

ENOUGH!

— ELLSWORTH'S PROPERTY TAXES ARE OUT OF CONTROL —

Not because we don't have enough revenue, but because city government keeps spending too much. For too long, our city council has lacked the fiscal discipline to make tough choices. I'm running for city council because I believe it's time to bring accountability and common sense back to City Hall. Ellsworth doesn't have an income problem; it has a spending problem — and together, we can fix it.

This election is our opportunity to restore Ellsworth's finances. I'm proud to be running alongside Earl Awalt and Patrick Shea as part of a conservative team dedicated to reducing taxes, cutting unnecessary spending, and restoring financial responsibility. For years, conservative voices have been divided at the ballot box, and that's how the big spenders have stayed in power. IF ELLSWORTH VOTERS UNITE BEHIND OUR TEAM, WITH STEVE O'HALLORAN, WE CAN CREATE A 4-3 MAJORITY THAT PUTS TAXPAYERS FIRST.

When elected, I will go through the city budget "line by line" to identify and eliminate wasteful spending. Every dollar we save will go back to the taxpayers — equally and fairly. With disciplined, conservative leadership, we can lower property taxes, improve Ellsworth's business climate, and make our city affordable again. Let's stop overspending, reduce the tax burden on families, especially our elderly, our most vulnerable, and build a stronger, more prosperous Ellsworth for everyone.

Taxpayers of Ellsworth, on November 4, we must get out and
