

NANCY KRCEK
ALLEN
The Record-EagleMayonnaise, the modern
'mother' sauce

Mayonnaise is theJohnny come-lately to the five "Mother Sauces" of classical French cuisine. If you've only ever consumed bottled commercial mayonnaise, homemade mayonnaise will come as a delightful surprise.

In 1854 French chef Antonin Carême first identified four classical mother sauces. Mother sauces are special because they can give birth to many other charming and useful sauces. In 1905 chef Auguste Escoffier updated and enlarged Carême's list to five: Sauce Espagnole (meat reduction with a flour-thickened), Bechamel and Velouté (stocks or stock浓汤 thickened), Hollandaise (whipped egg and clarified butter emulsion) and Sauce Tomat (steamed tomato purée).

Mayonnaise is not a sauce sauce as are the other mother sauces. It is a stable, cold emulsion made with an acidic ingredient like vinegar or lemon juice and oil emulsified together with egg. While mayonnaise is a versatile and widely used sauce, it was not part of the original mother sauces, probably because it acts more as a condiment, and so was not always included in modern lists. Despite this, mayonnaise plays a fundamental role in enhancing the flavor and texture of a variety of dishes. It deserves the sixth mother sauce classification.

There are two ways to prepare mayonnaise by hand with a whisk or in a food processor or blender. If you are squeamish about raw eggs, follow the double binder method below. If your mayonnaise looks separated, whisk a whole egg into a fresh egg yolk; oil is a strong flavor so it is mixed with other oils;

it can bitter if overbeaten.

Refrigerate in refrigerator tray and chicken before using;

oil droplets will soften and marry.

cool water into too-thick mayonnaise to thin. Taste and season. Store mayonnaise in sealed glass containers with a tight seal. Use clean utensils when scooping mayonnaise from container. Prepare mayonnaise in small batches or just what you need. Keep mayonnaise and mayonnaise-dressed dishes chilled or refrigerated. Discard mayonnaise

Saturday, July 13, 2019

"We bring the boil to you. I'm an at-home chef. I really love doing my seafood boils."

Suzy Brown

Inside:
Agave's profile on bar lists is growing.

Page 3B

Food

features.record-eagle.com

Boil. Dump. Repeat.

Courtesy of the Record-Eagle/Suzy's Seafood Boils

BY STEPHANIE SHOMIN

shomin@record-eagle.com

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix resident Suzy Brown is a bookkeeper with a hospitality background, but in the summer of 2020, she decided to try a seafood boil.

"I was doing a birthday boil at my house for family and friends," she said. "They needed a place to eat."

Brown said this was a good way to "feed a lot of people" during COVID-19 dining restrictions. In 2020, she said, she and others were not allowed to visit their summer homes in northern Michigan. She started the boils downstate and when restrictions were lifted, continued them up north.

She said word spread on social media and within about a week, she was able to start Suzy's Seafood Boils. Though she is based in Charlevoix, Brown serves all of northern Michigan and has some clients downstate.

"We bring the boil to you," Brown said. "I'm an at-home chef. I really love doing my seafood boils."

Brown prepares the meal on site and then dump the pot out on a plastic-covered table at the guest's chosen dining time. Shrimp, corn, sausage, potatoes and onions are cooked together. The shrimp is deveined, so the shell comes off, she said.

"It's like the one-pot wonder," she said.

The meal is served with biscuits and butter. Each guest gets a bib and silverware, though Brown said most people eat with their hands.

"It's a fun, communal dining experience," she said. "There

SEE BOIL PAGE 2B

The newlyweds return from their honeymoon

FOOD

Courtesy of the Record-Eagle/Suzy's Seafood Boils

Suzy's Seafood Boils has made a meal for an event in Glen Arbor.

BOIL

Former bookkeeper starts seafood boil biz

FROM PAGE 1B

are so many great families. Every one is a memory."

Her crew arrives two hours before dinner and stays afterward to clean up and package any leftovers, Brown said.

"We provide everything they need to enjoy the meal," she said.

Glen Arbor residents Jennifer and Dan Szeezil have booked Suzy's Seafood Boils for three summers now. Jennifer said their friend downstate recommended Brown.

They host an event for 30-40 friends each year.

"It's our new tradition," Szeezil said. "It's a great way to host something without doing all that work."

She added that the boils are a break from the traditional summertime barbecues and grilled meals.

"It's a unique and creative party concept," she said.

Suzy's Seafood Boils can serve 12 or more people.

Prices start at $39 per person. Lobster tail, crawfish and crab legs can be added.

To schedule or for more details, visit www.bookaboil.com or contact suzy@bookaboil.com.

Mayonnaise Variations

- Aloli: Prepare with 1 cup mayonnaise with extra virgin olive oil and lemon juice. Stir in 2 to 3 teaspoons minced or pounded garlic. Season with more lemon, and salt to

- Sauce Remoulade (ruh-moo-lahd): Prepare 1 cup mayonnaise and fold in 2 teaspoons each minced coriander, capers, fines herbes, anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan-

- anchovies, and 1/4 teaspoon chopped

- 2 to 3 T. lemon juice or wine vinegar

- 1/4 C. avocado or canola oil or mixed olive oil and canola

- In a blan