DETROIT (January 30, 2021) – On Saturday, January 30, 2021, the Rhonda Walker Foundation (RWF) Girls into Women Program will welcome Lathrup Village Mayor Kelly Garrett for a personal development workshop where each teen will create a vision board for the new year. Every year the RWF Girls into Women Program focuses on equipping teen girls in Detroit with tools to make good life choices and set positive, attainable goals.

"The Rhonda Walker Foundation is excited about this month's Vision Board activity with Lathrup Village, Mayor Kelly Garrett. Our teens are looking forward to creating beautiful and motivating vision boards for 2021," expressed Arlisa Robinson, RWF Program Manager.

"Having Mayor Garrett lead this activity is so special because she has experience with leading meaningful vision board activities, is passionate about serving the community, and is the first African American to hold the role as Mayor in Lathrup Village, setting a great example for our teen girls," stated Ruselda Villanueva Johnson, RWF CEO.

The RWF five-year comprehensive Girls into Women program focuses on six program pillars: college prep, career development, personal development, mentoring, health and wellness, and community outreach. This month's workshop will provide the RWF teens an opportunity to practice critical social skills while completing the vision board for the new year. To support this fun virtual workshop each teen received a special package in the mail with all the materials needed for the workshop.
