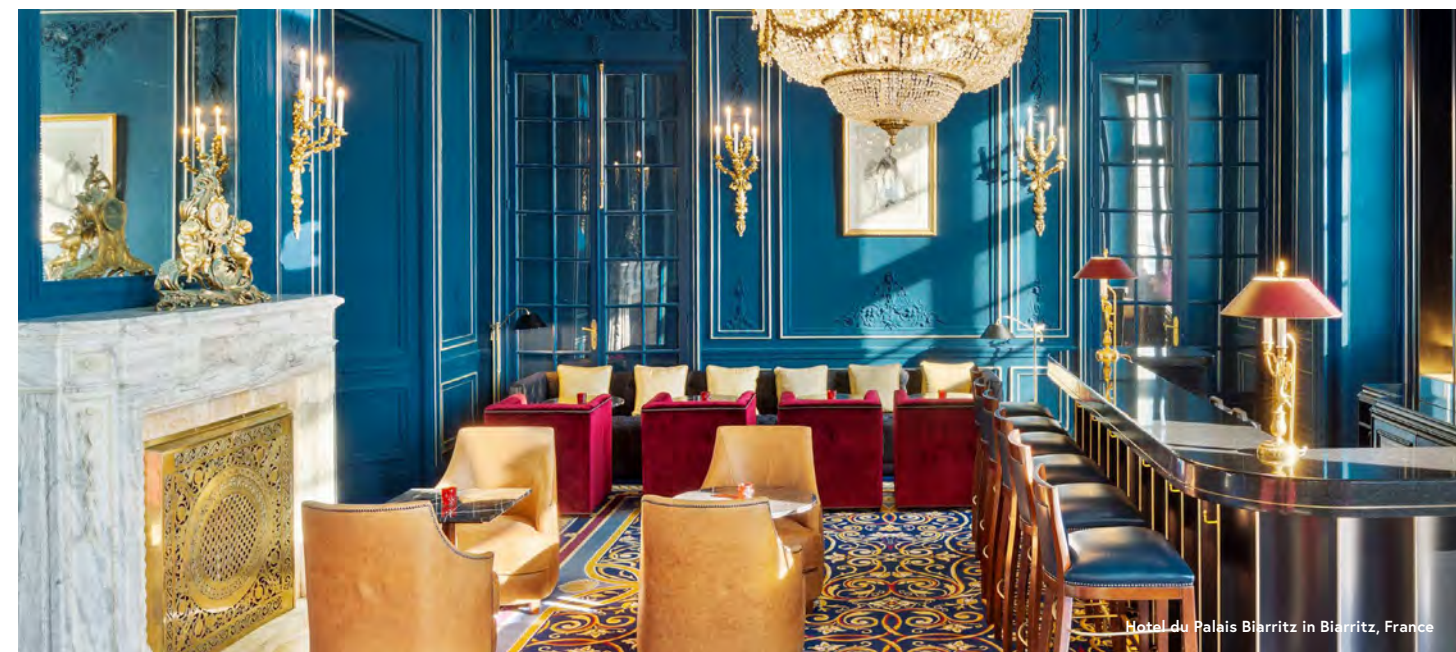

Grand-Hôtel du Cap-Ferrat, A Four Seasons Hotel

Set on a pine-covered peninsula between Nice and Monaco, this white palace gleams above the Mediterranean. The air smells of citrus and sea, and the oceanfront infinity pool at Club Dauphin is among the most iconic in Europe. For over a century, artists and aristocrats have escaped here — from Winston Churchill to Charlie Chaplin and Elizabeth Taylor for her honeymoon in Suite 321. Today, guests retreat into Michelin-starred cuisine by Yoric Tièche and private villas like Villa Beauchamp with their own tennis courts and sweeping views. Whether sipping cocktails at the indoor-outdoor spa or cocooning in garden suites, this property remains a seamless mix of Old-World glamour and Riviera indulgence.

THE SOUTHWEST

Hotel du Palais

Overlooking the crashing waves of the Bay of Biscay, Hotel du Palais is a rare blend of imperial heritage and coastal glamour. Built in 1854 as Empress Eugénie's summer retreat, the Basque palace still channels Second Empire elegance with silk-wallpapered corridors, gilded salons, antique chandeliers and sweeping sea views. It's the only Palace-designated hotel on France's Atlantic coast, anchoring the Belle Époque resort town of Biarritz. The hotel's Guerlain Imperial Spa features treatments inspired by Eugénie herself, while the vast oceanfront pool and sun terrace are ideal for watching surfers carve the Atlantic swells — a coastal lullaby matched by impeccable service, haute cuisine and a legacy of imperial luxury.
