Discussion Questions

Q1 (Icebreaker): Ephesians 5 discusses husbands nourishing their wives. What's one comforting habit or activity that recharges your batteries in a nourishing way?

Q2: What's your main takeaway from the sermon/text that was preached?

Q3: From an in-law perspective, you are not a part of your children's one-flesh union — what ways have you found to encourage your married children in life and in the Lord?

Q4: According to the text, a husband's first priority should be his wife — taking precedence over parents and even children. How can couples practically maintain this priority in the busyness of daily family life and parenting? Also, wives — what has your life looked like when you were made a priority?

Q5: How can we pray for you?
