

How do I get a reduced age retirement?

Reserve Component Soldiers that are mobilized in support of Overseas Contingency Operations after January 28, 2008 will have their retirement dates reduced by three months for each cumulative total of 90 eligible days of active duty that they serve, except when those 90 days cross a fiscal year (FY) boundary.

Current Department of Defense (DoD) policy is a reflection of present language within Title 10 United States Code Section 12731 as adapted by the FY 2008 National Defense Appropriations Act (NDAA), which clearly prohibits allowing the 90-day calculations to cross fiscal year boundaries. Upon completing mobilization, retain a copy of your qualifying orders and DD Form 214 covering the same qualifying period. Send these documents to Human Resources Command, Fort Knox, KY 6 to 9 months prior to your projected retirement date. Ensure you place at the top of your submitted documentation the comment "90 day drop."

If eligible for Concurrent Retirement and Disability Pay (CRDP) and/or Combat Related Special Compensation (CRSC), how does that affect my Non-Regular retirement?

CRDP provides all or a portion of retired pay that is offset by VA disability pay. The CRDP payment received is included within the Soldier's retired pay.

If you are eligible for CRSC, you will receive special compensation pay for the amount approved.
