PREFACE

The future is unknowable. The past gives us an idea of what you can expect in the future. Knowing the history of the 158th Field Artillery (158th FA) and how they successfully excelled throughout World War II (WWII), Korean War, Persian Gulf War, and the modern Global War on Terrorism certainly gives us a glimpse of its past fighting spirit. Loyalty and resilience was genetically inherited from the regimental changes that occurred up to WW II, thus developing the courage that flourished on the battlefields as a battalion artillery.

Many are unaware of the regimental history of the 158th FA, although it was short lived and lasted only twenty years, its history flourishes today in the young men and women of the battalion. In this volume I will exhibit evidence to this regimental history in anticipation of appreciation for those men who filled the first ranks and honorably led us into the 21st century.

My testimony is resourced from the Department of the Army Lineage and Honors Certificate (DOALHC), Annual Reports of the War Department's Chief of the Militia Bureau (ARWDCMB), Militia Bureau's Official National Guard Register (MBONGR), National Guard Bureau's Official National Guard Register (NGBONGR), National Archives and Records Administration (NARA), War Department Adjutant Generals Office (WDAGO) Forms, Numbers: WDAGO #1 (Company Morning Report), WDAGO #9 (Monthly Roster), WDAGO #305 (Miscellaneous Report Form), WADAGO #309 (Initial/Final Roster), WDAGO #366 (Payroll), and various newspaper archives. Much of my evidence was derived from the 1938 National Guard Historical Annual for the State of Oklahoma (Navy and Army Publishing Company of Baton Rouge, LA.) I have included a bibliography in this volume, however most of the material resourced for this volume was directly gathered from the website:

<https://158thfieldartillery.godaddysites.com/>

The method of my testimony is by following the official Department of Army 158th Artillery Lineage Certificate. This lineage covers the entire life span of the unit, but I will only provide evidence for the first seven entries of the certificate.

The 158th FA Regimental history is sometimes vague and based on incomplete and subjective evidence leading to subjective interpretations. Factors like limited knowledge and the passage of time have made it difficult to create a complete and objective history of the past. My attestation will be corroborated by quoting the figure number and page number in my repository of “Factual Exhibits”. If there is any undesirable outcome in my presentation it is unintended and a lapse of judgment and attention from my system approach in designing a set of rules to safeguard exactness.

What we mostly know about the 158th FA Regiment is that it was constituted 26 February 1920 in the Oklahoma National Guard as the 158th FA Regiment. It was organized from new and existing units and finally federally recognized at Anadarko, Oklahoma. On 16 September 1940 it was inducted into Federal service (at home stations), for preparation of the likelihood of entering the WWII. After their inductions into federal service at home stations, a brief stay of a few days, then all the units of the 158th FA Regiment assembled at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. The 158th FA Regiment began training after all units reached the required personnel and equipment levels. In early 1941, the 45th Infantry Division (45th ID) moved from Fort Sill, Oklahoma to Camp Barkeley, Texas to train in divisional combined arms tactics. On the 11th of February 1942 the division was reorganized into a triangular division resulting in the 158th FA Regiment being broken up, and reorganized and redesignated as the 158th FA Battalion.

WHAT IS A REGIMENT

Throughout the history of warfare there has always been a need for a more flexible and lethal military unit. The regiment satisfied this need because it offered increased maneuverability and firepower.

At the end of the 16th century, armies evolved from the massing of large groups into more formal, organized, and specialized forces. The French term "régiment" or government rule; is considered to have been introduced as a military term describing an army unit. During this period, regiments were formed, they were usually named after their benefactor, they were single arms (cavalry, lancers, artillery, etc.), they would often serve several different countries and monarchies and then they would disband at the end of the campaign.

In the 17th century, standing armies were now combining infantry, cavalry and artillery regiments into a single front-line force that exploited their combined arms and calling them brigades.

By the beginning of the 18th century, regiments had evolved into permanent units with distinctive titles and uniforms, each under the command of a colonel. When at full strength, a regiment normally comprised of two or more battalions and on a campaign, the regiments were soon reduced by casualties where it became necessary to withdraw them from the campaign and garrison them in the same military district while recruits were being trained. It soon became a practice to alternate battalions between "garrison" and "front line" service where the regiment seldom came together as a single entity.

European armies soon adopted the use of conscription to fill in the ranks, and the front-line unit was soon assumed by independent battalions and similarly sized units. However, these non-regimental units tended to be short-lived.

The “regimental system” had allowed regiments to retain their traditional responsibilities of recruitment and induction of new recruits. Regiments normally recruited from specific geographical areas, and they usually incorporated the place name into the regimental name. Many regiments recruited from ethnic groups or foreigners much like the Gurkhas and the French Foreign Legion. Regiments had developed their own unique unitary history and traditions, administering to the soldier's entire military career.

When comparing the “regimental system” to the new and much adopted “continental system,” the division soon became the functional army unit, and the division commander became the administrator of all aspects of the division's subordinate units. Battalion commanders were just another officer in the chain-of-command as officers were transferred in and out of the division. Soldiers filled vacant slots with no real sense of camaraderie or “esprit de corps” regarding unit affiliation.

In 1981 a regimental framework was institutionalized to provide every soldier an opportunity for continuous affiliation with a regiment that would increase the probability of serving recurring assignments with that regiment. It was called the United States Army Regimental System (USARS) and it gave back to the soldier the choice of regimental affiliation, but more importantly it offered the sense of belonging and being wanted by their regiment and country.

A typical army regiment is commanded by a colonel and divided into two or more maneuver battalions. A regiment has the capability of becoming a separate battalion or company with its own organic headquarters element. It usually operates as a major element of a larger force (brigade or division) with its mission being assigned by the larger force commander. The larger force coordinates the movement and actions of the regiment and other subordinate units to assure its own mission accomplishment.

During World War II the typical infantry regiment had three infantry battalions, and each battalion had four rifle companies. The battalions were numbered as First, Second and Third Battalions of the numbered infantry regiment and the companies were lettered as “A”, “B”, “C”, and “D” Companies of the First battalion and “E”, “F”, “G”, and “H” Companies of the Second battalion and lastly “I”, “K”, “L”, and “M” Companies of the Third battalion. Letter “J” was not used, because it was often confused with the letter “I”.

A typical field artillery regiment had two artillery battalions, and each battalion had three “firing” batteries. Regiments had six Gun-Batteries, so in regiments having two batteries in a battalion, there would be three battalions and in regiments having three batteries in a battalion, there would be two battalions. The battalions are numbered as First, Second or Third Battalions of the numbered artillery regiment and the batteries are lettered as “A”, “B”, and “C” Batteries of the First battalion and “D”, “E”, and “F” Batteries of the Second battalion. The U.S. Army uses the phonetic alphabet so in accordance the lettered units are addressed phonetically. Example: Company “A” is phonetically referred to as “Alpha Company” and Battery “C” is phonetically referred to as “Charlie Battery.” Army hierarchy starts first with a soldier, squad, platoon, company, battalion, regiment, brigade, division, corps and finally the army. In lieu of using squad and company, the field artillery uses section and battery, respectively.

The sizes of the units are determined by the Table of Organization and Equipment (TO&E) and in regard to the field artillery the TO&E is based on the field piece used. The 158th Field Artillery Regiment was initially organized under Table of Organization No. # 38W, 75-mm Gun, Horse Drawn Artillery. A 75-mm gun is a field piece of comparatively flat trajectory and high muzzle velocity. The regiment is organized with a Regimental Headquarters, a Headquarters Battery, 6 firing batteries, 2 Headquarters & Headquarters Battery and Combat Trains, a Service Battery, a Medical Detachment and a Band. The First Battalion consisted of “Alpha”, “Bravo”, and “Charlie” Batteries and First Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Train. The Second Battalion consisted of “Delta”, “Echo”, and “Foxtrot” batteries and Second Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Train. A battery consists of four pieces of like type and caliber with the personnel and equipment necessary for maintenance, maneuver and delivery of fire. The word battery is also used to designate certain artillery units other than those containing artillery weapons, but when so used the name of the unit contains also a descriptive word; for example, “Headquarters Battery.”

ORIGIN OF THE 158TH FIELD ARTILLERY REGIMENT

The modern militia or “National Guard”, as we know it today, is a product of the Constitution of the United States of America. The constitutional basis for the modern militia system is found in Article I, Section 8, clause 15 & 16 and the Second Amendment. Today’s modern National Guard is governed, in part, by federal statute and has steadily evolved into a modern system of almost complete federal regulation and control. The state of Oklahoma has a militia, and we know it as the Oklahoma Army National Guard (OKARNG). The state’s militia is a part of the executive department of the Oklahoma and may be used for police augmentation, civil disturbance control, natural disaster relief, or any other lawful purpose pertaining to security of the state and its citizens. The governor is the commander-in-chief of the militia and is generally responsible for its operations.

The United States also has a militia, and we know it as the US Army National Guard (USARNG), and the federal militia is composed of the militia of the fifty states when properly called into active federal service during times of war or national emergency. The militia is an institution older than our Constitution, created by English common law for its colonies.

Prior to the Revolutionary War, each colony had a militia whose main purpose was to protect the colonists from Indian raids, threats, and keep the peace. When the War of Independence started, these militia or minutemen defected to create the Continental Army but once independence was won, the Continental Army was disbanded. A few states maintained a militia to act as an independent military force.

The “First Continental Congress” recognized the need for the establishment of a standing army and created the “Continental Army” on 14 June 1775, and although the Declaration of Independence (Independence Day) wasn’t signed until 4 July 1776, the American Revolutionary War had already begun earlier at Lexington and Concord. After the Revolutionary War, the legislative Act of 1789 authorized the President to draft militia and fill the federal ranks. Units ranging from single companies to entire regiments were employed into federal service from the War of 1812 through the Spanish-American War in 1898. This system remained undisturbed until 1903. At the turn of the twentieth century the U. S. Army was small, unprepared and under equipped for modern warfare compared to other armies. This was soon realized shortly after the Spanish-American War by the then Secretary of War, Elihu Root who soon started a new defense reformation. He saw the need for the modernization of weapons, training, financing and Congress never came close to appropriating enough money for the ceiling strength resulting in Regular Army strength reduction.

The National Defense Act of 1916 was a federal law that updated the organization of the military, particularly the National Guard. The purpose of promulgating this act was the “Poncho Villa Expedition” and World War I (WWI). The National Guard provided a large part of the force that won the WWI by November 1918. In its’ initial organization of the National Guard, it authorized one Chief of Field Artillery with the rank of major general, one thousand nine hundred (1,900) officers in grades from colonel to second lieutenant, inclusive, and thirty-seven thousand (37,000) enlisted men, organized into Field Artillery units as the President may direct.

The National Defense Act of 1920 (Kahn Act) reorganized the United States Army and decentralized the procurement and acquisitions process for equipment, weapons, supplies and vehicles. It also amended and increased the maximum allowed peacetime strengths where the National Guard prospered through this expansion mainly due to the priorities set for manning and equipping 18 new divisions.

FIRST ENTRY OF LINEAGE CERTIFICATE

It is in this period (1916-1920) that we can see tangible proof of the pre-conception thought process from the Plans and Policy office of the War Department. The Oklahoma Adjutant General receives a letter dated 26 February 1920 from the Chief of the Militia Bureau (Major General Jesse McIlvave Carter): This letter authorized the formation of "1 Regiment Field Artillery (75mm)," (See Fig. No. 47 Page 145), eventually War Department General Order #5 dated 1921, numerically designates as the 158th Field Artillery Regiment.

