Workshop in Boston

Tufts University School of Medicine announces its Health Literacy Leadership Institute (HLLI 2018). HLLI 2018 is designed for both professionals and students engaged in health literacy initiatives. This is an advanced level program that uses peer learning to facilitate and encourage research and best practices. Whether at a community program or in a healthcare setting, HLLI 2018 will provide skills and means to champion health literacy in your work.

Register before April 27, 2018 to receive the early registration discount.

- WHAT: Health Literacy Leadership Institute 2018
WHY: To advance health literacy and build leadership in the field
WHEN: June 11 – 15, 2018
WHERE: Tufts University School of Medicine (Boston, MA)

Health Literacy Discussion List

This is a moderated list, open to anyone with some great conversations around health literacy. You must register and create a password. This is hosted by IHA, the same organization that hosts the annual health literacy conference in Irvine California. <http://listserv.ihahealthliteracy.org/scripts/wa.exe?INDEX>

Opportunities to Participate in Projects with the Arizona Health Literacy Coalition

- The AZ Health Literacy Coalition is compiling material for use with adult learners in Adult Education and Literacy settings. We are preparing handout, reference materials, and a slide show.
- The Coalition is also creating a marketing strategy for the DNR video spot and related text for the website. This will include drafting a brief message, making a list of organizations to send it to, and editing text.

If you'd like to participate, please contact Jutta.Ulrich@cox.net.

Next conference call: Tuesday April 10, 2018 (2 pm).
