SEAPEX 2016 Report

- by Jack R. Congrove, Northwest Federation

The

The Seattle Philatelic Exhibition held its 2016 SEAPEX exhibition at the Tukwila Community Center in Tukwila, Washington, on the weekend of 9–11 September. The show offered 148 frames of competitive philatelic exhibits, 24 additional frames of non-competitive exhibits, and 28 dealers in its bourse. The theme of the show this year celebrated the 100th anniversary of Boeing Aircraft.

On Thursday, prior to the exhibition, SEAPEX organized a tour of the Boeing Museum of Flight. During this tour, the visitors had a unique opportunity to visit the Boeing archives and view selected items from their collection of air mail covers and flight memorabilia.

This was the second year that SEAPEX operated as a World Series of Philately (WSP) exhibition.

The multi-frame Grand Award winner from each of the 31 WSP shows is invited to compete at the annual APS Stamp Show for the Champion of Champions Award, the highest national level exhibiting honor available.

The one-frame Grand Award winner also gets to compete at the APS AmeriStamp Expo for the Single Frame Champion of Champions Award.

The multi-frame Grand Award winner this year was Dr. Michael D. Dixon of Portland for "British WWII Prisoner-of-War Air Mail Stationery."

This is the final edition of the journal for 2016. It reminds me that it is time to wish all of our clubs and their members a happy holiday season and a safe and prosperous new year.

It is also time to remind our clubs that their annual membership payments are due at the first of the year.

Most of our member clubs are making plans for holiday parties. See page 16 for a report of the various club activities.

I regret to announce that our former Associate Editor, Lisa D. Foster, has decided to resign that position in order to pursue other activities. On behalf of the Federation, I want to thank her for her excellent reporting on Youth activities and Exhibiting events and her other contributions.

In this issue, we have reports on several philatelic events including SEAPEX, the Oregon Stamp Society centennial celebration, and the opening of the new American Philatelic Research Library.

Most of our member clubs are preparing for their holiday parties. See the Club Activities information starting on page 16 for more information.

For the first time, I entered our journal in a philatelic literature exhibition. I am very pleased to announce that the publication received a Vermeil award. See the article on page 6.

Jim Siscel wrote to inform me of an error in the Philatelic Quiz in the last edition. It turns out that the islands of Attu and Kiska in the Aleutian Islands were not the only U.S. territories occupied by the Japanese during WWII. That distinction also belongs the island of Guam.

Keep the email coming about any activities or happenings involving your clubs or other groups so I can report the news to others.

Newsletter editors, please make sure I am on your distribution for the same reason.

Also, please look at your collection and send me a couple paragraphs describing an item you find interesting. Club officers, send me news about your club's activities and accomplishments. I will publish this information in upcoming editions. Input for the next edition is due to me not later than 15 February 2017. Send to: jackcongrove@comcast.net.

The one-frame Grand Award winner was Robert Benning-hoff for "The e Watermark Definitive Coil Stamps of Ireland 1940 to 1970." Benninghoff also received the Reserve Grand Award for "Irish Coil Stamps 1922 to 1940."

The People's Choice Award went to Carl "Van" Jennings for "Ancient Egypt: The Time of the Pharaohs."

On Saturday, SEAPEX held a ceremony to celebrate the show theme of the 100th anniversary of Boeing Aircraft. Guest speaker Steve Ellis, a stamp collector and docent at the Museum of Flight, gave an interesting presentation on the mission of the museum along with some personal anecdotes on Boeing history and the artifacts in the museum.

Attendees celebrated with cake and refreshments.

On Saturday, the show hosted a seminar for 30 Boy Scouts to fulfill the requirements for achieving a stamp collecting merit badge.

Chairman's Notes

We had a great Thanksgiving at my house—turkey and stuffing, mashed potatoes, green bean casserole, squash, and cranberries topped off with pumpkin pie. Since there were just three of us, we have had two full days of leftovers!

