

About the Book-"My Mama is a Pilot"

My Mama is a Pilot

Saba Shahid

"My Mama is a Pilot" is a heartwarming and inspiring children's book that showcases the journey of a young boy who admires his mother, a skilled and passionate pilot. Narrated from the perspective of this young boy, the story unfolds his admiration and pride for his mother's profession in the world of aviation, a field where women are significantly underrepresented, making up just 8% of the pilot population worldwide. The narrative takes the reader through the meticulous preparations and the excitement before each flight, highlighting the hard work, dedication, and sheer joy of flying.

This book serves not only as a tribute to women in aviation but also as a beacon of inspiration for young readers, encouraging them to pursue their dreams regardless of gender stereotypes. It aims to break barriers and instill a belief in children that the sky is not the limit and that they can achieve their dreams with passion and perseverance, just like the protagonist's mother. Through its engaging storyline and vivid illustrations, "My Mama is a Pilot" brings awareness to the significant role of women in aviation and aims to inspire a future generation of aviators, making it an essential read for children and adults alike, fostering an environment of equality and empowerment.

About the Author- Saba Shahid

General aviation is not just a hobby but a significant part of my life. As a private pilot working on my instrument rating, I enjoy exploring new destinations with my family and sharing these adventures through children's storybooks. My debut bilingual English-Urdu children's book, "Chapu Chapu Chapu Chalao," (Row Row Row Your Boat) was inspired by my family's kayaking adventures in Apopka, Florida, embodying my passion for travel and storytelling.
