

Halfway Home Animal Rescue

Foster Application

HHAR retains the right to refuse fostering privileges based on application and/or references.

Thank you for your interest in fostering! When you foster, you agree to take a homeless dog or cat into your home and give them love, care, and attention. You learn their personalities, their likes and dislikes, fears, and several other important traits that will help them to eventually be matched with the perfect family. We supply the food and vetting, all you have to supply is a safe, temporary home and lots of love.

Qualifications: To be a successful foster parent, you will need compassion for these animals, the cooperation of others in your household, flexibility, and knowledge of animal behavior. The length of time a foster may stay in your home will vary depending on several factors including age, veterinary needs, behavior needs, when they get picked for transport, when they are adopted, etc.