Now we are starting to look forward to that wonderful time that is Christmas season for most of us followed by the New Year's celebration as we enter the new year of 2017. Best wishes to all of you for a great Christmas and holiday season. And may the New Year be a happy and blessed one as you pursue your philatelic interests.

PIPEX 2017 is back on the schedule for Mother's Day weekend in May 2017. This show should once again be one of the top philatelic events of the year. So put it on your calendar and take part whether you are a dealer, beginning or advanced collector, or exhibitor. There will be something for everyone.

And while I am promoting philatelic events, please consider putting the 27th Annual John D. Arn Philatelic Symposium (see p.5) on your calendar. It will be held on 1 April 2017, at the Best Western Conference Center in Moses Lake, Washington. It includes four knowledgeable philatelic speakers, clothesline events, silent and regular auctions, and lunch and dinner.

I am looking forward to seeing many of you in 2017.

— Lawrence Clay, Chairman

Chapter meetings were held by several societies including Women Exhibitors, German Philatelic Group, American Helvetia Philatelic Society, and the Universal Ship Cancellation Society.

Next year, SEAPEX 2017 will be held at the same venue on the weekend of 8–10 September. The theme for the show will celebrate the 100th anniversary of Camp Lewis, now part of Joint Base Lewis-McChord.

As usual there will be free parking and free admission, plenty of dealers, and great exhibits. Add it to your calendars now.

Youth in Philately

— by Jack R. Congrove, Editor

It is axiomatic in the philatelic world that we need to encourage stamp collecting among young people. Most stamp shows offer some activities to involve young visitors and several philatelic clubs and organizations provide resources to promote youth participation.

The American Topical Association is one such organization. In October, the ATA won second prize, which included a trophy, certificate, and $\in 1,000$ (~\$1,200), for its publications Topical Time and Topical Tidbits in the 4th CG International Philatelic Promotions Awards at the Internationale Briefmarkenbörse in Sindelfingen, Germany.

These awards are sponsored by the German Auktionshaus Christoph Gärtner GmbH & Co. KG to "promote youth philately and public relations."

Topical Tidbits is periodic publication directed at a youth audience. Each edition features a specific topic of interest to philatelists with information, fun facts, games, puzzles, activities, and of course, loads of stamp images.

The latest edition is devoted to France and includes a history quiz, artwork by French artists, a French travel bingo game, and album page templates for collecting.

Current and past editions are available on the ATA website (http://americantopicalassn.org/youth.shtml). Also on the website you will find more than 400 templates of free topical album pages for youth collectors.

The website also includes an eight-page "Introduction to Stamp Collecting" booklet for youths that containing descriptions of stamp collecting tools, how to soak and hinge stamps, a glossary of terms, and a stamp identifier.

At the website, you will find links to other web pages devoted to collecting for kids.

The ATA offers its "Taste of Topicals" beginner's stamp collecting packets for $5 plus $1 for postage. Each packet includes five topical album pages, ~30 stamps to match the page topic, stamp hinges, and various information to help one get started in topical collecting. Adult beginners often also enjoy Taste of Topicals packets themselves.

27th John D. Arn Moses Lake Symposium

- by David Harris, Inland Empire Philatelic Society

The first Moses Lake Philatelic Symposium took place in about 1991. John D. Arn, of the Inland Empire Philatelic Society in Spokane, set up the event at the Elks Club in Moses Lake, Washington. Eventually, the meeting moved to its present location at the Best Western Lake Front Hotel and Conference Center in Moses Lake.

John originally chose Moses Lake because of its central location to both eastern and western Washington and easy accessibility from the other northwestern states, Montana, Oregon, and Idaho, and the Canadian provinces of British Columbia and Alberta.

John was able to successfully set up and organize the meetings by himself until his health began to weaken late in the first decade of the 21st Century. Also at this time, the hotel was sold and the new owners were more attuned to business activities than the previous owners. Previously, there were no charges for the conference room, but the new owners had different ideas. John understandably decided it was time to give up on the symposium.