WAR DEPARTMENT
MILITIA BUREAU
Washington

MB. 325.4--Okla.
HAF/1LT

February 26, 1920

From: The Chief, Militia Bureau.

To: The Adjutant General of Oklahoma.

Subject: Additional allotment of National Guard units.

1. Certain changes in the allotment of National Guard troops has made it necessary for the Militia Bureau to add to the ultimate allotment of National Guard to the State of Oklahoma the following units:

1 Regiment Field Artillery (155 mm.)

1 Battalion Engineers

1 Headquarters Company Engineers

1 Engineer Train (Headquarters and Supply sections only)

1 Headquarters Troop, Infantry Division.

With the addition of the units listed above the ultimate allotment to Oklahoma will become:

1 Division Headquarters Troop

1 Brigade Headquarters Infantry

2 Regiments Infantry

1 Separate Battalion Infantry (to be converted into machine-gun units when Regular Army organization is finally adopted)

1 Regiment Cavalry (This may later be assigned elsewhere)

1 Regiment Field Artillery (75 mm.)

1 Regiment Field Artillery (155 mm.)

1 Regiment Engineers and Train

1 Battalion Signal Corps.

In addition to the above there may be allotted to Oklahoma certain units for use as Corps or Army troops the composition of which has not yet been fixed. As indicated the Cavalry regiment may later be assigned to another state if the Oklahoma authorities find their allotment too heavy.

2. The allotment for the present fiscal year which has been accepted by the Oklahoma authorities is composed as follows:

2 Regiments Infantry

1 Battalion Field Artillery (75 mm.)

- 1 Company Engineers
- 1 Company Signal Corps (Radio)
- 1 Field Hospital Company.

The Field Hospital Company is the nucleus of a sanitary train which is contemplated for Corps use. The organization of this unit need not be assumed by the Oklahoma authorities if such action will handicap the prompt organization of the remaining units, all of which enter into the composition of an Infantry Division.

3. In addition to the units accepted for the present fiscal year the Militia Bureau hopes that the Oklahoma authorities, who have heretofore displayed such commendable energy in handling National Guard affairs, will undertake the task of organizing the following additional units:

- 1 Battalion Field Artillery (155 mm.) (to be expanded into a regiment)
- 2 Companies Engineers (raising the present assignment to 1 battalion).

The Militia Bureau is particularly impressed with the necessity for organizing the additional Field Artillery regiments, and it is believed that Oklahoma, having the advantage of being accessible to the Artillery School at Fort Sill, is best prepared to undertake the formation of this unit. The Militia Bureau is also counting upon the energy which the Oklahoma authorities have already demonstrated.

4. The Militia Bureau will take prompt action on issuing the necessary authorization upon notification from the office of the Adjutant General of Oklahoma.

Thus explains the first entry of the official Department of Army 158th Artillery Lineage Certificate (See Fig. No. 44 Page 142) as:

“Constituted 26 February 1920 in the Oklahoma National Guard as the 158th Field Artillery”

SECOND ENTRY OF LINEAGE CERTIFICATE

To explain the second entry of the army lineage certificate, I will use excerpts from the “Annual Reports of the War Department’s Chief of the Militia Bureau” (ARWDCMB) which is a mandatory annual report that fulfills the mandated congressional requirements to assess and report on the personnel, training, and equipment of the National Guard.

I will also use excerpts from the Militia Bureau’s Official National Guard Register. This register is a collective record of state organizations assigned to the National Guard and lists eligible officers and warrant officers serving in these organizations. Please pay close attention to the publication dates of these two resources, as they determine the time frame each source covers.

1920 Annual Report War Department Chief Militia Bureau

In examining the 1920 ARWDCMB (See Fig. No. 49 Page 147); dated for the fiscal year 1 July 1919 to 30 June 1920; and on page 16 of this document (See Fig. No. 50 Page 148); there are mentions of the current state of field artillery units in the National Guard; and the statement is made: “During the year ending June 30, 1920, the Field Artillery of the National Guard showed an increase of 19 batteries, 1 headquarters company, and 2 supply companies. The only battery of Field Artillery in existence on June 30, 1919, was Battery “A”, Field Artillery, Colorado National Guard, stationed at Colorado Springs, Colo. Federal recognition was withdrawn from this battery on January 14, 1920, due to lack of sufficient men.”

Then on page 17 of same report (See Fig. No. 51 Page 149); there is table of existing field artillery organizations. Battery “A”, a 75mm battery in Flagstaff, Ariz., federally recognized on 26 May 1920 and Battery “A” located in Colorado Springs, Colo., disbanded 14 January 1920 with the explanation on page 50 (See Fig. No. 52 Page 150).

Further on in this same report on page 52 (See Fig. No. 53 Page 151), listed under the “New Organization Recognized During Fiscal Year 1920”, is listed “Arizona, 1 battery Field Artillery”, explaining the Battery “A” on page 17. Under the State of Colorado there is a foot note labeled No. 3, which explains that Colorado came into the VIII Corps Area on 1 September 1920, and Colorado had gained a Field Artillery Battery that was in existence since 30 June 1921.

Lastly in this report the Chief of Militia Bureau concludes that: “The National Guard of Oklahoma is doing fairly well; this, in my opinion, is due, in a great measure, to the personal enthusiasm, initiative, realization of his responsibilities, and knowledge of his various duties on the part of the present adjutant general, Gen. Barrett. The State authorities of Arizona and New Mexico have at last awakened to a partial realization of their duties in connection with the organization of a National Guard” (See Fig. No. 54 Page 152).

1921 Annual Report War Department Chief Militia Bureau

Looking at the 1921 ARWDCMB (See Fig. No. 55 Page 153); dated for the fiscal year 1 July 1920 to 30 June 1921; the earliest footprints of the 158th Field Artillery Regiment are seen on page 57 of the report (See Fig. No. 56 Page 154). Examining the Headquarters, Eight Corps Area on page 57 it is revealed that Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Oklahoma already have existing field artillery units and on page 58 (See Fig. No. 57 Page 155) these same states have prospective organizations with the 75mm armament which appear to be artillery regimental support organizations. Further down on this page, a noteworthy fact is found in the “Examination of National Guard Officers” section and extracted from that sentence is.....”Colorado: Flood relief work and preservation of law and order, Pueblo. Troops which participated: Battery A, Field Artillery” (indicating Battery “A”, 158th Field Artillery, although the first official mention of the “158th FA” is not until the 1922 ARWDCMB and 1922 WDONGR are published).

The next exhibits are from the 1922 ARWDCMB (See Fig. No. 58 Page 156) covering the period of operations from 1 July 1921 to 30 June 1922. On page 27 (See Fig. No. 59 Page 157) a paragraph is devoted to addressing the withdrawal of Federal recognition due to “inefficiency”, clearly addressing Battery “A”, and the “1921 Great Flood of Pueblo”, where hundreds died as violent fast-moving waters carried away homes and businesses. The exact death toll will never be known since many bodies were never recovered. Under martial law, the National Guard managed and supervised the clearing of most of the flood debris on the roads designated for high volume traffic starting with their own horses.

The unit was placed on probation since most of their time was used in these recovery efforts and not on ongoing prescribed military training opportunities. This probation period gave Battery "A" ample time to recover and regroup and as it was intended that a national guard unit should not be seriously punished and lose their Federal recognition especially after an "Act of God".

On page 28 of this report (See Fig. No. 60 Page 158), it also makes note of the 158TH FA regiment under the auspices of the 45TH ID with an aggregate strength of 352 national guardsmen spread out in a tri-state area.

1922 Militia Bureau's Official National Guard Register

My next submissions of exhibits are pages 39, 40, 54, 64 and 161 of the 1922 MBONGR (See Fig. No. 61 Page 159), published 1 January 1922, this being a collective record of organizations assigned to the National Guard as of 1 January to 31 December 1921.

On page 39 (See Fig. No. 62 Page 160), the second page of the 45th Division Stations of Organizations, it clearly states: (When a station is not shown for an organization, this unit has not been Federally recognized). It is also evident that although constituted on 26 February 1920, the 158th FA, has no new Federally recognized organizations in calendar year 1920 and 1921. Existing units of Batteries "A", "C", "D" and "E", Pueblo, Colo., Roswell, N. Mex., Flagstaff and Mesa, Ariz. respectfully, were the first units organized into the 158th FA.

On page 40 (See Fig. No. 63 Page 161), the register also shows that currently the 158th FA Regiment is a subordinate unit in the 45th Division's 70th Artillery Brigade. The 45th Division was organized as a "square division", a designation given to the way divisions were once organized, in this case the 45th ID's main fighting force was composed of four regimental elements: the 157th, 158th, 179th and 180th Infantry Regiments. Because two regiments were bound together to form a brigade, the 157th and 158th Infantry Regiments formed the 89th Infantry Brigade and the 179th and 180th Infantry Regiments formed the 90th Infantry Brigade. On an organizational chart and if the entire division were formed up on a parade field, the two brigades of two regiments would typically form a square, hence the name of “square division”.

These square divisions also had an artillery brigade of three artillery regiments. The 45th ID had the 70th Field Artillery Brigade which consisted of the 158th, 160th, and the 189th FA Regiments.

On page 54 of this report (See Fig. No. 64 Page 162), it acknowledges that Batteries “D”, “E” , and Medical Department Detachment are home stationed at Flagstaff, Mesa, and Williams, Arizona are commanded by Captains Clarence T. Pulliam, Donald H. Biery and First Lieutenant Clymer D. Jeffries, respectively. Lieutenants Francis A. Chisholm and Lacy A. Eastburn are assigned to Battery “D” and Lieutenants Joseph F. Pomeroy, Franklin I. Pomeroy and Nathaniel L. Houston assigned to Battery “E”, with Batteries “D”, “E” Federally recognized 26 May 1920 and 24 March 1921, respectively.

On page 64 of this report (See Fig. No. 65 Page 163), it acknowledges that Battery “A”, is home stationed at Pueblo, Colorado and is commanded by Captain Richard A. Talbott with Lieutenants Marlon K. Weaver and James H. Naden assigned, and Battery "A" Federally recognized 15 June 1921.

On page 161 of this report (See Fig. No. 66 Page 164), it acknowledges that Batteries "C", is home stationed at Roswell, New Mexico and is commanded by Captain William H. McCullough with Lieutenants George A. Arnold, John W. Skipwith and Harry Schram assigned, and Battery "C" Federally recognized 27 June 1921.

1923 Annual Report War Department Chief Militia Bureau

The next discovery in the regimental history was found in the 1923 ARWDCMB (See Fig. No. 67 Page 165) with dates of operations from 1 July 1922 to 30 June 1923.

On page 18 (See Fig. No. 68 Page 166) under the "Forty-fifth Division" the 158TH FA now has an aggregate strength of 549, an increase of 197 guardsmen and it is no longer listed in a tri-state area but now includes the State of Oklahoma.

In Appendix "J" of this annual report (Use of National Guard on Emergency Duty) on page 64 (See Fig. No. 69 Page 167), it was recorded that the state of Colorado called upon its national guard organizations for emergency duties, Detachment Battery "B" 158TH FA was ordered to active duty from 1 to 28 July 1922, as a peace keeping force when the National Coal Strike conducted by the United Miner Workers spread through-out the United States. These national miners' "labor strikes" effected mines areas located close to Pueblo, Colorado and Gallup, New Mexico. The state of New Mexico was also called upon to provide follow on peace keeping support to the same active duty mission by Detachment Battery "A" 158TH FA and other units of the New Mexico National Guard from 1 July to 5 September 1922.

