It is each of you that make a difference every day, standing for conservative values, living by example and supporting each other in our everyday quest to make a difference in our community. Thank you for your membership in TARWF.

Our Big Beautiful TARWF Booth was at the Tustin Public Schools Foundation Dino Dash on November 2nd. We were there bright and early to greet the over 2,500 Dino Dash registrants before the races began. TARWF handed out over 300 mini American Flags at the event. Thank you to Marlene Ross Blair and Evan Blair for volunteering at the booth along with me and Becky Grimes. It was a great event.

Our 2026 TARWF Membership campaign has begun. The 2026 Membership Renewal packets were distributed at the October General Meeting to all who attended and the remaining packets were mailed. You can renew your TARWF membership by bringing your completed Renewal form and payment to the December 5th General Meeting or mail the completed Renewal form and send your check to Gretchen Whisler. Note that we do not have a General Meeting in November due to the Thanksgiving holiday. A copy of the Renewal form is included in this newsletter for your convenience.

We will be featuring Tustin Mayor, Austen Lombard as our guest speaker at our final General Meeting of the year on December 5th. Our newly elected TARWF 2026 Officers will be installed on December 5th as well.

TARWF is promoting our Turning Point USA fundraiser, make a $5 donation for a FREEDOM button. We will have the buttons at the December meeting. All proceeds will be donated to TPUSA.

Best wishes for a wonderful Thanksgiving holiday with your family and friends.

We are looking forward to being with you at our General Meeting on December 5th!

Program Report

Well, the holiday season has officially launched for 2025. Hopefully, you survived the trick or treaters and have recycled the left-over candy to someone else's address. By the time you read this our annual savage gift exchange happy hour will have come and gone. You might have made room on a shelf in the garage, earmarked your next white elephant gift for next year's happy hour, or actually come away with a treasure. Whatever the outcome, I'm certain you had a wonderful time second guessing Santa with like mind people. At the least, Happy Hour assuaged your separation anxiety due to there being no lunch meeting in November.

So now, onto 2025's year-end meeting on Friday, December 5th. I'm sure we will all be suitably attired to mimic the holiday décor. Per our bylaws we will be having our annual executive board installation ceremony, complete with our being sworn in by our very own Mayor of Tustin, Austin Lombard who will also be sharing a snapshot of life in Tustin, today and tomorrow. You won't want to miss this meeting.

Looking beyond December our focus for speakers will range from Turning Point USA representatives to local and hopefully state candidates for your edification. This is no time to take a break. With the passing of Prop 50, we need to guard the House and every local spot in every way possible.

As always, if you've heard a speaker that supports this program, or hear about an issue we should explore, please share that info with us. We are all about facilitating each other's ability to Educate, Engage and Elect.

Have a great Thanksgiving with friends and family and remember: to cut down on your gift shopping list, wear your MAGA hat to dinner.

Dino Dash Booth a Huge Success!

We are excited to share that our club's sponsored booth at this year's Dino Dash was a tremendous success! Thanks to the enthusiasm of our volunteers and the warm response from attendees, we were able to connect with the community in a meaningful and memorable way.

Throughout the event, we handed out over 300 American flags, each one bringing smiles, conversations, and a sense of shared spirit. The turnout was fantastic, and it was clear that our presence was welcomed and appreciated. This event served as a successful outreach opportunity for our club, helping us build visibility and strengthen relationships within the community. Thank you to everyone who participated—you made this outreach effort truly impactful.

We look forward to more opportunities like this in the future!

Freedom Buttons— and Turning Point USA!

TARWF will continue to sell "Freedom Buttons" for just $5 each! These buttons are a great way to show your patriotic spirit and proudly stand for the values that make America strong.

All profits from the button sales will go directly to support UCI Turning Point USA, an organization dedicated to educating and empowering young Americans to promote freedom, free markets, and limited government. Pick up your Freedom Button at our next meeting — wear it proudly and help make a difference! Together, we can stand for liberty and support the next generation of conservative leaders.

Thank You for Supporting Our Opportunity Drawing!

A heartfelt thank-you to all our members for your continued support of the opportunity drawing at each meeting. Your enthusiasm, generosity, and good-natured participation have helped the club raise some much-needed dough to fuel our meaningful outreach efforts.

The December meeting prize is a Honey Baked Ham gift certificate! Every ticket purchased—whether you walked away with a prize or just enjoyed the excitement—directly contributes to the programs and community connections that make our club so special. Because of you, we're able to keep giving back, strengthening relationships, and bringing positive energy into our community.

Recording Secretary Report

The development of the Tustin Legacy continues to be one of the most talked about issues in our city. With new housing, retail, and community spaces taking shape on the old Marine Corps Air Station site, there's both continued excitement and concern about how these projects will impact traffic, infrastructure, and the charm that makes Tustin such a special place to live.