There were discussions throughout the Northwest Federation, but no conclusions were forthcoming. Until my wife, Anne, and I happened to be attending the Rocky Mountain Stamp Show in Denver and enjoying the hospitality of the Rocky Mountain Philatelic Library with wine and cheese in celebration of the Women's Exhibitors meeting there.

During a quiet moment, Ruth Caswell approached me and asked what we (notice the official "we") were going to do about Moses Lake. The end of the discussion led to the agreement that Ruth would take care of the speakers and I would do all the rest.

I approached the Northwest Federation at their annual meeting and asked that they pick up the tab for the cost of the conference room. The vote was overwhelmingly positive and without the support of the Federation, the symposium would not be possible.

About the same time, I decided to rename the symposium in honor of the gentleman that started it all and so now it is the John D. Arn Philatelic Symposium at Moses Lake, Washington.

Ruth retired at the end of the 2016 symposium and my wife Anne has picked up the responsibility of getting speakers for 2017 and future events.

At the Northwest Federation Annual General Meeting held during APS StampShow held in Portland in August 2016, the Federation members agreed again to pay for the Moses Lake conference room with help from income from the symposium itself, if possible.

We have a contract to hold the 2017 symposium at the Best Western Lake Front Hotel and Conference Center on Saturday, 1 April 2017. It will be an excellent gathering of collectors able to share friendships across many states and to enjoy presentations by local and national collectors as well as a chance to sell some of their treasures in the auctions to enhance their incomes.

Anne has lined up four exceptional speakers for our 2017 meeting: Collyer Church of the Puget Sound Collectors Club, Larry Crain from the Southern Oregon Philatelic Society, Tony Wawrukiewicz from the Oregon Stamp Society, and Michael Zak from the Garden City Stamp Club in Missoula, Montana.

In addition, the lunch and dinner menus have been corrected in the 2017 menus and I am working to break the bottleneck of the auction tallying operation by hopefully having everything on computers.

Prices for the lunch and dinner will remain the same as last year, but room prices have increased slightly. I would like to reduce the cost of the meals, but it is the only way we have to pay for the overhead (except the conference room cost).

The Moses Lake Symposium is the pride of stamp collecting in the Pacific Northwest. We have had speakers from as far east as Colorado and Missouri and as far south as California.

With both PIPEX and SEAPEX World Series of Philately shows, stamp collecting is alive and well in the Pacific Northwest and I certainly hope we continue to have an excellent turnout at the Moses Lake event.

If you want more information, or to be added to our mailing list, please contact me at sqpiano@gmail.com and keep an eye on the Northwest Federation website (www.nwfedstamps.org) for more information.

I will be sending out a letter of introduction to all on the Moses Lake mailing list about the middle of December and the program and registration forms will be in the mail around the middle of January.

Incentive for New Exhibitors

The Northwest Federation of Stamp Clubs has announced an incentive to encourage new exhibitors to enter their philatelic exhibits at PIPEX and SEAPEX, the two national-level World Series of Philately (WSP) shows in the Federation area.

The Federation will issue a $20 rebate of the entry fee for adult exhibitors at these shows who have not previously exhibited in any WSP exhibition. To be eligible, the exhibitor must be a member of one of the stamp clubs or societies of the Northwest Federation. Up to ten rebates will be given in 2017.

In announcing this new initiative, Lawrence Clay, Chairman of the Northwest Federation, said, "Stamp shows normally have one or two new exhibitors a year. That is not enough. We need to develop new exhibitors, to maintain the strength of the hobby."

George Struble, Exhibits Chair of PIPEX, said, "There are several reasons for a stamp collector to exhibit. One is to show your friends what you do. Another is to help educate the public about your specialty. It provides a focus for your philatelic activity. But, the biggest benefit is that preparing an exhibit deepens your philatelic knowledge."

Jack Congrove, President of SEAPEX, said, "As the newest WSP show, we are grateful to the NW Federation for this opportunity. We have several special prizes for novice exhibitors that we are unable to award due to lack of candidates. This initiative will help new exhibitors and help our show."