1923 Militia Bureau's Official National Guard Register

The next set of document exhibits are excerpts from the 1923 MBONGR (See Fig. No. 70 Page 168), and these will bolster the validation of the regimental history. This register was published on 1 January 1923 and covers the previous calendar year.

In 1922 there are significant changes regarding federally recognized units within the regiment. On page 46 (See Fig. No. 72 Page 170) under the 70th Field Artillery Brigade of the 45th Division it captures the 158TH FA regiment with the prior existing units of Batteries "A", "C", "D" and "E", however this time it shows that the Battery "A" has been redesignated, and home stationed in Roswell, N. Mex. And a new unit has been established in Denver, Colo. The previous unit of Battery "A" of Pueblo, Colo. has been redesignated as Battery "C" and is presently home stationed in Pueblo, Colo. No changes for Batteries "D" and "E" home stationed in Flagstaff and Mesa, Ariz. respectfully. This page also captures the entire regimental organizational structure of: Regimental Headquarters, Medical Department Detachment, Headquarters Battery, Service Battery, First Battalion Headquarters, First Battalion Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains, Battery "A", Battery "B", Battery "C", Second Battalion Headquarters, Second Battalion Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains, Battery "D", Battery "E", and Battery "F". The Band is not listed separately because at that time it was home stationed, an element of the Service Battery.

On page 65 of this report (See Fig. No. 73 Page 171), it acknowledges that Batteries "D" and "E" are home stationed at Flagstaff, and Mesa, Arizona and are commanded by Captains Harry B. Embach and Donald H. Biery, respectfully. Lieutenants Percy H. Harley, Austin J. Mackey and Gustave Boenitsch are assigned to Battery "D" and Lieutenants Joseph F. Pomeroy, Nathaniel L. Houston and Era R. Fryer are assigned to Battery "E".

On page 77 of this report (See Fig. No. 74 Page 172), it acknowledges that Batteries "B" and "C" are home stationed at Denver and Pueblo, Colorado and commanded by First Lieutenant Harry J. Fisk and Captain Jacob D. G. Davis, respectfully. Lieutenants Frederick W. Ruble and Merle C. Goff are assigned to Battery “B” with Lieutenant Charles A. Tracy assigned to Battery “C”. Also noted are the Federal recognition dates of 17 February 1922 for Battery “B” and 15 June 1921 for Battery “C”.

On page 196 of this report (See Fig. No. 75 Page 173), it acknowledges that Battery “A” is home stationed at Roswell, New Mexico with Captain John W. Skipwith as commander and Lieutenants Harry F. Schram, William T. Albert and Dossie L. Loyd assigned.

 1924 Annual Report War Department Chief Militia Bureau

The next submission of exhibits is from the 1924 ARWDCMB (See Fig. No. 76 Page 174), with dates of operations from 1 July 1923 to 30 June 1924.

A notable statement is found on page 49 (See Fig. No. 77 Page 175), under the “Use of National Guard in emergencies, 1924-continued” table, which mentions that from 13 August 1923 thru 8 October 1923 a total of 47 officer and 605 enlisted men were deployed at various times and places in conformance to Governor orders proclaiming martial law.

 1924 Militia Bureau's Official National Guard Register

Published in the 1924 MBONGR (See Fig. No. 78 Page 176), this is the first time that almost every unit has a home station in the 158TH FA, with the exception of Second Battalion Medical Department Detachment. It also needs to be pointed out that this edition was published on 1 May 1924, so this will cover the organizational changes from 2 January 1923 to the date of publication.

it is not Federally recognized. Headquarters Battery and Service Battery in Sulphur and Hugo, Okla., respectfully. First Battalion Headquarters and First Battalion Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains in Denver, Colo. Batteries “A”, “B”, “C”, “D”, “E”, and “F” home stationed at Roswell, N. Mex., Denver and Pueblo, Colo., Flagstaff and Mesa, Ariz., and Kingfisher, Okla., respectfully. Second Battalion Headquarters and Second Battalion Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains stationed at Kingfisher, Okla.

On page 71 (See Fig. No. 80 Page 178), Batteries “D” and “E” are commanded by Captains Harry B. Embach and Joseph F. Pomeroy of Flagstaff and Mesa, Ariz., respectfully. Lieutenants Hilliard H. Lewis and Gustave A. Boenitsch are assigned to Battery “D” and Lieutenants Nathaniel L. Houston and Franklin I. Pomeroy assigned to Battery “E”.

On page 104 (See Fig. No. 81 Page 179), Medical Detachment First Battalion and Headquarters First Battalion of Pueblo and Denver Colorado are commanded by Captains Robert B. Dibble and Richard H. Jancke, respectively. Lieutenant John D. Paxton is assigned to the Medical Detachment and Lieutenants William Kenney, Winfield B. Sale Jr. and William T. King assigned the First Battalion Headquarters.

On page 105 (See Fig. No. 82 Page 180), Captains Richard T. Wilson and William Q. Howell command the First Battalion Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains and Battery "B", Denver, Colo., respectively. Lieutenants Thurston T. Houghton and Lynn C. Goff are assigned to the Headquarters Detachment and Lieutenants Frank H. Storms, Paul W. DeFoe and Daniel C. Frobes are assigned to Battery "B". First Lieutenant Leon M. Knebel commands Battery "C" in Pueblo, Colo. with Lieutenants Aubrey J. Keif, Hugh E. Graham and Vincent J. Kerwin assigned.

On page 474 (See Fig. No. 83 Page 181), the register lists Captain Harry F. Schram with Lieutenants William T. Albert and William B. Crow assigned, all to Battery "A" at Roswell, New Mexico.

On page 642 (See Fig. No. 85 Page 183), the register continues to list Lieutenant Colonel Grover C. Wamsley, Major Philip E. Sisney and Captains Austin L. Jeffrey, Roy A. Reynolds and Sidney H. Babcock assigned to the Headquarters 158th FA in Tulsa, Okla.

Captain Charles N. Hardin is identified as Headquarters Battery commander in Sulphur, Okla. Captain Xerma R. Campbell commanding Service Battery in Hugo, Okla. with Lieutenants Aurelius D. Hanry, Otto A. Brewer, William H. Darrough and Warrant Officer Charles E. Bailey assigned. Major John J. McCartney commanding and Captain Marion D. Woodworth, Lieutenants Albert S. Clinkscales and Louis A. Reilly assigned to the Second Battalion Headquarters in Kingfisher, Okla.

Second Battalion Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains in Kingfisher, Okla. is commanded by Captain Clarence R. Steele and Lieutenant Samuel L. Slack assigned. Continuation of assigned officers to Second Battalion Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains is Lieutenant Jerry L. Yergler as seen on page 643 (See Fig. No. 86 Page 184). This same page list Captain George I. Lacey as the commander of Battery "F" in Kingfisher, Okla. with Lieutenants Lee M. Grimes, Edward C. Newer and Mark H. Wagner assigned.

1925 Militia Bureau's Official National Guard Register

Furthermore, in examining the 1925 MBONGR (See Fig. No. 87 Page 185), directory of National Guard officers for the periods of 2 May 1924 to 30 June 1925, more clarity is offered in the shifting and reorganizing of home stations.

On page 47 (See Fig. No. 89 Page 187), left column and near top of page, under the 70th Field Artillery Brigade grouping, in the 158TH FA remarks, it clearly identifies the Regimental Headquarters as home stationed in Tulsa, Okla. The Medical Department Detachment shows home stationed in Pueblo, Colo. Headquarters Battery and Service Battery in Sulphur and Hugo, Okla., respectfully. First Battalion Headquarters and First Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Trains in Denver, Colo. Batteries "A", "B", "C" are home stationed at Roswell, N. Mex., Denver and Pueblo, Colo., respectively. Second Battalion Headquarters and Second Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Trains are home stationed at Kingfisher, Okla. Batteries "D", "E" and "F" are home stationed in Weatherford, Okla., Mesa, Ariz. And Kingfisher, Okla., respectively.

These listing are almost identical to the home station listing as published in 1924, with the exception of Battery "D", which was in Flagstaff, Arizona but is now home stationed in Weatherford, Okla.

On page 77 (See Fig. No. 90 Page 188), Battery "E", home stationed in Mesa, Arizona (Federally recognized Battery "B" 24 March 1921 redesignated Battery "E" 19 October 1921) is now commanded by Captain Franklin I. Pomeroy with Lieutenants Samuel B. Nelson and Ellis F. Johnson assigned.

On page 124 (See Fig. No. 91 Page 189), First Battalion Medical Department Detachment in Pueblo, Colo. (Federally recognized 29 January 1924 and redesignated Medical Department Detachment on 18 September 1924) is commanded by Major Robert B. Dibble with Captain John D. Paxton and Lieutenant George S. Walling assigned.

As noted, Major Richard H. Jancke is commander First Battalion Headquarters, in Denver Colo. (Federally recognized 9 April 1923), with Captain Richard T. Wilson and Lieutenants William T. King and Julius I. Weinberger assigned.

First Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Trains home stationed in Denver, Colo. (Federally recognized 4 May 1923), and is commanded by Captain Thurston T. Houghton with Charles M. Armstrong and William C. Camp assigned.

Battery "B", Denver Colo. (Organized and mustered 4 July 1916 for Mexican Border, mustered out 9 March 1917 and drafted 5 August 1917 for World War, reorganized and demobilized and re-recognized 17 February 1922), is commanded by Captain William Q. Howell with Lieutenants Paul W. DeFoe, Dan W. Field and Floyd R. Pool assigned.

On page 125 (See Fig. No. 92 Page 190), Battery "C" of Pueblo, Colo. (Federally recognized Battery "A" 15 June 1921 redesignated Battery "A" 1 November 1921 redesignated Battery "C" 1 May 1922), is commanded by Captain Aubrey J. Keif with Lieutenants Vincent J. Kerwin, Carl L. Fischer and Latham C. Squire assigned.

Headquarters Battery (Federally recognized 8 May 1923), home stationed in Sulphur, Okla. is commanded by Captain Charles N. Hardin with Lieutenant John C. Powell assigned.

Service Battery (Federally recognized 9 May 1923), home stationed in Hugo, Okla. is commanded by Captain Xerma R. Campbell with Lieutenants Aurelius D. Hanry, Otta A. Brewer, William H. Darrough and Warrant Officer Charles E. Baily assigned.

On page 731 (See Fig. No. 95 Page 193), Second Battalion Headquarters (Federally recognized 15 May 1923) and home stationed in Kingfisher, Okla. is commanded by Major John J. McCartney with Captain Louis A. Reilly assigned.

Also home stationed in Kingfisher, Okla. is the Second Battalion Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains (Federally recognized First Battalion Headquarters Detachment and Combat Train 160 FA 16 November 1921 redesignated Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains Second Battalion 158th FA 4 August 1923 [Note: Former Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains Second Battalion Supply and Ammunition recognized 10 May 1923 designated Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains First Battalion 158 FA 4 August 1923]) and is commanded by Captain Clarence R. Steele.

Battery "D" (Federally recognized 2 June 1924) located in Weatherford, Okla. and is commanded by Captain Cortis A. Clark with Lieutenants William H. Doughty, Carl M. Voyles and Eugene R. Stewart assigned.

