She is known for her roles as Maria Santos on All My Children and Det. Natalia Boa Vista on CSI: Miami.

Early life LaRue was born in Long Beach, California to Marcie and Luis LaRue. She has three siblings, sisters Nika and Lara and a brother, Luis Jr.[1] She is a member of the Bahá'í Faith.[2] LaRue began acting at the age of six and was later a teenage beauty queen. She won Danfranc Productions Miss California Empire 1984 title at the state pageant held in Irvine, California. In 1985, she graduated from Norco High School.[3][4] Career Modeling LaRue started modeling after graduating from high school, first working with the Judith Fontaine Agency and eventually with Frederick's of Hollywood.[4] She appeared in infomercials for Zumba fitness workout and Sheer Cover Studio mineral makeup. She has graced the cover of numerous magazines, including LA Direct, Vivmag, Orange Coast, InStyle Weddings, Woman's World, and Latina.[5][6] Acting LaRue was the co-host and announcer on Candid Camera from 1991 to 1992. From 1993 to 1997, and again from 2002 to 2005, LaRue portrayed Dr. Maria Santos Grey on All My Children.[7] There, she was half of All My Children supercouple Edmund and Maria. She received a Daytime Emmy Award nomination in the category of "Outstanding Supporting Actress in a Drama Series" for All My Children. She also received a nomination in 2004 in the category of "Outstanding Original Song" for composing the song "Dance Again with You", which was used as a backdrop to the lovemaking scene after the third marriage of the characters Edmund and Maria in June 2003. In 2010, LaRue reprised her role as Maria temporarily on January 5 for All My Children's 40th anniversary.[8] LaRue also performed in television movies over the years, appearing as Annette Funicello in a biographical movie of the former Mouseketeer and also in the adaptation of Danielle Steel's Remembrance as Princess Serena. In 2005 LaRue portrayed Linda Lorenzo, George Lopez's "Long Lost" sister, on the TV sitcom George Lopez. In the fall 2005, LaRue began the role of Natalia Boa Vista on CSI: Miami. It was revealed in the end of season four that Eva's character, Natalia Boa Vista, was the mole in the lab reporting back to the FBI. Beginning with season five, LaRue became a full-time cast member. In July and September 2011, LaRue reprised her role as Dr. Maria Santos Grey on All My Children as a guest star as the show wrapped up its network run on ABC. In 2013 she played Agent Tanya Mays in the episode "Final Shot" on Criminal Minds. In July 2015, it was announced that LaRue had been cast on Fuller House, the revival series of the sitcom Full House. She portrayed the character of Teri Tanner, the vivacious and busty wife of Danny Tanner. The series premiered on Netflix in 2016.[9] She also played the role of the Admirable in three episodes of Mack & Moxy. In May 2019, she was cast on The Young and the Restless in the role of Celeste Rosales.[10] Personal life LaRue's sister Nika was one of the women photographed by convicted killer Bill Bradford for his collection.

She was No. 3 (out of 54 photos) on the poster released by the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department to find living victims. Bradford would photograph women he met in bars and photo shoots under the guise that he would assist their modeling careers. The incident was used in CSI: Miami in the season five episode "Darkroom" soon after the revelation.[11] Nika guest-starred in the episode as a reporter.
She was initially offered the role of Eva's on-screen sister and a surviving victim, but declined that role, describing it as being "too surreal".[12] LaRue was married to actor John O'Hurley for two years until 1994.[13] She married fellow All My Children co-star John Callahan in November 1996. The couple divorced in 2005. The couple served as co-hosts of the 1997 Miss America pageant in Atlantic City, New Jersey. The couple's daughter Kaya McKenna Callahan was born in December 2001.[14] LaRue married Joe Cappucio in June 2010 but Cappucio filed for divorce in 2014.[15] LaRue and her daughter were stalked by James David Rogers from 2012 to 2022, when Rogers was sentenced to 5 years in prison for his actions.[16] Filmography Film Year Title Role Notes 1987 The Barbarians Kara 1988 Dangerous Curves Leslie Cruz 1990 Heart Condition Peisha 1990 Crash and Burn Parice 1991 Legal Tender Newscaster 1991 Ghoulies III: Ghoulies Go to College Erin Riddle 1993 Body of Influence Fourth Woman 1993 RoboCop 3 Debbie Dix 1993 Mirror Images 2 Phyllis 2000 One Hell of a Guy Daphne 2008 Lakeview Terrace Lt. It turns out the guy had already been killed, run over by a vehicle, and dumped in the water next to this boat. The mystery is to find out who he is and what happened?Also, Natalia's ex-husband gets out of jail and is there to apply for job at CSI, which freaks her out. Seeing that early scene brought two questions to mind quickly: why are the ex- husbands always portrayed to be scumbags and why are there no married people on these CSI shows. Is Hollywood that much against traditional marriage? I guess so and, off hand, I can't recall any main CSI character on any of the three shows that is married, except maybe "Flack" on CSI-New York. I'd like to see at least one of the main guys: William Peterson, Gary Sinise or David Caruso, happily married and with a family.Anyway, this story has a lot of "catty" and obnoxious people since it deals with a modeling agency and the women, men, bosses, etc., are all portrayed as such.

The case is wrapped up by the halfway mark, which is unusual, but a then a second model is found dead. "Wow, suddenly modeling is becoming the most dangerous job in Miami," notes Alex, the medical examiner. So, between modeling mayhem and the social problems of Natalie and her pushy ex- husband, that's this week's episode which was entertaining, as always.CSI-Miami Season 5 Ep 5 This case is referred to as an 'eminant domain' murder by one of the CSI workers here (Eric) which means, among other things, someone (a councilman) was found in an empty house which was slated for demolition by a city developer. Have you ever noticed how developers are always the bad guys on television shows? They are always shown as heartless pigs who are needless evicting people, usually poor and of color. This is different in that fairly affluent white people are being tossed from a decent neighborhood from some bigwig named "Preston" who wants to make a killing. Along the way, writers put in a cheap shot against capitalism, too. (I wonder if they feel the same when they get their huge weekly paycheck?)Anyway, Ryan Wolfe is the main man in this case, which begins with an interesting scene about "bloaters," people who have been dead for about four days and will literally burst from the inside out if a medical examiner doesn't "pop" them. It's gross, but it was interesting.The story was okay; nothing extraordinary, and very computer-enhanced visually, but that's fine with me. I like the stylish look, even if it's obvious in some scenes (check the hues on the skies all the time). It's still, I assume, the most colorful show (literally) on TV.ccthemovieman-1Dec 2, 2007Sign in to rate and Watchlist for personalized recommendationsSign inSuggest an edit or add missing contentYou have no recently viewed pages