In 2017, the PIPEX show will be held 12–14 May at the Red Lion on the River hotel in Portland. The SEAPEX show will be 8–10 September at the Tukwila Community Center in Tukwila, Washington.

Potential exhibitors can find exhibit prospectuses and entry forms for each show on their respective websites: www.PIPEXstampshow.org and www.SEAPEXshow.org. Deadlines for exhibit entries are 1 April for PIPEX and 1 August for SEAPEX.

No special forms are needed to qualify for the rebates. When the exhibits chairs of PIPEX and SEAPEX receive an entry form for a new exhibitor, they will check for membership in one of the clubs or societies that belongs to the NW Federation, and will initiate the rebate.

New exhibitors can find many sources of advice about exhibiting. Among them is the APS Manual of Judging and Exhibiting, Seventh Edition, accessible on the APS website, www.stamps.org.

The American Association of Philatelic Exhibitors (AAPE) has many resources to help exhibitors including instructions on constructing an exhibit and examples of different exhibit types at their website, www.aape.org.

Most stamp clubs have members who are experienced exhibitors who will be delighted to advise and assist new exhibitors. George Struble, in Salem, Oregon, has been on a campaign to encourage new exhibitors and is available to assist potential exhibitors in Oregon; contact him at 503 -364-3929 or gstruble@willamette.edu.

Federation Journal Wins Award

As announced in the last edition, we made a small change to the title of The Federated Philatelist to label it as a "journal" rather than a "newsletter." This change enabled us to enter the publication in the periodical category of philatelic literature exhibitions.

Accordingly, your editor entered the 2015 set of journal editions in the literature exhibition held at Chicagopex on 18–20 November 2016.

We are very pleased to announce that the journal received a Vermeil award in this exhibition.

This is the first time in memory that the journal has competed in a philatelic literature exhibition and to achieve such a high award on the first try is very gratifying.

All of our readers can help maintain and hopefully improve this quality by submitting a short article on an item in your collection, or a report on significant events and activities involving your club. See page 2 for address.

American Philatelic Research Library

The American Philatelic Research Library located at the American Philatelic Center in Bellefonte, Pennsylvania, held its Grand Opening event on 28–29 October 2016.

The celebration included a formal dinner on Friday evening at the American Philatelic Center and a ribbon cutting ceremony on Saturday morning in the main library hall.

The event marked the completion of several years of renovation of the historic match factory purchased by the library in 2002, and the relocation of the library from its temporary space at the American Philatelic Society headquarters. The design and construction of the new building were accomplished by Pieper O'Brien Herr Architects.

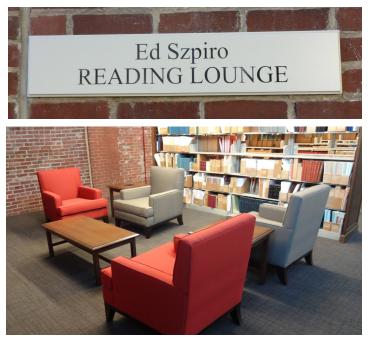

The entire center contains about 100,000 square feet and includes rental space for eleven business tenants.

The new library uses 19,000 square feet for reading and research space and for shelving the world's largest collection of philatelic literature.

The facility includes a gift shop that offers new and used books, gifts, and souvenirs.

The library is open to the public, but only APS members have borrowing privileges.

The stacks on the upper level contain copies of almost every philatelic periodical publication.

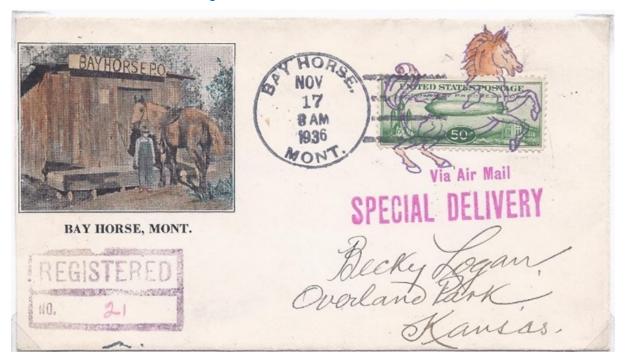

APRL Stacks view from upper floor

Also on both levels are reading areas donated by various benefactors. One such area recognizes Ed Szpiro, a prominent Northwest philatelist.