Battery "F" (Federally recognized 23 April 1924) located in Kingfisher, Okla. is commanded by Captain Marion D. Woodworth with Lieutenant Bill McCartney assigned.

1926 Militia Bureau's Official National Guard Register

In addition, examining the 1926 MBONGR (See Fig. No. 96 Page 194), directory of National Guard officers for the periods of 1 July 1925 to 30 June 1926, more clarity is offered in the shifting and reorganizing of home stations.

Now on page 40 (See Fig. No. 98 Page 196), left column and near bottom of page, under the 70th Field Artillery Brigade grouping, in the 158TH FA remarks, it clearly identifies the Regimental Headquarters as home stationed in Anadarko, Okla. The Medical Department Detachment shows home stationed in Pueblo, Colo. Headquarters Battery and Service Battery in Sulphur and Hugo, Okla., respectfully. First Battalion Headquarters and First Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Trains in Denver, Colo. Batteries "A", "B", "C" are home stationed at Roswell, N. Mex., Denver and Pueblo, Colo., respectively. Second Battalion Headquarters and Second Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Trains are home stationed at Kingfisher, Okla. Batteries "D", "E" and "F" are home stationed in Weatherford, Okla., Mesa, Ariz. And Kingfisher, Okla., respectively. The only unit changing home station being the Headquarters 158th FA.

On page 74 (See Fig. No. 99 Page 197), Battery "E", home stationed in Mesa, Arizona (Federally recognized Battery "B" 24 March 1921 redesignated Battery "E" 19 October 1921) is still commanded by Captain Franklin I. Pomeroy with Lieutenants Samuel B. Nelson and Elijah C. Allen assigned.

On page 126 (See Fig. No. 100 Page 198), the Medical Department Detachment in Pueblo, Colo. (Federally recognized 29 January 1924 and redesignated Medical Department Detachment on 18 September 1924) has no changes and is still commanded by Major Robert B. Dibble with Captain John D. Paxton and Lieutenant George S. Walling still assigned.

First Battalion Headquarters, in Denver Colo. (Federally recognized 9 April 1923), is now commanded by Major William Q. Howell. On page 127 (See Fig. No. 101 Page 199), Captain Richard T. Wilson and Lieutenants Paul W. DeFoe and Harry L. Dotson are assigned.

First Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Trains home stationed in Denver, Colo. (Federally recognized 4 May 1923), and is still commanded by Captain Thurston T. Houghton with Lieutenants Julius I. Weinberger and Zenas P. Combs assigned.

Battery "B", Denver Colo. (Organized and mustered 4 July 1916 for Mexican Border, mustered out 9 March 1917 and drafted 5 August 1917 for World War, reorganized and demobilized and re-recognized 17 February 1922), is commanded by Captain Charles M. Armstrong with Lieutenants Floyd R. Pool, Howard W. Saisslin and Oriel D. Sibbald assigned.

Battery "C" of Pueblo, Colo. (Federally recognized Battery "A" 15 June 1921 redesignated Battery "A" 1 November 1921 redesignated Battery "C" 1 May 1922), is still commanded by Captain Aubrey J. Keif with Lieutenants Vincent J. Kerwin, Carl L. Fischer and Daniel G. Oakley assigned.

On page 577 (See Fig. No. 102 Page 200), Battery "A" of Roswell, New Mex. (Federally recognized Battery "A" 27 June 1921 redesignated Battery "C" 5 January 1922 redesignated Battery "A" 10 February 1922), is still commanded by Captain Russell C. Charlton with Lieutenants Herbert C. Gray, Frederick W. Blocksom and Edward Purdy assigned.

Now on page 769 (See Fig. No. 103 Page 201), Headquarters 158th FA (Federally recognized 15 May 1923) is home stationed in Anadarko, Okla. with Colonel Grover C. Wamsley commanding and with Lieutenant Colonel John D. Brown, Captains Edgar B. Ross and Jesse H. Long, Lieutenant Sidney P. Kretlow and Chaplain Sidney H. Babcock assigned.

Now to page 770 (See Fig. No. 104 Page 202), Headquarters Battery (Federally recognized 8 May 1923), home stationed in Sulphur, Okla. is commanded by Captain John C. Powell.

Service Battery (Federally recognized 9 May 1923), home stationed in Hugo, Okla. is still commanded by Captain Xerma R. Campbell with Lieutenants Aurelius D. Hanry, William H. Darrough and William A. Fly and Warrant Officer Charles E. Baily assigned.

Second Battalion Headquarters (Federally recognized 15 May 1923) and home stationed in Kingfisher, Okla. has no changes with Major John J. McCartney commanding and Captain Louis A. Reilly assigned.

Also home stationed in Kingfisher, Okla. is the Second Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Trains (Federally recognized First Battalion Headquarters Detachment and Combat Train 160 FA 16 November 1921 redesignated Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains Second Battalion 158th FA 4 August 1923 [Note: Former Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains Second Battalion Supply and Ammunition recognized 10 May 1923 designated Headquarters Detachment and Combat Trains First Battalion 158 FA 4 August 1923]) and is commanded by Captain Clarence R. Steele with Lieutenants William C. Cooley and Dwight U. Cochrane assigned.

Battery "D" (Federally recognized 2 June 1924) located in Weatherford, Okla. and is commanded by Captain Cortis A. Clark with Lieutenants William H. Doughty, Albert R. Harris and Francis M. Burks assigned.

Finally on page 771 (See Fig. No. 105 Page 203), Battery "F" (Federally recognized 23 April 1924) located in Kingfisher, Okla. is commanded by Captain Marion D. Woodworth with Lieutenants Gordon C. Rupe, Marion R. Smith and George W. Evans assigned.

Thus explains the second entry of the official Department of Army 158th Artillery Lineage Certificate (See Fig. No. 44 Page 142) as:

“Organized 1921-1923 from new and existing units (less Battery “A”, allotted to the New Mexico National Guard and Battery “E”, allotted to the Arizona National Guard); Headquarters Federally recognized 15 May 1923 at Anadarko”

THIRD ENTRY OF LINEAGE CERTIFICATE

To achieve a more comprehensive perspective of this induction into federal service, as stated in the third entry of the official Department of Army 158th Artillery Lineage Certificate, the yearly personnel growth and assignments that are documented in the 1927 thru 1931, 1936 and 1939 MBONGR's will be displayed. All 158th FA relevant pages of each respective MBONGR can be found in the “Factual Exhibits” of this volume, however some may not be needed in referencing the history but nevertheless they need to be archived in this volume.

1927 Militia Bureau's Official National Guard Register

In examining the 1927 MBONGR (See Fig. No. 106 Page 204), directory of National Guard officers for the periods of 1 July 1926 to 30 June 1927, there appears to be a shift into moving home stations to the state of Oklahoma.

Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Trains is in Kingfisher, Okla. Batteries “D”, “E” and “F” are still home stationed in Weatherford, Okla., Mesa, Ariz. And Kingfisher, Okla., respectively.

However, in examining the entire page at the bottom of the right column it is noted that “45th Division Quartermaster Train: Train Headquarters, is located in Anadarko, Okla. Medical Department Detachment is in Frederick, Okla. and Headquarters Detachment is in Anadarko, Okla.”, which could be an explanation for the Medical Department Detachment and First Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Trains being displayed as such it is on the page.

While reviewing this National Guard Bureau report of the 1936 NGBONGR (See Fig. No. 155 Page 253), for the periods of 1 July 1935 to 1 July 1936, there appears to be more changes in the home stationing plan as evident in the directory that is located on the right column, top of page 38 (See Fig. No. 157 Page 255). Service Battery has moved from Hugo to Duncan, Okla. First Battalion Headquarters has moved from Anadarko to Kingfisher, Okla. and Second Battalion Headquarters has moved from Oklahoma City to Kingfisher, Okla.

On page 672 (See Fig. No. 160 Page 258), Battery "A" of Roswell, New Mex. (Organized as Battery "A" New Mexico NG in April 1909. 1939 Militia Bureau's Official National Guard Register

The 1939 NGBONGR (See Fig. No. 165 Page 263), for the periods of 30 September 1938 to 1 November 1939, is one of the last editions to record home stationing plans and officer assignments, a new format for the NGBONGR was implemented to reflect its new dual-role status as a reserve component of the U.S. Army and to clarify the relationship between state militias and the federal government. On this report once again there appears to be more changes in the home stationing plan as evident in the directory that is located on the left column, middle of page 47 (See Fig. No. 167 Page 265). Service Battery has moved from Duncan to Kingfisher, Okla. Band has moved from Perry to Lawton, Okla. and Battery “F” has moved from Kingfisher to Duncan, Okla.

One of the most important factual entries in this register is on page 88 (See Fig. No. 169 Page 267), is under the “General Regimental Histories” is the 158 FA Regimental history and stated is the following: 158 FA [Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona} (See history of Battery “A” New Mexico NG); reorganized and Federally recognized as 158 FA (75mm HD) 15 May 1923; redesignated 158 FA (75mm Truck Drawn) 2 August 1933. ☛ Movements not mentioned: 1 November 1939-16 September 1940

Leon C. Phillips took the office of Governor of Oklahoma on 9 January 1939 and served as governor until 11 January 1943. Although most of his term was focused on mobilization for World War II and bringing Oklahoma out of the Great Depression, he did impact the 158 FA's last home station movement. During World War I Governor Phillips served in Field Artillery Central Officers' Training School (F.A.C.O.T.S.); in 1919 it was located at Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky; and it was here he developed a gradual enthusiasm and appreciation for the artillery branch. During his tenure he campaigned and legislated with Henry L. Stimson the Secretary of War for a Quartermaster unit in Antlers, Okla. along with an artillery unit in Woodward, Okla. and on 4 September 1940 he appointed Captains Joe A. Stamper and Wilson M. Riley as commanders of Company "S", 120th Quartermaster Regiment and Battery "A", 158th Field Artillery Regiment.

Battery "A" was formerly located in Roswell, New Mex. and literally over night the unit, property and personnel had to be moved to Woodward, Okla., mostly by Battery "D" which was located in Weatherford, Okla. and within approx. 400 miles to the Roswell location and approx. 85 miles to the Woodward location. Most of the personnel were in transition where they received the following news:

Presidential Executive Order 8530 (See Fig. No. 181 Page 279), :

By virtue of the authority conferred upon me by Public Resolution No. 96, 76th Congress, approved August 27, 1940, and the National Defense Act of June 3, 1916, as amended (39 Stat. 166), and as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, I hereby order into the active military service of the United States, effective September 16, 1940, the following units and members of the National Guard of the United States to serve in the active military service of the United States for a period of twelve consecutive months, unless sooner relieved: Units of all active elements of the

All members, both active and inactive, of the units listed above. All persons so ordered into the active military service of the United States are, from the effective date of this order, relieved from duty in the National Guard of their respective States so long as they shall remain in the active military service of the United States, and during such time shall be subject to such laws and regulations for the Government of the Army of the United States as may be applicable to members of the Army whose permanent retention in the active military service is not contemplated by law. Commissioned officers and warrant officers appointed in the National Guard of the United States and commissioned or holding warrants in the Army of the United States, and affected by this order, are hereby ordered to active duty under such appointments and commissions or warrants.

