Course Description:

Surviving Hidden Weapons identifies concealment areas in household items, internet purchased items, altered devices and specially designed armaments all made with criminal intent to conceal dangerous weapons. Emphasis is placed on refocusing Officer Safety skills and using tactical advantage procedures.

This course is highly interactive with several live demonstrations showing search techniques and officer Safety reminders. Student interaction is very powerful which demands their attention through real-life videos of Officer Safety “winnable” situations and learning points. Numerous depictions are shown and discussed related to hundreds of different types of concealed dangerous weapons.

This course is for PATROL, DETECTIVES and CORRECTIONS alike. All will benefit from this training.**

Chief Johnson has been here before and taught this class. It is always met with a great response. Now more than ever people are embolden to attack police and corrections. Please take the time to come listen to Chief Johnson and learn some cues that might just save your life. I cannot stress enough, this is not a class you will want to miss.