Bay Horse, Montana

— by Anne B. Harris, Inland Empire Philatelic Society

The philatelic cover shown here was posted from Bay Horse, Montana, to Overland Park, Kansas, on 17 November 1936. The 50c Zeppelin Century of Progress stamp would have overpaid the 6c airmail rate, 10c special delivery fee, and 10c registration fee for a one ounce letter.

It features a hand-drawn and colored fancy cancel and a hand-colored cachet.

Bay Horse was named for Bay Horse Creek, which in turn was supposedly named for a wild bay stallion. It was situated at latitude 45.043°N, longitude 105.567°W at an elevation of 3,788 feet. This places it approximately 15 miles southwest of Biddle, Montana.

The Bay Horse Post Office was established in 1917, with Perry Murphy, who first homesteaded the area, appointed clerk. The post office was probably established to service a working ranch nearby.

The Bay Horse Creek Ranch is still in existence. It serves as a hunting and recreational facility.

When Powder River County was established in 1920, Guy Seeley was appointed Postmaster. Following Postmaster Seeley was Postmaster Margaret Cannon in 1930, and the last Postmaster, James Hewitt in 1946.

Postmaster Hewitt stayed until the post office closed in 1955, when all mail deliveries were moved to Recluse, Wyoming, 34 miles south of Bay Horse, Montana. The area is currently serviced by the post office in Biddle, Montana.

Oregon Stamp Society Centennial Exhibition

— by Sheryll Ruecker , Oregon Stamp Society

The decision to hold a centennial exhibition for the Oregon Stamp Society at the Multnomah County Library was a simple one, as in 2012, we had put on our first exhibition there and it had gone very well. I had better clarify and say first exhibition this century, since we had used this very library as the venue for our first exhibition back in 1928.

We chose the period covering August because we had plans to ask the American Philatelic Society (APS) to hold their summer show here that same year. Plans that, as you all know, bore fruit.

Collins Gallery. Take the sweeping staircase to the third floor, or take the elevator, and you will arrive at the Collins Gallery, a spacious area lit by a large ornate domed skylight. Recitals, poetry readings, and educational and art exhibitions are held there regularly.

Three wall cases on the east wall, four end cases north and south, and five floor cases on the west side near the stairs provided the spaces for exhibits.

Exhibits. Many groups of school children had visited the last exhibition, so we were encouraged to provide educational exhibits. Some creative thinking was required if we were to take advantage of the three-dimensional and other attributes of each case.

Lighthouses of Oregon. We used the vertical space to place three-dimensional objects, and the tall divider to place stories, maps, and illustrative covers.

Charity Seals in Oregon. A full sheet of Portland Christmas seals on one side in the case attracted viewers.

The Ukulele Story. This was a favorite with viewers. Nicely laid out, and featuring a real ukulele, which was played at the reception.

Lighthouses of Oregon in three-dimensional case

Stamp Collector's Tools. This was at the entrance of the exhibition as an overview of stamp collecting.

Ubiquitous Perf Gauge. Those drawn to gadgets liked this one.

We set up several educational exhibits using different types of philatelic material (stamps, covers, airmail, first day covers) to highlight the capability of philately to teach about geography, history, and art.

One World, Many Stamps. This eye-catching exhibit exposing viewers to geography was also very popular.

Around the World with Owen Wade. Owen Wade was an avid collector and producer of covers between the 1940s and 1990s. This exhibit showed a small sampling of the world-wide covers he had arranged to be sent to him.

