"I didn't think it was "that" big of a deal". "It was just a little time." "I only had a little to drink." "Yeah, well, she/he came onto me." "It's not my fault, I was provoked." Heard any of these? None of them will get you out of a jam that you shouldn't have gotten yourself into in the first place. This day and age is no different than any other except that your misgivings may end up on the global news. Departments are not keeping officers for infractions today that they used to suspend officers for yesterday.

There are a ton of pitfalls that can and will end your career. I don't care if you work patrol, detectives, corrections or if you are the Chief Of Police. There are many ways to end your career, lose your marriage, get yourself saddled with Child Support, maintenance, loss of pension, all because of an indiscretion that everyone should see coming. Lets take a look at these and make sure that we are familiar with them so that we can help ourselves and mentor the younger troops coming in to not make the mistakes that others have made.

Chiefs— How expensive is hiring new people? How expensive is firing people actually? How many times have we seen Chiefs or Sheriffs go down in flames with their officers? I encourage everybody to take advantage of this class.
