

Tim Hanley came into this life a soul on fire. For decades, he helped people rebuild after devastating storms - even as his own were quietly brewing. Those trials sparked a search for Truth - an unshakable, divine reality - that led him deep into the nation's tax laws, determined to understand - and ultimately step away from - what is called "the voluntary compliance taxation system."

In A Wolf By the Ears, Hanley takes readers from a Kansas farm boyhood to the hurricane coasts and beyond, crossing paths with unforgettable characters—including his lifelong friend Phil Meaux, a Cajun powerhouse who built one of the largest independent claim services in the nation. This is a memoir of endurance, faith, and finding freedom on your own terms.

Tim Hanley is a songwriter, storyteller, and independent thinker. Over decades as an insurance adjuster, he's worked storms from Florida to the Pacific Northwest. A Wolf By the Ears is his first-hand account of a life lived in pursuit of Truth and freedom.

Loved every bit of this story of your life. You've left an eternal impression on me, and I will always cherish our friendship."

- Phil Meaux, Founder and Former CEO, The Littleton Group
