Winter 2025 Newsletter

Happy 2025 everyone!!

The new year has started out with an inked bang! As a lot of you know, I live in Dexter and a new little shop called The Dexter Corner Shoppe has opened in town. It's located at 107 Water Street and I officially sell my artwork there and teach classes. I have an entire bookcase of winter inked things that will be switched out to spring things soon. There is an entire card rack of my cards available too! She's got lots of great handmade things and antiques for sale. Check it out sometime! Click HERE for the Facebook page.

Vending Events

This year, I'm pretty much focusing on doing the Farmer's Markets this summer. I did Clayton and Chaumont last year and absolutely fell in love with them! If you click on the red hyperlinks, it'll take you to more information about the event. I may add more festivals as they come available. Things are subject to change, as it's early in the season...just keep that in mind.

Clayton Farmer's Market is in the Village Park Circle 425 Mary Street by the tennis, basketball courts, and playground. It starts Thursday, May 29 from 10am-4pm and continues every Thursday until October 16.

Chaumont Farmer's Market is on the main street of Chaumont in the front yard of the Copley House (Lyme Community Center). I don't have definite dates for this one yet, but it usually goes from June to September on Fridays from 11am-5pm.

Northpole Spring Craft Fair

April 12 10am-3pm They're finally bringing back the spring craft fair!! Woohoo!!

Balloons in the Islands July 25-27 in Clayton. I did this one last year and loved it! It was too windy for the hot air balloons to take off, but it was still a really fun event!

Artists and Authors is usually the first weekend in August at the Lyme Library during their book sale, but I don't have a definite date yet.

Martin's Fall Round-Up September 27 9am-5pm This is always a busy festival and a fun day!
