Dr. Michael Schlosser is back to go over the tactics that if used properly, can help you take uncooperative subjects into custody. Dr. Schlosser has been teaching these at the Police Training Institute in Champaign and now you can get a refresher. As we all know, these are perishable skill sets. If we do not practice them, we are not skilled with them. Having the skill sets to take people into custody can help keep you and your department out of hot water. If you are an FTO, this is a good opportunity to refresh those skills that you are going to be evaluating in new officers. Of course if you work in a correctional setting, keeping these sharp are a must. Remember the correctional officer who was overpowered and killed earlier this year?

Please, learn or relearn these perishable skills.
