WELCOME

On behalf of our family, welcome, and a huge thank you for joining us this evening. We know how busy you all are and we really appreciate you all for making the time to support this event.

The loss of our beautiful son and brother, Leo, changed our lives forever. While nothing can replace him, Leo's Angels was created to ensure that his legacy lives on by helping to transform epilepsy care through technology, innovation and collaboration.

When Leo was in the room, you couldn't help but smile. His infectious smile, bubbly personality and wonderfully cheeky sense of humour left a lasting impression on everyone fortunate enough to know him, despite his far too short time in this world.

Leo believed in magic, and through Leo's Angels we hope to show that his spirit has left a sprinkle of magic in this world. Together, we can turn that magic into meaningful change—but we can't do it without your help.

Tonight is about so much more than fundraising. It is about bringing together people who believe that, together, we can make a difference.

Epilepsy is the most common serious neurological condition affecting children. Every hour, a child in the UK alone, is diagnosed with epilepsy, yet the care they receive can still depend on where they live. Families continue to experience significant variation in access to specialist nurses, mental health support, advanced diagnostics and information about life-saving risks such as SUDEP (Sudden Unexpected Death in Epilepsy). Despite national guidance, epilepsy care remains fragmented, leaving too many families to navigate a complex system when they need joined-up support the most.

We believe technology can help bridge those gaps—connecting data, clinicians and families to deliver safer, more personalised care. Every bid you place, every raffle ticket you buy and every conversation you have helps move us closer to that future. We are incredibly grateful to Astra Experience for their partnership in creating this auction, to our generous prize donors, sponsors and volunteers, and to each and every one of you for being here. Your kindness, generosity and belief in our mission mean more to us than words can express.

We hope you enjoy a wonderful evening filled with great company, inspiring stories and memorable experiences. As you browse the auction, we encourage you to bid generously, knowing that every contribution will help honour Leo's memory and create lasting change for children and families living with epilepsy.

Thank you for standing with us and for helping us turn heartbreak into hope. As Leo would have said. Just being here makes you all "Awesome"

With our heartfelt thanks,

Emma, Ben, Bonnie & Daniel