All officers and warrant officers of the National Guard appointed in the National Guard, federally recognized or examined and found qualified for Federal recognition, and assigned to units ordered to active duty under this order prior to the effective date hereof, who do not hold appointments in the National Guard of the United States and commissions or warrants in the Army of the United States, are hereby tendered such appointments in the same grade and arm of service which they respectively hold in the National Guard. Warrant officers and enlisted men of the National Guard who hold appointments as officers in the National Guard of the United States and commissions in the Army of the United States, and are assigned to units ordered to active duty under this order prior to the effective date hereof, are hereby ordered to active military service as commissioned officers of the Army of the United States under those appointments and commissions. Executive Order 8530,

Signed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, 32nd President of the United States 16 September 1940.

On 16 September 1940, or M-DAY (Mobilization Day) the 158th Field Artillery Regiment of the 45th Infantry Division is inducted into federal service with Colonel Grover C. Wamsley as Regimental Commander. Following a brief stay at their home stations, the regiment assembles at Fort Sill, Oklahoma approx. 23 September 1940, where they bring units up to authorized personnel and equipment strengths.

Thus explains the third entry of the official Department of Army 158th Artillery Lineage Certificate (See Fig. No. 44 Page 142) as:

“Inducted into Federal service 16 September 1940 at home stations.”

FOURTH ENTRY OF LINEAGE CERTIFICATE

By 28 February 1941, the 158th FA had been moved to Camp Barkeley, outside of Abilene, Tex. Here the troops were temporarily housed; in pyramidal tents that were placed on concrete pads; until construction of wooden barracks was completed. Training included physical fitness training, marksmanship training, forced marches, obstacle courses, Command Post Exercise (CPX's), field training and maneuvers. This training was in preparation for the largest peacetime exercise ever taken in the United States.

It was called the “Louisiana Maneuvers” which were a series of major field exercises conducted in 1941 in west-central Louisiana around the (formerly Fort Johnson) Fort Polk area and had a total of 460,000 men divided into two armies, the Red and Blue. The Blue army (ALMAT) was composed of units from Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee and the Red Army (KOTMK) Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and Kentucky.

The 45th Infantry Division left Camp Barkeley in August 1941 to join the “Blue Army” near Pitkin, La. and the war games begin in earnest. At the end of August 1941 most of the troops are back in their tents on Camp Barkeley, fully aware that their one year of Federal Service would be up in September; only to find out that Service Extension Act of 18 August 1941 (Public Law 213) was passed and approved by congress, extending their mobilization for another year (then 7 December 1941 occurred).

The men thought that they were fighting a fictitious European army and they were partially right. What they didn’t know was that these maneuvers were being overseen by General George C. Marshall (Chief of Staff of the U.S. Army) who had directed authority of supervision to Lieutenant General Lesley J. McNair (Chief of Staff of GHQ) to test new doctrines against older, established models. The central part of the maneuvers was testing and evaluating the new “triangular” vs “square” divisions. These maneuvers showed that this new division was more suitable for the fast-paced warfare of the 20th century, and these large-scale exercises were a crucial step in modernizing the U.S. Army for World War II.

New Triangular Structure possessed three maneuver elements with a means of “fire support”. Each echelon could establish a base of fire using both direct and indirect fire support, fix the enemy with one maneuver element, find his flank with a second, and maintain a third in reserve.

On February 8, 1942, War Department Memorandum AG 320.2 (2-8-42) MR-M-C reorganized the 45th Division by inactivating its brigades and establishing a new triangular structure with three infantry regiments. The 45th Divisions' initial structure was organized with two combat brigades, the 89th and 90th Infantry Brigades. The new triangular structure was built around three infantry regiments: the 157th, 179th, and 180th Infantry Regiments. The artillery units included three 105-millimeter artillery and one of 155-millimeter, the 158th, 160th, 171st, and 189th Field Artillery Battalions, respectfully. The new structure maintained its support units, such as the engineer, signal, medical, and ordnance companies.

Thus explains the fourth entry of the official Department of Army 158th Artillery Lineage Certificate (See Fig. No. 44 Page 142) as:

“Regiment broken up 11 February 1942 and its elements reorganized and redesignated as follows:

FIFTH ENTRY OF LINEAGE CERTIFICATE

To say that a Headquarters and Headquarters Battery (HHB) was disbanded means that this specific military unit, which provided command, control, and administrative support for an artillery regiment, has been officially discontinued and dissolved.

Breakdown of the terms: The Headquarters (HQ) is the full time “general office” for the Regimental Commander and his staff. The Headquarters Battery is the central hub for the regiment's non-combat support functions. The firing batteries, through the HQ, focus on their combat missions, the headquarters battery provides the crucial administrative, logistical, and planning capabilities needed to sustain the unit's overall operation

Disbanded: This military term means that the unit is dissolved and terminated, with no plans for future reactivation, but this is not permanent, it removes the designation (158th Field Artillery Regiment) from the official active rolls and places it on the inactive rolls of the US Army. When the HHB is disbanded, there are personnel reassignment, property and records consolidation: The unit's equipment, property, and official records are processed and distributed, and the most important is the loss of colors and lineage.

This discontinuance is essential in constituting, organizing and designating a new element or unit. These actions are needed to change a unit's official name to direct the transferring of personnel, property and records. It is no different than the phrase "first delete then add", describing the specific strategy of discontinuing and updating.

Thus explains the fifth entry of the official Department of Army 158th Artillery Lineage Certificate (See Fig. No. 44 Page 142) as:

“Headquarters and Headquarters Battery disbanded”

SIXTH ENTRY OF LINEAGE CERTIFICATE

This entry is the second portion of the fifth entry completing the "first delete then add" strategy required before a unit can be assigned. This ensures that the new unit is not under the auspices of a higher authority and is free to place it under that organization's command and control until it is officially relieved from that assignment. The gaining unit was also redesignated; 23 February 1942; after its reorganization from a square to triangular division and it was designated as the 45th Infantry Division to place the 158th Field Artillery Battalion under its command and control.

In 1959 the Combat Arms Regimental System (CARS) was created as a framework for regiments to continue to serve as repositories of lineage, honors, tradition, and heraldry as seen on page number 6 of National Guard Bureau (AR) 600-82 dated 11 October 1993 and as seen on official Department of Army 158th Artillery Lineage Certificate (See Fig. No. 45 Page 143) as “Redesignated 1 October 2005 as the 158th Field Artillery Regiment”.

Thus explains the sixth entry of the official Department of Army 158th Artillery Lineage Certificate (See Fig. No. 44 Page 142) as:

“1st Battalion as the 158th Field Artillery Battalion and assigned to the 45th
Infantry Division”

SEVENTH ENTRY OF LINEAGE CERTIFICATE

The seventh entry answers the question: If the regiment was broken up what happened to everybody?

The newly created 158th Field Artillery Battalion (158 FA Bn) is composed of all the First Battalion elements: the Headquarters Battery (with HQ element), Service Battery, Battery “A”, “B” and “C”, and the Medical Detachment.

All the personnel of the second battalion elements; the Second Battalion Headquarters and Combat Trains, the Band, Batteries “D”, “E”, “F” and the First Battalion Headquarters and Combat Trains the Regimental Headquarters were either moved to fill in vacancies, in the battalion. The remaining personnel were redesignated as the 207th Field Artillery Battalion (207 FA Bn) was equipped with 105-mm howitzers , and transferred to its new training camp.

The former Battery “E”; once home stationed at Mesa Arizona; along with the rest of the 207 FA Bn were moved to Camp La Chorrera Army Airfield in the Panama Canal Zone. Almost a year and half later, after rugged training in the jungles of Panama, the battalion was ordered back to the States. On 15 June 1943, it departed from Quarry Heights, Canal Zone, on the US Army Transport “George Washington”, and arrived in San Francisco on 25 June 1943. The battalion moved to Hunter Liggett Military Reservation, Calif. And reorganized as a tractor drawn 8" howitzer battalion.

On 20 July 1944, the battalion was moved to Camp Shanks, New York, and on 14 August 1944, the battalion boarded the transport "Aquatania" and crossed the Atlantic to England. After a short month in England the battalion arrived in France on 8 September 1944, D-Day plus 94. The 207 FA Bn fought in France, Belgium and Germany. It was credited with participating in the campaigns of Northern France, Central Europe and the Rhineland. The battalion remained in the European theater of Operations until 5 November 1945, when it departed from Marseille, France, on the transport "Westerly Victory". During its time in Europe, the battalion was assigned to III Corps and then to the 9th Army. The battalion arrived at Camp Kilmer, New Jersey on 14 November 1945 and was inactivated there two days later.

Thus explains the seventh entry of the official Department of Army 158th Artillery Lineage Certificate (See Fig. No. 44 Page 142) as:

“(2nd Battalion as the 207th Field Artillery Battalion hereafter separate lineage)”

EXCERPTS FROM 1938 NATIONAL GUARD ANNUAL

The year 1934 also witnessed the beginning of command post exercises on a large scale by field army commanders under a general War Department program by which the field armies in turn should hold command post exercises in successive years, each followed by a field army maneuver. Under this program National Guard division commanders and staff had tours of duty at command post exercises, and beginning in 1935 through 1939 National Guard troops were engaged in army maneuvers with regular troops under identical corps and army control. These operations were rotated among the various army areas annually. In 1938 the Third Army which included the 30th, 31st, 36th, and 45th Divisions participated in these field maneuvers.

The Army and Navy Publishing Company of Baton Rouge, Louisiana took advantage of these exercises and created a series of historical annuals devoted to the divisions training. These so called “yearbooks” serve as a tangible record of a time and place, perspective and regimental culture that many will never experience.

While reading the excerpts from this annual, please keep in mind that in 1938, the main generation was termed the “Greatest Generation” (born 1901–1927) they grew up during the economic uncertainty of the Great Depression and the social turmoil of and the global conflicts of World War I & II. They were a resourceful, hard-working, and patriotic group of young adults. So, bear in mind as you read these excerpts, that their language and ideas reflect the period where many were characterized as cautious, conventional, and more inclined to work within the system rather than challenge it, as such was the perspective of the time.

The Oklahoma National Guard has held its annual encampments since 1919 on the Fort Sill Military Reservation; with the exception of the Third Army Maneuvers in August 1938, which were held at Camp Bullis, Texas. The Fort Sill Military Reservation is in southwestern Oklahoma, about 100 miles southwest of Oklahoma City, in Comanche County. It is the home of the Field Artillery School, and has a permanent garrison of approximately 5,000 officers and men. National Guard camps were held in various locations west of Fort Sill proper from 1919 until 1926, Using temporary buildings and with limited training facilities. In 1926 the camp was moved to its present location, one-half miles south of the New Post, and permanent buildings were erected. Building has continued at intervals until the present, with constant improvement in roads and buildings. Several of the wooden mess halls have been replaced by new fireproof structures, and a project is pending to rebuild the remaining wooden buildings in the camp area, and to build additional bath houses, mess halls, and headquarters buildings. All units of the Oklahoma National Guard, totaling more than 5,000 officers and men, train at the same time in August of each year. In addition to National Guard training, the camp area is used in June and July for Reserve Officers' Training Corps (R.O.T.C.), Citizens' Military Training Camp (C.M.T.C.), and Organized Reserve camps.

The following excerpts are from the 1938 Oklahoma and Arizona National Guard Annuals of the Army and Navy Publishing Company of Baton Rouge, Louisiana:

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE NATIONAL GUARD OF OKLAHOMA

State Militia Before the War with Spain: Oklahoma Territory was opened to settlement April 22, 1889. The original territory opened consisted of only six counties with an area of less than 5,000 square miles, but subsequent "openings" of public lands purchased from the Indians gradually increased that area until at the coming of Statehood, with the Indian Territory in 1907, the superficial area of Oklahoma Territory was approximately thirty-nine thousand (39,000) square miles and the Indian Territory thirty-one thousand (31,000) square miles.