Air Mail to and from the SS Leviathan 1927–1929. This exhibit used of the back of the case to place the introduction and other pages vertically. The covers attracted those who liked letters.

SS Leviathan Mail

Post-WWI German Inflation Period. Those who liked letters liked the stamp-covered covers in this one, too. The wheelbarrow full of old German money was an attraction.

Post-WWI Austrian Inflation Period. In this exhibit, the colorful stamps took center stage. The simple dialogue between an old man and his young charge was a continuation of that in the German inflation exhibit.

Art Cover Exchange. A colorful exhibit of handillustrated cacheted covers drew lots of viewers.

Group and Society Exhibits. The three wall cases were earmarked for the APS to promote APS StampShow 2016, the 100th anniversary of the Oregon Stamp Society, and a display on Oregon, based on the club showcase exhibit shown at PIPEX 2015.

SEAPEX Award

— by Jack R. Congrove, SEAPEX

At the awards banquet for the Seattle Philatelic Exhibition (SEAPEX) 2016 held on 10 September, SEAPEX President Jack Congrove announced the recipient of the 2016 SEAPEX Distinguished Service Award.

This is the highest award presented by the organization and recognizes exceptional performance, leadership, and service by a member of the philatelic community. Priority is typically given to those who have contributed in some manner to the SEAPEX exhibition.

The recipient this year was David McNamee, an APSaccredited Chief Philatelic Judge and the immediate past Chairman of the Committee on Accreditation of National Exhibitions and Judges (CANEJ).

During the early stages of SEAPEX's plans and efforts to convert from a regional show to a WSP exhibition, and especially during the four-year probationary period, David provided helpful guidance on setting up an organization and encouragement on implementing changes to enhance many aspects of the show.

He was an advocate for SEAPEX during the application process and recommended approval of its application to the American Philatelic Society.

Because he was unable to be in attendance at the banquet, he did not receive the actual award until November.

Larry Crain made the presentation on behalf of SEAPEX at the meeting of the Council of Northern California Philatelic Societies on 13 November.

Congratulations and thanks to David for all of his efforts.

Oregon Stamp Society display case

The Northwest Philatelic Library (NPL) exhibit was in an unusual glass floor case with a peaked roof. It featured books on stamps and stamp collecting.

Reception. On 3 August, between 6:00 and 7:30 PM, we chose to take up the library's offer to put on a reception, and timed it to coincide with APS StampShow 2016. It was well attended and included visitors from as far away as the east coast.

After a welcoming speech by Oregon Stamp Society Foundation president Jerry Rottman, exhibitor Dennis Ladd entertained us with two songs played on his ukulele, which he had retrieved from one of the exhibit cases.

The light refreshments provided by the library were much appreciated by those who had spent the day traveling to Portland, or setting up exhibits for the APS show.

Feedback. We have received superlative responses such as: "stunning," "awesome," and "superb" from our club members, the public, and those who have seen photos in social media.

Library staff members were delighted when we accepted their request to extend the exhibition for another two weeks.

"We are very happy with the historical and artistic components of the stamp exhibits. Your collectors did a beautiful job of displaying the pieces."

One library patron passed on the following comment:

"The philatelic display in the Collins Gallery is fascinating. I appreciate the content as well as the attractive display. Thank you."

A social media response:

"It's a fantastic exhibit! Even if it got 1 kid collecting stamps, that was worth all your effort and persistence in creating such a fine, interesting exhibit."

You Can Do It Too! Certainly the Multnomah County Library is not alone in providing exhibit space that stamp clubs could take advantage of. Why not inquire at your local library? You may spark a whole new generation of stamp collectors, and have some fun while doing it.

Here are some sample library exhibition deadlines for planning purposes.

12 months before: Confirm exhibition with venue officials

6 months before: Receive list of exhibitors, exhibits, and descriptions. Establish exhibition title and description.

5 months before: Receive images for Marketing to design publicity postcard and news releases.

2 months before: Obtain list of names and addresses to mail postcards.

1 month before: Firm up reception details, send postcards .

