Title:

Coming Back To You / A Timeless Vision Revision

By:

Lorrie Trotter

Lilly looks down at an old and tarnished broken silver ring in her hand.

It has a feather on each side of a mother of pearl. She leans in closer to hear her mother's soft dying words. "Two Feathers, you are Two Feathers...find him", she points to the card she hands Lily; now unable to speak, she slowly drifts away.

With her backpack, the ring, and the card her mother gave her in hand, Lilly takes off on a trek through the back country roads of the Rockies in her old Jeep, hoping to find out what her mother was trying to tell her.

When she arrives at Joe's Silver Smith Ranch with the ring, it opens a portal to a past that Lily never knew existed, and she learns the significance of the ring and her name... Two Feathers.

Sometimes in this life, you hear a voice for the first time, but it sounds so familiar, or you share a kiss, and it takes you to places that seem so clear, yet you've never been there before. You have dreams that leave you trying to connect the dots... is this what finding your soulmate feels like?

What if you were shown in full detail that this person in front of you is truly your soul mate and not just in this lifetime but in many before this...would you believe it? And if you did, how could you explain this to your soulmate?

This happened to Lilly. Her quest for answers takes her on an epic and visually stunning journey in Coming Back To You.