The Organic Act, passed by Congress in 1890, furnished the framework under which the first territorial government was organized and began to function. It provided for a legislature which in turn was authorized to evolve certain needed adjuncts to the machinery of a practically self-governing community. This legislature, patterning after former territorial precedent, provided among other things that the new territory should have one regiment of organized militia, as the National Guard was known in that day, but it was not until the Session of 1895 that a law was passed providing for the organization and development along fundamental lines of the Volunteer Militia, which was to be styled the "Oklahoma National Guard." General J. C. Jamison, the Adjutant General during this period, was largely responsible for this legislation. General Jamison was a former Adjutant General of Missouri, a Civil War Veteran, and had in his youth been "with Walker in Nicaragua" when the famous filibusterer started his series of revolutions in Central America in the years before the Civil War.

The National Guard in Oklahoma was not called into Federal Service as an organization at the outbreak of the Spanish-American War, but the call for one troop of Rough Riders and four Companies of the First Territorial Regiment, Volunteer Infantry, made up of quotas from Oklahoma, Arizona, New Mexico and the Indian Territory, took most of the officers and rank and file of the active Guard organizations.

With the return of the men who had volunteered in the Spanish-American War, the National Guard in Oklahoma was practically re-organized, the officers and men who had gained experience in actual war service re-entered the Guard in sufficient numbers to largely increase its efficiency and morale, and under trained officers and an awakened public spirit, increased appropriations were made by the territorial legislature, and better equipment of all kinds were obtained from the Federal Government.

During the years, the number of organizations in the Oklahoma National Guard was increased by the addition of auxiliary units, but there was no increase in the number of regiments, and, except for occasional calls for the National Guard for State Service, there was little change in its status until Statehood came in 1907. This epoch in the history of Oklahoma brought about a relocation of a number of units of the First Regiment, from the West to the East side of the State, but did not result in any increase in the number or size of the units.

New Adjutant Generals came and went, but the Guard; as a whole; made little material progress, and in common with like organizations in other States, suffered from the usual inertia of peace, and the public's indifference to and dislike of anything that savored of military preparation.

In 1916, the country was electrified by the call of the President for the immediate mobilization of the National Guard of the country for service on the Border of the United States and Mexico. This call galvanized the Oklahoma Guard immediately into a live and active organization. To many of its officers who had long battled to keep alive the sacred fires of patriotism and volunteer service to their country, this sounded like the voice of great opportunity, and units were re-organized and new enlistments and assignments made while the mobilization at Fort Sill went forward, and the transfer to Federal service was taking place. The Oklahoma Guard rendered creditable and efficient service on the Border and was returned and mustered back into the State service on March 2, 1917.

This tour of Federal service had done much for the officers and men of the Oklahoma Guard. It had been sufficiently monotonous and wearisome to serve as an acid test of men's patience and endurance in a service where "peace without victory" was the "Sine Qua Non", and in which all semblance of martial glory was smothered by desert sandstorms or drowned in unusual and unexpected deluges and floods.

The officers and men who experienced this Border Service and remained with the Guard were only too early made to realize the great advantage to themselves and to our Country their experiences and brief preparation were to prove.

World events and the great war raging in the eastern hemisphere seemed remote and unreal, not only to the Guardsmen on the borderland of Mexico, but to millions of Americans in 1916, and the early months of 1917, but with the defiant declaration of the German war lord that hostilities would re-commence against our passenger and merchant ships at the end of January, 1917, the die was cast, and events marched rapidly to include us and free Government in the greatest struggle of all time. On April 1st, 1917, less than thirty days after their return, the Oklahoma National Guard was again called into the Federal service and were on the way to mobilization camp.

The glorious history of the National Guard of Oklahoma and the thousands of other gallant soldiers furnished by this great State during the terrible crisis that menaced humanity and the world in 1917 and 18 constitutes an epic that will kindle the inspiration and enthusiasm of some master mind among future poets and historians, whose genius will find in such a history the subject for his masterpiece. In these brief outlines we can but point to that history of service and sacrifice with the glow of patriotic pride in their achievement that comes from the knowledge that they were “our boys” and none braver or more courageous ever followed our glorious flag.

As an organization, the Old National Guard of Oklahoma gave it all to the World War. When its members returned home for demobilization and were discharged from the Federal service, they were discharged by operation of law likewise from the National Guard, or rather, when they entered the Federal service in April 1917, they were by operation of law relieved from all further service to the State under their enlistment as National Guards.

This left Oklahoma, from August 5th, 1917, the last date fixed for voluntary entry into Federal service without a National Guard, and with no military force of any character, and as a result, the Governor, on authority of a proclamation, authorized the organization under the Council of Defense of several companies of Home Guards in various localities throughout the State. Some of these companies were able to secure arms and uniforms through funds raised by local communities, and a few of them became efficient and rendered satisfactory and needed service in the enforcement of the law.

The New National Guard: In March 1918, under the National Defense Act, and by authority of the War Department, Governor Williams ordered the organization of one regiment of Infantry. So many towns applied for companies that the order was made for two regiments and these regiments made up of eighteen companies with a minimum of one hundred enlisted men each, were mustered in and Federally inspected.

The two regiments of Infantry referred to were granted Federal recognition on August 31st and September 3rd, respectively, 1918, and became the substantial foundation on which has since been built Oklahoma's New National Guard.

At the time these regiments were formed, the great World War was raging in utmost fury, and officers and men alike believed that their organizations as soon as equipped would be called for some form of Federal service, either guarding the railroads or relieving more seasoned troops on the Mexican border.

The quick conclusion of the War when our country threw its powerful forces into the battle line ended any prospect for immediate Federal service on the part of the new Guard, but there is no question in the minds of those familiar with the conditions of this country, that when the pressure of war conditions was succeeded by the reckless excitement of the dearly bought peace, but what the existence within the State of two well organized and equipped regiments of troops, prepared for immediate service anywhere and anytime acted as a powerful support to those charged with the execution and enforcement of the law, and a strong deterrent against mass outbreaks against law and order in every section of the State.

In the earlier organizations of the new Guard, Infantry appeared to be the chosen arm of the service, and in the early months of 1919 the Guard was further increased by the organization of a separate Battalion of Infantry.

Later, the general staff of the Army made its broad and comprehensive plans for the organization of a complete military system for the country under the provisions of the National Defense Act. This plan divided the United States into nine army corps areas into which the forty-eight states were grouped proportionately in number and population. Each corps area was to have one division of Regulars, two divisions of National Guards and in the time of needed emergency, three divisions of reserves or troops raised by operation of the selective draft. Oklahoma as a State was assigned to the Eighth Corps Area which consists of Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

The two divisions of National Guards assigned to this area was the famous old “Thirty-sixth” Division which was assigned to Texas, and the Forty-fifth Division, a new organization to which the troops of Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona were assigned.

With the adoption of this plan and the allocation to each State of the particular organizations that would constitute its quota in the New Divisional units, authority was obtained for the organization of many new units of the Guard in Oklahoma, and the return and demobilization of our thousands of World War veterans, made the finest military material in the world available as officers and non-commissioned officers of these units.

The separate battalion of Infantry was absorbed by consolidation in what had been known as the Second and Third Infantry. Oklahoma's allotment of Infantry was fixed by the new plan at two Regiments of Infantry, to be known as the 179th and 180th Regiments of the Ninetieth Brigade, Forty-fifth Division, and the change in Regimental numbers and consolidation was made. The Ninetieth Brigade and Headquarters were organized in 1921 and Colonel Chas. E. McPherren was made Brigade Commander.

The 160th Field Artillery (75mm horse-drawn) was organized as rapidly as authority could be secured and this was followed by the organization of the 189th Field Artillery (155mm tractor-drawn) which was begun in 1921 and two battalions completed by October 10th of that year. The last battalion was authorized and organized by January 1923.

In February, 1923, authority was obtained for the organization of the 120th Medical Regiment which had been allotted to Oklahoma; four units of the 158th Field Artillery transferred from Colorado and Arizona; a Veterinary Company transferred to Oklahoma from Colorado; the First Battalion of the 120th Combat Engineers and the Ordnance Maintenance Company, the Motor Transport Company and the Motorcycle Company of the divisional troops.

In addition to the organizations named, authority had been given for the completion of the Seventieth Artillery Brigade and the Headquarters of that organization. Colonel Alva J. Niles was promoted and assigned to that command.

In succeeding years, the Divisional units in Oklahoma were completed and the division organized with General Baird H. Markham, at the time adjutant general, as the first division's commander. General Markham was promoted to Major General and until June 30th, 1925, held both positions. At that time, he resigned as Adjutant General and Governor M. E. Trapp reappointed the former Adjutant General, Charles. F. Barrett, to the place.

Few changes occurred in the years that followed. The Guard was frequently called to duty for State services and small units were occasionally mustered out at one location and re-organized at another. Training was increased and improved and the quality and efficiency of both enlisted and officer personnel made steady advancements.

It was not until 1937 that the War Department authorized the organization of the 120th Quartermaster Regiment although some of the units of that regiment motor transport companies had been in existence almost from the beginning in 1918.

Two units of the Regiment and a Battalion Headquarters unit were allocated to Arizona and Colorado while all the rest, including the Regimental Headquarters and staff were given to Oklahoma. Lieutenant Colonel Roger G. Maus was promoted to Colonel and assigned to the command.

In May 1938, authority was obtained to re-organize the Veterinary Company located at Pawhuska into a second Collecting Company in 120th Medical Regiment and that change has been accomplished.

Because the National Guard is a most valuable asset, both to the local communities and the State at large, our people can be proud of the fact that while the State is only twenty-first in population it is eighth in the size of its National Guard, and that it rates right at the top in point of efficiency.

Beginning at scratch in the last year of the Great War we now have two fully organized and equipped Regiments of Infantry. Three Regiments of Motorized Artillery; two light and one heavy. One Medical Regiment. One Quartermaster Regiment. One Battalion of Engineers, and all the special divisional troops. At maintenance strength this is 4,998 enlisted men and 416 officers and six warrant officers.

It comprises one Division Headquarters, two Brigade Headquarters and seven Regimental Headquarters on all of which the Federal Government spends upward of one million dollars a year on training in addition to the large sums required for equipment.

The State spends annually about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year on the Guard. Part of this goes for training but by far the larger part is expended for administration and maintenance of Armories and equipment.

The Oklahoma National Guard has been paid many high compliments by Regular Army officers for its enthusiasm and fine spirit, and for the military efficiency it has already attained. The State as a whole has been complimented for its patriotism and moral support for this part of the Nation's military defense.

The writer takes a pardonable pride in the rapid development and growth of this new National Guard in Oklahoma, in its efficiency, morale and equipment. As a Major, detailed to organize and inspect its first unit, as Adjutant General during the four years prior to February 15th, 1923, and as a Field Officer detailed to the Adjutant General's office after General Markham became the head of the Department, it was my happy privilege to participate steadily and intimately in the growth and development of its early years and to witness and help in the evolution of a trained and well organized military force that has proven its efficiency in State service, and whose membership is composed of as fine a type of loyal, intelligent, patriotic and red-blooded young American manhood as can be found in any of the States.