I've been encouraged to see so many residents getting involved by attending council meetings, asking tough questions, and standing up for smart, responsible growth.

As your Recording Secretary, I believe it's important that we stay engaged and ensure that Tustin's progress reflects the values of our community: accountability, balance, and respect for our city's legacy.

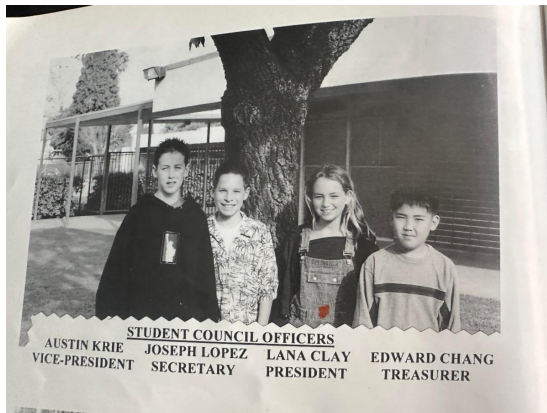

On a personal note, I recently attended two wonderful events at the Nixon Library. One featuring Eric Trump and another with Michael Knowles. Both offered thoughtful perspectives and renewed energy for those of us committed to preserving conservative values in challenging times. I also encourage you to read Eric Trump's new book, Under Siege: My Family's Fight to Save Our Nation, it's a powerful reminder of perseverance and conviction in the face of adversity.

While attending these events, I had a delightful surprise: I discovered that my childhood friend Joseph Lopez is now serving as President and CEO of the Nixon Foundation! We laughed remembering our days on the Wagner elementary school student council together.

Encounters like that remind me how our early interests in leadership can grow into lifelong service and involvement. As we look toward 2026, let's carry that same spirit forward staying active, informed, and ready to make a difference right here in Tustin and beyond.

I am so sorry more people did not attend the event going to “HEROS HALL” with Marlene Blair, Evan Blair, Brent George, Roger Shortall & myself. We really enjoyed it and learned so much about World War I, World War II, Korean War, and Vietnam War. I really enjoyed the many personal stories about the men in our area that served and came home. Some even had been in a POW Camp, and amazingly they lived through it.

Most items on display were donated by family members and organizations. It is so worth a few hours out of a day to visit this ORANGE COUNTY historical exhibit. Our tour guide was great.

Roger & I went to “Veterans Sports Park” in Tustin today to see the monuments which honor all branches of the service. Anyone can pay to have a family member’s name, branch of service & years served put on a brick. Also, you can pay to have pictures shown on a moving screen. The Veterans Sports Park is located at Red Hill & Valencia streets by the Rescue Mission.

Sincerely,

Military Support Committee

LEGISLATION REPORT

Debra L. Beck
Legislation Chair

Proposition 50 overwhelmingly passed statewide after the Legislature placed it on the ballot in a November 4th Special Election.

In the aftermath of this outcome, Republican Assemblyman David Tangipa, the California Republican Party and the Dhillion Law Group, were among the plaintiffs who filed a federal lawsuit to challenge Prop 50. They argue that this was an unconstitutional redistricting of congressional districts and it violates the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments of the US Constitution.

The California Federation of Republican Women provided a timely and informative article on this lawsuit and it is presented below.

CFRW LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

Officially Chartered by the National Federation of Republican Women and Permanently Chartered by the California Republican Party

From the Desk of Lydia Kanno, CFRW President
Submitted by CFRW Legislative Analyst Michaela Swaney
November 6, 2025

Prop 50: What Happens Next?

As Proposition 50 passed Tuesday night amid low voter turnout, we were prepared for this outcome — and the fight is far from over. The next morning, the Dhillon Law Group filed a federal lawsuit challenging the new congressional maps on constitutional grounds, arguing that the maps were drawn using race based criteria favoring Latino voters, in violation of the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment and the 15th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

You can watch the full press conference with Mark Meuser, Mike Columbo, Corrin Rankin & Assemblymember Tangipa here: <https://youtu.be/y3bhxV9QHQg>

The lawsuit references the Supreme Court's limited exception allowing race conscious districting only when it is necessary to comply with the Voting Rights Act of 1965 specifically Section 2, which prohibits practices that dilute minority voting power.

Under the landmark 1986 case Thornburg v. Gingles, the Court created a three part test "the Gingles test" to determine when a VRA remedy is justified:

1. Compactness and Size — The minority group must be large and geographically compact enough to form a majority in a single member district.
2. Political Cohesion — The minority group must vote cohesively for similar candidates.
3. Bloc Voting by the Majority — The majority group must vote as a bloc in a way that usually defeats the minority's preferred candidates.

Because California has no single racial majority and Latinos already form the largest share of voters and successfully elect their preferred candidates statewide, Dhillon Law Group argues that California cannot satisfy this test.