Good luck with your exhibition.

The Federated Philatelist

APEX 2017

The Anchorage Philatelic Society will host its annual Alaska Philatelic Exhibition (APEX) on 3–5 March at the Anchorage Senior Activity Center.

The theme will be "Educating Alaska" and a special show cover will honor the 100th anniversary of the University of Alaska.

They are looking for exhibits. If you are interested, please contact the Chairman, Eric Knapp (eknapp@gci.net)

Alaskan Postmarks

Members of the Alaska Collectors Club are currently working on a project to update the Postmarks of Territorial Alaska catalog originally published by Dr. William Helbock.

Dr. Helbock had started this update before he passed away and several members have taken up the challenge to complete the project.

They are making great progress, but can always use additional help. Contact Eric Knapp (eknapp@gci.net).

Sno-King Stamp Show

The Sno-King Stamp Club would like to again have its annual club show in Everett at the Holiday Inn in early 2017. However, due to remodeling issues happening there, everyone is asked to stay tuned for the actual location this year, which is still to be determined.

Northwest Philatelic Library

The Northwest Philatelic Library (NPL) is searching for a permanent Editor for their newsletter, Book Reports. Their Interim Editor is Greg Alexander, who also serves as their Webmaster.

Book Reports is published quarterly in January, April, August, and October. They are continually looking for articles, book reviews, and suggestions for their recurring "Stumper" column.

The deadline for submissions is the 10th of the month preceding publication. If you would like to submit an article or are interested in assuming the Editor position, contact the NPL President, Orlie Trier (nwpl@qwestoffice.net).

Total Solar Eclipse

— by Jack R. Congrove, Northwest Federation

The Pacific Northwest is fortunate to be squarely in the path of totality for the total eclipse of the Sun that will occur on 21 August 2017. This will be the first total solar eclipse visible in the continental U.S. in 38 years

If there are clear skies, at least a partial eclipse will be visible everywhere in the continental U.S.

A solar eclipse is a lineup of the Sun, Moon, and Earth. The Moon comes directly between the Sun and Earth and casts a shadow on the Earth's surface. If you are in the dark portion of the shadow (umbra), you will see the Moon cover the entire area of the Sun in a total eclipse. If you are in the light part (penumbra), you will see a partial eclipse. Take precautions not to view the Sun directly.

Path of Totality

Observers in all of the Federation states and provinces, except northern Alaska, will see at least a partial eclipse. If you want to witness totality, you must arrange to be somewhere in the area of this shaded band in Oregon.

This natural phenomenon provides an opportunity to create some special commemorative covers and obtain cancellations at post offices in the path of totality. Maybe Oregon clubs could host an eclipse party.

Hollygram Air Mail

Christmas Airmail Hollygram 1928 (inside)

- by Jack R. Congrove, Northwest Federation

This year, the theme of the Seattle Philatelic Exhibition (SEAPEX) celebrated the 100th anniversary of Boeing Aircraft.

As part of this celebration on Thursday, 8 September, before the show, the show committee organized a tour of the Museum of Flight located on the west side of Boeing Field (now King County International Airport) in Seattle.

The tour was led by museum docent Steve Ellis, himself a stamp collector.

In addition to the many aircraft, spacecraft, and other aerospace artifacts, the Museum houses an extensive Library and an Archive of important documents, papers, manuals, and other historical memorabilia and ephemera relating to aerospace development and operations.

Many of these items are airmail related and our tour was offered a special opportunity to view selected items from this archive. Mr. Ellis, in coordination with Archivist Jessica Jones, had selected several significant airmail related items for our viewing.

The archives and library are normally not accessible to the general public and are generally limited by appointment to persons doing serious historical research.

However, it is possible to arrange access to both of these facilities by prior coordination with the Archivist (JJones@museumofflight.org) or the Head Librarian (MLoweprather@museumofflight.org).

In 1928, Claude Vincent O'Callaghan was the General Traffic Manager for Varney Air Lines. Varney had started service two years before on 6 April 1926, based in Boise, Idaho, and had the contract for Contract Air Mail Route Five (CAM-5).