It would have been a pleasure to have made personal mention of the many splendid officers and men who have contributed so much to make the National Guard of this State an institution, and a part of its government which commands respect at home and abroad.

The space allotted to me will not permit of more than this brief and modest outline and we must leave to a future chronicler the opportunity and privilege of writing the inside story of why the Oklahoma National Guard is one of the finest of this great Country, and “who was who” in helping to achieve its present success.
Charles. F. Barrett.

The following statements of facts in reference to the Armories and the manner of their building is taken by permission from a chapter of General Charles. F. Barrett’s forthcoming book, “The History of the Oklahoma National Guard”.

As the Adjutant General of the State, I want to testify to the great accomplishments of the Works Progress Administration in the completion of the Armory program in Oklahoma. Very few of our own people realize, as yet, what this splendid building program means to the State, the Federal Government, the National Guard and to the communities in which they have been built.

Without one dollar of State appropriation for the purpose, fifty-two modern, magnificent, permanent buildings have been contributed to Oklahoma through an intelligent and efficient application of funds appropriated by the Federal Government to furnish employment to that vast army of worthy men who were victims of the depression.

Every community in which one of these splendid buildings has been built is justly proud of it, and will enjoy the pleasure and benefit of a public meeting place that will meet all future necessities. Every National Guard unit in these new Armories will show increased enthusiasm and interest, and the taxpayers of the State, in addition to having a better guard, will enjoy a relief from taxation for rent and undue losses of Federal property for which the State is responsible.

I cannot speak too highly of the efficiency of General W. S. Key and his loyal and worthy co-workers. They seemed to have made these projects a labor of love and patriotism as well as duty, and I am proud of their close cooperation with the Military Department and the State in the matters that called for mutual help.

The Works Progress Administration has done a great and useful work in Oklahoma, but among the many outstanding results of the splendid Federal policy of relief, which they have so successfully carried out in Oklahoma, the Armory program which gave the State fifty-two great, public buildings must rank in the future as an imperishable monument to their efforts, and a constant reminder of what can be accomplished by intelligence, loyalty and cooperation for the common good. In my opinion, the value of this part of the program will be appreciated by future generations even more than it is by those who applaud today.

Armory Program: Oklahoma's National Guard Armory program is being applauded as the greatest physical accomplishment of the Works Progress Administration in this State. Its magnitude, its successful prosecution with the raw material and comparatively unskilled workmen taken from Oklahoma's certified rolls.

These Oklahoma Armories are 100 per cent Oklahoma buildings. Thirty-three are built of stone blasted from Oklahoma quarries. Eighteen are built of bricks made of Oklahoma clays. Steel has been specially fashioned for them in Oklahoma plants. Only Oklahoma citizens have been employed in their construction.

Of the more than $2,000,000 W. P. A. funds which have gone into these buildings, an unusually high percentage is represented by wages.

An Armory-building program long had been needed by Oklahoma. In the past, its National Guard units have been inadequately quartered. Most of them have been forced to utilize makeshift quarters. Some have occupied abandoned barns and garages. Thousands of dollars' worth of equipment had been stolen from these insecure buildings. In several instances these raids have been made by outlaws and bandits who used the guns and ammunition stolen for bank robberies and other depredations. In the past, too, the State has paid from $40,000 to $50,000 annually for Armory rentals. This will be saved to the taxpayers in the future as a result of the W. P. A. Armory-building program.

Quarters for more than one hundred units of the National Guard of Oklahoma is only one of the many public services these buildings will render. With a few exceptions, they have been located in municipalities suffering severely from lack of housing facilities for a great number of major activities.

A large drill hall is the principal enclosure of each of these huge buildings. At one end of this drill hall is a spacious stage. Each hall will seat about 2,000 persons. Thus, they will accommodate conventions and other assemblies which otherwise could not be invited to these cities. They are open to all civic gatherings. They can be utilized as meeting places for social and civic clubs. In many other respects they are much needed community houses.

In the basement of each is a modern target range for pistol and rifle practice. Bullet-proof side chambers are provided for scorers and observers. Lockers, showers, lavatories, storerooms, in addition to the large drill halls, are to be found on the ground floor. Offices, recreation rooms, and similar accommodations are provided. These occupy the second floor of two-story structures. While all are built from the same general plans, each has an individuality of construction as distinctive as the group which built it or as varying as the unit or units which will occupy it.

Type of construction has been governed, in a large measure, by the nature of the material most conveniently available. In some places this has been sandstone. In others it has been limestone. Where an abundance of good building stone has not been available in the vicinity, brick has been used. In some structures the walls have been built mostly of brick, artistically cornered and topped by stone. Steel doors, steel window frames, steel supports make them 100 per cent fireproof.

Works Progress Administration activities being confined to erection of the buildings, interior finishings and furnishings have been contributed by interested individuals and groups of the communities in which these Armories are located.

In most cases, citizens of the community served have shown their appreciation of the Government's efforts on their behalf by raising funds from which the interiors have been decorated and offices and recreation rooms generously provided with fixtures and furniture.

Geologists employed under the WPA geological survey project searched for and located many of the deposits of building stone from which thirty-three of the fifty-two Armories were constructed. Crews were organized from those on relief rolls to open these deposits and blast out huge blocks. In their rough state, these blocks were hauled to the building site by National Guard trucks operated by members of the National Guard. There they were shaped and dressed by WPA clients. Most of these men never before had any experience in stone cutting, but under the patient instruction of skilled supervisors, they rapidly learned the knack of shaping the blocks.

Oklahomans look with such favor upon Armory building accomplishments of the Works Progress Administration that civil leaders in each community arranged extensive and impressive dedicatory ceremonies. The state Administrator laid each cornerstone. He was accompanied in nearly every instance by General Chas. F. Barrett, veteran commander of the Oklahoma National Guard. Other WPA officials who participated whenever possible were Ron Stephens, assistant administrator and general supervisor of operations; Colonel Webster L. Benham, chief engineer and director of the Division of Operations; and Major Bryan W. Nolen, supervising architect. Motion pictures were made of practically every dedication.

First dirt was turned for an Oklahoma National Guard Armory on October 8, 1935. This was at Wewoka, Seminole County. Ground-breaking ceremonies were participated in by Gov. E. W. Marland, State Administrator W. S. Key, and many other state, federal and military officials. This brick structure was practically completed at the close of 1936. It was dedicated formally February 18, 1937. It will house a Medical Detachment, and Battery A, 160th Field Artillery.

First honors, as dedications were concerned, went to the handsome, spacious brick-constructed Armory at Kingfisher in Kingfisher County. It beat Haskell to formal opening by four days. More speed was made in the construction of this Armory than any of the others, for ground was not broken for it until January 20, 1936. Most of those employed in its creation were without previous experience in bricklaying, but they developed so rapidly that the finished job is the pride of Kingfisher County.

Third in order of completion and dedication was the stone Armory at Tishomingo, Johnston County, which now is housing Headquarters Company, First Battalion, 180th Infantry. This structure literally was hewn from the rugged hills of Johnston County. It is massive, sturdy, attractive inside and out, an imposing structure. It is an impressive monument to community cooperation, the skill of Johnston County workmen needing emergency employment, and the Works Progress Administration. It has been built on the campus of Murray Agricultural College. In addition to housing National Guard units and serving as a community building for Tishomingo and vicinity, it will be utilized as a college gymnasium.

Then came occupation of the Perry, Noble County, Armory, by Service Battery "C", 158th Field Artillery, and band, and its formal opening December 11, 1936. This is another magnificent stone structure which required 45,000 cubic feet of masonry for its walls.

Brick Armory of the Norman, Cleveland County, units was opened December 1, a large throng attending the night ceremonies although a drenching rain had voided the contemplated afternoon program of laying the cornerstone and retreat drill. This is the new home of Company "D", 179th Infantry, and Company "C", 120th Engineers. Local civic organizations had furnished and decorated the interior in time for dedication. Various Norman civic groups propose to utilize this building for community activities which will not interfere with Guard routine.

Honor of being the first dedicated in the Seventh WPA District went to Minco, Grady County, which was opened December 15, 1936. Until then Service Battery, 189th Field Artillery, had been housed in an abandoned garage. It was a proud Company which marched from these makeshift quarters to its new $50,000 home. Formal dedications followed one another in rapid succession until all Armories were finished and turned over to the State.

The Why and How of State Armories: I have been asked to explain briefly "Why" this great Armory-building campaign was put on in Oklahoma and "How" these fifty-two handsome and commodious Armory buildings were built without a dollar of State or Federal appropriation for that purpose.

Why they were built, primarily, was because they were so badly needed that our necessities were promptly acknowledged and we received a sympathetic and helpful hearing from President Roosevelt and Governor Marland and from every Federal, State and municipal agency called upon to participate in the program. As to “how” the Armories were built, a little resume of the preliminary steps necessary will give some idea.

The Adjutant’s General Association and the Executive Committee of the National Guard Association meeting in Washington at the time Congress passed the act appropriating four billion eight hundred million dollars for unemployment relief and public works in the nation, at once took up a proposition to have eighty million of that relief fund applied to the building of Armories so badly needed in nearly all the States. This proposal was vigorously pressed upon the attention of the Works Progress Administration, which had been organized to carry out the provisions of Congress and the President in the approval of plans and projects to expend this money in a way that would secure the greatest amount of reemployment, and result in the most permanent benefit to the communities where the unemployment problem had to be met.

In Oklahoma the need of suitable Armories had been a critical handicap for the National Guard organizations from the beginning of its existence, and the Military Department of this State was one of the first to step out and arrange to take advantage of what appeared to be a real opportunity to get something done. Following a visit from Colonel O. K. Yeager, representing the National Guard Association, who outlined the method of procedure, Major Bryan, W. Nolen, who is an architect, was placed on active duty and directed to draw up tentative plans for one- and two-unit Armories, and correspondence was at once opened with the principal National Guard towns relative to sites.

General W. S. Key was then chosen by the National authorities for State Administrator of the W. P. A. activities in Oklahoma, and among the many other efficient National Guard officers he chose for the staff of his executive department was Major Bryan Nolen, the architect who had already made such a happy beginning for the Armory program.

The loyal and whole-hearted support of Governor Marland and the State Planning Board, the Attorney General and the State Board of Affairs was thrown behind this building program from the start and the National Guard and its legion of friends throughout the State did everything possible for its success.

Looking back over the history of this splendid achievement, the facts prove that the results secured could only have been obtained by the constant and intelligent cooperation of all the parties and agencies concerned, and by the efficiency and loyal devotion' of the W. P. A. organization in Oklahoma to their responsibilities and ideals, which was to not only supply the employment to needy men, which the President's plan provided for, but to direct that employment to the creation and building of useful improvements for all the people of the State, and of all the excellent projects they have completed for the people of Oklahoma. These Armory projects will in the end stand out as the most lasting and beneficial.

In conclusion I want to say that when the reader realizes that there fifty-two monumental community buildings, which the National Guard Armories really are; have been built without one thin dime of State appropriation; it can be understood why the National Guard officers and the great W. P. A. agency that actually built them out of unemployed labor is so justly proud of the accomplishment.---Charles F. Barrett.