Moreover, the suit contends that California's Legislature and redistricting commission did not rely on any formal analysis showing a Section 2 violation or racial vote dilution before approving the maps. Without such evidence, the state cannot invoke the limited constitutional exception allowing race based redistricting.

Therefore, the lawsuit argues that Proposition 50's maps constitute unconstitutional racial gerrymandering under the Equal Protection Clause, rather than a legitimate compliance measure under the Voting Rights Act.

How This Differs from Prior Lawsuits?

Earlier lawsuits filed after the Legislature passed the redistricting package were dismissed by the California Supreme Court without reaching the merits. This new suit is a federal case, to be heard by a 3-judge panel of the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California, with any appeal going directly to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Because the Dhillon team's claim involves racial gerrymandering under the 14th & 15th Amendment, the panel will likely treat the issue as constitutionally serious, which often weighs in favor of temporary relief especially before candidate filing deadlines like December 19th 2025.

Timeline:

- Case filed: Nov 5th 2025
- 3-Judge panel designation: ~1 week
 - Initial responses: 30 days
 - Hearing: Early 2026
- Decision: Spring/summer 2026

Can California Quickly Overturn A Stay?

Not directly here's how the process works:

- If the federal panel issues the stay, the State of California through the Attorney General can appeal directly to the U.S. Supreme Court under 28 U.S.C. Section 1253.
- However, it's not a normal appeal; the Supreme Court has discretionary control and often requires an emergency application sometimes called a "shadow docket" or emergency stay request.

So while California can ask the Supreme Court to vacate the injunction, the Court is not obligated to take it and if it does, the process usually takes days or weeks, not hours.

That means:

- The injunction would remain in effect unless and until the Supreme Court specifically steps in.
- California cannot quickly overturn the panel's decision on its own; it must go through SCOTUS.

Supreme Court Context: Louisiana v. Callais and Its Impact

The Supreme Court's pending decision in Louisiana v. Callais could significantly affect this California lawsuit.

1. What Section 2 Does
2. Section 2 of the VRA prohibits any voting practice or redistricting plan that "results in a denial or abridgement of the right to vote on account of race or color" or membership in a language minority group.
3. What Louisiana v. Callais Is About
4. The Court is considering whether the intentional creation of a majority Black congressional district drawn to comply with Section 2 violates the Equal Protection and 15th Amendment guarantees.

Why This Matters for California

A. If Section 2 Is Overturned:

- Vote dilution claims under Section 2 vanish.
- Only constitutional racial gerrymandering theories remain.
- Prior majority-minority districts could be revisited.

B. If Section 2 Is Weakened:

- Dhillon Law Group could face tougher proof burdens, but they did state today that they are prepared to change the direction of the case.
- Focus shifts to whether race predominated in line drawing.
- The Dhillon Law Group's constitutional theory still proceeds.

- If the Court in Louisiana v. Callais limits or strikes down Section 2, it will effectively decide how much if at all states can consider race when drawing districts. That ruling will set the boundaries for what California can argue in defending Proposition 50's maps and for what Dhillon Law Group must prove to show they were unconstitutional.

The 14th and 15th Amendments were designed to guarantee equal citizenship and political participation without racial classifications. Drawing electoral lines based on assumptions about how individuals of a certain race will vote undermines that principle and the constitutional command that every citizen's vote carry equal weight.

At its core, this legal battle is about how far the government can go in using race to shape political power.

For decades, the Voting Rights Act of 1965, especially Section 2 has allowed states to consider race when drawing voting districts, but only to fix proven racial discrimination in voting. The Supreme Court's Thornburg v. Gingles decision created a framework for when that's allowed, requiring real evidence that minority voters are being blocked from electing candidates of their choice.

The Dhillon Law Group's lawsuit argues that California skipped that analysis. It claims the state used race first and asked legal questions later creating districts designed around Latino ethnicity without first proving any underlying problem of racial exclusion. This violates the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment, which demands that the law treat all citizens equally and that the state avoid racial classifications unless absolutely necessary.

At the same time, the Supreme Court's upcoming ruling in Louisiana v. Callais could rewrite the national rulebook on this issue. If the Court decides that Section 2 itself goes too far by requiring race conscious districting, it would mean that the very tool created in 1965 to supposedly combat racial discrimination in voting would be viewed as unconstitutional racial favoritism, which is something I think the framers would agree with. That outcome would transform redistricting law across the country limiting when and how race can ever be used in drawing political maps.

Ultimately, I do not believe the framers of our Constitution and the authors of the amendments that followed ever intended for race to be the deciding factor in how Americans are represented. The promise of equal protection was meant to guarantee that every citizen's vote carries the same weight, not to divide voters into racial categories. True equality under the law means not judging by the color of their skin. The courts now have the opportunity and the responsibility to reaffirm that fundamental principle.
