A New Year's Dawn: Carrying the Light Forward

As we step across the threshold of a new year, we often find ourselves yearning for a fresh start, a new clarity of purpose. The deep, quiet darkness of these winter mornings can remind us of the uncertainties that lie ahead. Yet, it is precisely in this season that we are invited to remember the profound proclamation of John's Gospel: that in the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. This Word, John tells us, became flesh and dwelt among us in the person of Jesus Christ, the true light that gives light to everyone. He is the dawn that scatters every shadow, offering a clarity and hope that can frame our entire year.

This foundational Light, Jesus, is most fully understood in His gracious presence among us. We see this illustrated powerfully at the Jordan River, where Jesus—though without sin—humbly submits to baptism. In this act, the heavens open, and the Father's voice affirms His beloved Son. Here, we see that true, divine power is revealed in humble solidarity and loving presence. Jesus meets us in our ordinary moments, sanctifies our new beginnings, and demonstrates that God's ultimate power is expressed through identification and love, setting a pattern for how we are to be present with one another.

Such a calling naturally propels us outward with purpose. The prophet Isaiah echoes this mission, speaking of a servant called not only to restore Israel but to be “a light for the Gentiles,” to bring God's salvation “to the ends of the earth.” This is the justice the Light brings: a comprehensive healing that lifts up the broken and reaches the forgotten. In Jesus, this prophecy finds its fulfillment. As His followers, we are now enlisted in this work of restorative justice—to be reflectors of His light that pushes back darkness in all its forms, offering hope, dignity, and God's shalom to a waiting world.

So, as this January unfolds, let our collective resolution be this: to consciously carry the light of Christ. Let us seek, as the Psalmist did, to dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of our lives, to gaze on His beauty, and to find our strength and courage in His faithful presence. In the coming year, may we be a community that looks to Jesus, the morning star, in each new dawn. May we embody His gracious presence with one another, and actively share the light of His justice and love. For the Lord, revealed to us in Jesus, is our light and our salvation—whom shall we fear? Wishing you a year illuminated by His hope, purpose, and peace.

With love and blessings,

Pastor Mark Schlasner
