

An Open Letter to the Citizens of Earth

Human civilization is facing its greatest crisis, consisting of many catastrophic risks arriving at the same time.

There is no world plan of action to limit or prevent all these risks, which include: ecological collapse and extinction, a hothouse Earth, food failures. The Roundtable on the Human Future has produced a powerful new report on the human crisis and what may be done about it.

Leading scientists have voiced concern about all these risks and the danger they pose for collapsing our civilisation. The solutions to these are known.

These risks are interlinked. None can be solved in isolation. However, they can be addressed – with worldwide awareness, cooperation, goodwill and determination.

No government yet has a plan for dealing with the multiple threats to our civilization, our grandchildren and the life support systems of Earth into the future.

We here urgently call for a World Plan of Action to address all the catastrophic risks, together, in ways that make none of them worse.

We call for a fairer, safer, healthier and more sustainable future for all people and life on our Planet.

Signed:

Climate Foundation
Climate Majority Project
Common Home of Humanity
Council for the Human Future
Earth Institute
Engage, Connect, Protect
Extinction Rebellion
Future Earth Australia
Future Design Research Centre
Greening Youth Foundation

Global Challenges Foundation
Global Evergreening Alliance
Global Governance Forum
Global Restoration Collaborative
Global Youth Security Council
Healthy Planet Action Coalition
InterAction Council
Millennium Alliance for Humanity and the Biosphere
Post Carbon Institute
Revolution in the 21st Century
The Third Act
Transition Earth
World Academy of Arts and Sciences