CAM-5 provided service between Elko, Nevada, and Pasco, Washington, with an interim stop in Boise, Idaho.

O'Callaghan was born in Bonners Ferry, Idaho, on 27 July 1896. He served in the US Army during WWI and later attended the University of Washington where he was a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

In 1927, he was working for Varney as air mail supervisor in Spokane. Presumably he was promoted and moved to

Christmas Airmail Hollygram 1928 (front & back)

Seattle when this card was sent. Varney had added Seattle, Portland, and Salt Lake City to its routes.

In 1930, Varney Air Lines was acquired by United Aircraft and Transport (Boeing) and folded into a group of airlines that was later spun off to form United Air Lines.

O'Callaghan remained with this group and in the 1930s was Supervisor of Regulations in the United Air Lines operations department. In 1937, he became United's Assistant Chief of Flying. He died on 23 September 1992.

The Hollygram was mailed from Chicago on 20 December 1928, and sent by Harold Crary. The message reads:

"With Greetings of the Season to my friend Claude O'Callaghan, whose cooperation I have cordially appreciated."

Crary, a former newspaperman, had worked for Boeing Airplane Company in its advertising department. In 1929, he opened the small original office for United Air Lines in Chicago and in 1934, became the Director of Traffic, Advertising, and Publicity for United Air Lines. Eventually, he advanced to Vice President of United.

The hollygram apparently was created to be an airmail Christmas letter. I could find no information on its artist or publisher. The letter is franked with one five-cent Air Mail Beacon stamp (Sc#C11) that paid the new one-ounce airmail rate that had gone into effect on 1 August the same year.

The inside design shows Santa with his bag of gifts astride a Ford Trimotor transport airplane being pulled by his team of six reindeer. One wonders what happened to the other two of Santa's team. Perhaps they were not needed with the additional power provided by the three 300-hp aircraft engines.

The tail marking shows "US Mail/CAM 01." CAM-1 was flown by Colonial Air Transport between New York and Boston.

Neither Varney nor the other airlines under Boeing flew the Ford aircraft. They typically used only Boeing planes.

The aircraft flies over a scene that could represent the Northwest with mountains in the background, a river with what looks like a port at the left, and a cityscape that could represent either Portland or Seattle.

Note also the aircraft beacon at lower left in front of what could be an aircraft hanger or other airfield building.

Crary also included a small photo of himself. It is an interesting cover of the season between two aviation pioneers.

Inverted Jenny to Sell

- by Jack R. Congrove, Northwest Federation

The American Philatelic Research Library, which this summer received ownership of the third stamp recovered from the stolen McCoy block of four Inverted Jenny stamps (Sc#C3a), is taking action to put the position 76 stamp up for sale.

The APRL is already the owner of another copy of the stamp (position 65) and the trustees apparently think that one copy is enough.

C3a has a current Scott Catalogue value of $450,000. The unusual provenance and the cachet of being part of the famous McCoy block might add appeal to potential buyers and thus increase the selling price.

APS Executive Director Scott English at return ceremony

This stamp was found by a non-collector in Northern Ireland and returned in a ceremony at the World Stamp Show in New York in June.

The original block was stolen from a stamp show in Norfolk, Virginia in September 1955. The robbery has never been solved.

So far, three of the four stamps have turned up, the first (position 75) in Chicago in 1977. That stamp was sold by the APRL to raise funds in 1981. The second copy, which the library still owns, was found in New York in 1981.

This copy somehow ended up in the effects of a person in Northern Ireland and was inherited by his grandson, Keelin O'Neill. O'Neill submitted it to Spink Auctions where it was discovered to be one of the missing stamps.

When this came to light, O'Neill waived all claims to it. He did not go away empty-handed, however. He received a reward of $50,000 offered by Donald Sundman of Mystic Stamp Company.

Due to its condition, the stamp might be worth $200,000.