The Forty-fifth Division, composed of the National Guard of Oklahoma, Colorado, Arizona, and New Mexico, was organized during the years 1918-23, and is composed of the Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Special Troops, Eighty-ninth Infantry Brigade, Ninetieth Infantry Brigade, Seventieth Field Artillery Brigade, 120th Medical Regiment, 120th Engineers, 120th Quartermaster Regiment, and Division Aviation. Of these troops, the Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Special Troops (less Forty-fifth Tank Company), Ninetieth Infantry Brigade, Seventieth Field Artillery Brigade (less Batteries "A" and "E", 158th Field Artillery), 120th Medical Regiment, First Battalion, 120th Engineers, and the 120th Quartermaster Regiment (less Second Battalion) are allotted to and organized in Oklahoma, and comprise approximately five-sevenths of the total strength of the Division. The remaining units of the Division are allotted to and organized in the other three states, as follows: Arizona: Headquarters Company, Eighty-ninth Infantry Brigade; 158th Infantry; Battery "E", 158th Field Artillery; Company "D", 120th Quartermaster Regiment. Colorado: Headquarters Eighty-ninth Infantry Brigade; 157th Infantry; Forty-fifth Tank Company; Company "C", 120th Quartermaster Regiment; Forty-fifth Division Aviation. New Mexico: 120th Engineers (less First Battalion); Battery "A", 158th Field Artillery. Organization of the Division Headquarters was authorized in 1923, and Federal recognition was extended on August 3, 1923, with station at Oklahoma City. Major General Baird H. Markham, then Adjutant General of Oklahoma, became the first division commander and served until his resignation in 1931. He was succeeded by Major General Roy Hoffman, who had served as Colonel of the old First Oklahoma Infantry prior to the World War and on the Mexican Border, and who had been a Brigadier General in the National Army during the World War and in the Officers Reserve Corps since the war. General Hoffman commanded the Division until June 13, 1933, when he retired, having reached the age of sixty-four.

Upon the retirement of General Hoffman, command of the Division passed to Brigadier General Alexander M. Tuthill of Arizona, who had commanded the Eighty-ninth Infantry Brigade since its organization and was the senior Brigadier General in the Division. General Tuthill was advanced to Major General and remained in command until his retirement on September 22, 1935. Brigadier General Charles E. McPherrin, commanding the Ninetieth Infantry Brigade, advanced to Major General on November 25, 1935, and commanded the Division until his relief on July 29, 1936.

The present Commanding General, Major General William S. Key, was a Brigadier General and in command of the Seventieth Field Artillery Brigade when he became Acting Division Commander upon the relief of General McPherrin. General Key was advanced to the rank of Major General on April 2, 1938, and commanded the Division during the Third Army Maneuvers in August 1938.

The Division Staff, like the troops composing the Division, is divided among the four states concerned. Oklahoma has thirteen of the twenty-one staff officers, Colorado four, Arizona three, and New Mexico one. Members of the staff belonging to the National Guard of the other three states attend field training with the Oklahoma troops each summer so that the full staff is available for field training.

70th Field Artillery Brigade: The Seventieth Field artillery Brigade was organized in 1920-23, and was originally composed of a Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, the 158th Field Artillery (75mm Horse Drawn), and the 160th Field Artillery (75mm Horse Drawn). Organization of the Brigade Headquarters was authorized on August 3, 1923, and Brigadier General Alva J. Niles became the first brigade commander. General Niles retired in 1928 and was succeeded by Brigadier General William S. Key, who was promoted from Colonel of the 160th Field Artillery on August 18, 1928.

In 1930 the brigade increased in strength and effectiveness when 189th Field Artillery (155mm How. Tractor Drawn), which had been assigned as Corps troops, became a part of the Seventieth Field Artillery Brigade under new tables of organization.

Horses passed from the picture in 1933 when the Headquarters and Headquarters Battery and the 158th and 160th Field Artillery were converted from horse-drawn regiments. The 189th, now left behind by the more speedy trucks, caught up in 1936 when it was converted from tractor-drawn to truck drawn.

General Key was promoted to Major General in 1937, and was succeeded as brigade commander by Brigadier General Raymond S. McLain, for many years Chief of Staff of the Forty-fifth Division.

Factual History: Headquarters Battery, Seventieth Field Artillery Brigade:

Headquarters Battery, Seventieth Field Artillery Brigade, was organized by Captain George Dean Davenport in the fall of 1925 as the Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, Second Battalion, 160th Field Artillery, receiving Federal recognition December 11, 1925. The livestock pavilion at the state fairgrounds served as stables for the new unit and the Coliseum in Packingtown (Oklahoma National Stockyards) served as the Armory, until March 1926, at this time the stables were moved to Packingtown.

Captain Davenport resigned on March 31, 1926, and First Lieutenant Harold W. Gardiner was promoted to Battery Commander. On December 1, 1928, the unit was redesignated as Headquarters Battery, Seventieth Field Artillery Brigade, and moved to Nichols Hills, six miles northwest of Oklahoma City, on July 1, 1929.

Captain Gardiner was transferred out of the state and First Lieutenant Francis J. Reichman was promoted to Battery Commander, serving until September 1932, when he was transferred to the Brigade Staff. Second Lieutenant Russell D. Funk was promoted to Battery Commander. The unit was motorized in June 1933, and moved to its present location (Oklahoma City, Oklahoma) in March 1934.

Captain Funk and First Sergeant Charles Lee are the only men now with the Battery who have served since its organization in 1925. Second Lieutenant Marvin L. Briggs is serving as Junior Officer at the present time, having been promoted from the ranks May 6, 1938.

Factual History: One Hundred and Fifty-eight Field Artillery: The third regiment of Field Artillery required to complete the artillery brigade of the 45th Division was originally allotted by the War Department to Arizona, Colorado, and New Mexico. By 1921, however, Oklahoma was “artillery minded”. Strange happenings had been observed in the armories at Wewoka, Pittsburg, and Wellston during the winter of 1920-21. Drill halls accustomed to the aphrodisiac tread of infantrymen wheeling in the latest Follies formations rocked to the hurry and scurry of wagon soldiers as they executed “cannoneers, post” or simulated horses in maneuvers of “left wheel” and “double sections, right oblique”. The much publicized white horses had cavorted through the main street of Wewoka, under personal direction of Captain W. S. Key; 32 sleek bays had been entrusted to the tender care of Captain Henry Donahue, at Pittsburg, and in Wellston, until then a one horse town, a mixed assortment of grays, blacks and bays, all of whom had reached a legal voting age, were under the spiritual guidance of Captain Barnett, a Methodist minister of the gospel. The citizens and taxpayers of Oklahoma were clamoring for more artillery and Uncle Charley Barrett was not one to let the citizens and taxpayers clamor in vain.

By the Spring of 1923 a series of diplomatic “ying-yanging’s” had resulted in four units of the 158th Field Artillery, located in Arizona, being reallocated to Oklahoma. First to complete organization was Battery, “F”, at Kingfisher, under command of Captain George I. Lacey, with First Lieutenants Lee M. Grimes and Elva B. Shively and Second Lieutenant Mark Wagner. They were inspected for Federal recognition April 23, 1923. Fifteen days later, May 8, 1923, Headquarters Battery, 158th Field Artillery, assembled at Sulphur, Oklahoma for its first formation. The occasion was Inspection for Federal recognition and the unit, commanded by Captain Charles N. Hardin, with Dewey H. Neal as First Lieutenant, passed the required tests and was formally recognized by the Federal Government.

On the night following the inspection at Sulphur, May 9, 1923, the Service Battery, 158th Field Artillery, under command of Captain Xerma R. Campbell, with Lieutenants Aurelius D. Hanry, George W. Dodd, Jr., and Otto A. Brewer, was accorded Federal recognition at Hugo, Oklahoma. Headquarters Battery and Combat Train of the First Battalion, 160th Field Artillery, which had been organized November 16, 1921, at Kingfisher, was redesignated August 4, 1923, just a week before opening of the 1923 encampment, as Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, Second Battalion, 158th Field Artillery. This, the last of the four units of the 158th to be organized in 1923, was commanded by Captain Clarence R. Steele with Lieutenants Edward C. Newer and Jerry F. Yergler.

Colonel Charles A. Holden, then of Pawhuska, had been appointed Colonel of the newly organized Regiment, with Lieutenant Colonel Grover C. Wamsley, of Anadarko, second in command. On August 10, 1923, the four new batteries of Oklahoma Field Artillery descended upon Camp Doniphan, at Ft. Sill, with horses, guns, spare parts and accessories, for their first annual encampment. They were referred to as the “Mexican Army” because of their numerous high ranking officers and their widely scattered units. The remainder of the Regiment had been organized, during the Spring of 1923, In Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado. In June, 1924, Battery "D," at Flagstaff, Arizona, was ordered moved to Weatherford, Oklahoma and this unit, under command of Captain Cortis A. Clark, with Lieutenants "Dutch "Voyles, William H. Doughty and Eugene Stewart, was the last of five batteries which were to represent Oklahoma's contingent of the 158th Field Artillery for the succeeding three years. For three encampments, 1924, 1925 and 1926, the five units of the "Mexican Army" fought their battles on the firing line at Ft. Sill alone. In the Fall of 1926, however, General Barrett again went to market and returned with Batteries "B" and "C" from Colorado.

Colonel Wamsley, of Anadarko, had assumed command of the Regiment in September 1925, and it was considered advisable to transfer Battery "E" of the 160th Field Artillery, also at Anadarko, over to the 158th. This was done on January 1, 1927, the battery at Anadarko, under command of Captain Paul E. Anderson, with Lieutenants Bernhard W. Hammert, Ed Correia and George Moran, being redesignated as Battery "B" 158th Field Artillery. Battery "C" transferred from Pueblo, Colorado, was organized at Perry, January 14th of the same year, by Captain Howard R. Cress and Lieutenants Blake, Noah and Brengle.

The Medical Detachment, also obtained from Colorado, was formed at "Yale", under command of Captain Robert S. Graham, October 13, 1928. This completed the Regimental organization, as the Regimental Band, after hibernating in Hugo and migrating, for a short spell, to Chickasha, had finally settled at its present location, in Perry, under direction of Warrant Officer William C. Marshall, July 21, 1928.

All units of the Regiment, with the exception of Battery "A" at Roswell, New Mexico, and Battery "E" at Mesa, Arizona, are now located in Oklahoma. These two units, both excellent organizations, drive overland each year, from Roswell and Mesa, for summer training with the remainder of the Regiment. The "Mexican Army," from a lowly beginning, and after years of adversity, has developed into a complete, modernly equipped and well trained Regiment of the United States Field Artillery.

Factual History: Medical Department Detachment 158th Field Artillery

Battalion: The Medical Department Detachment, 158th Field Artillery, was organized and Federally recognized at Yale on October 13, 1928. The unit has progressed steadily since its organization, despite several changes in officer personnel, and is now located in its new Armory and has attained a high state of training under its present commanding officer, Captain Jesse R. Waltrip.

Factual History: Headquarters Battery, 158th Field Artillery: Headquarters Battery, 158th Field Artillery was organized and located in Sulphur through the efforts of Charles N. Hardin, who was commissioned a Captain, Field Artillery, and placed in command, the unit being Federally recognized May 8, 1923. Dewey H. Neal was commissioned as a First Lieutenant and served until 1924, when he resigned. John C. Powell, Captain, Infantry, O.R.C., was commissioned a First Lieutenant and assigned to Headquarters Battery.

In April 1926, Captain Hardin having resigned, Lieutenant Powell took over command of the Battery and was promoted to Captain May 23, 1926. Sergeant Earl Miller was commissioned First Lieutenant, but resigned in 1928 and was succeeded by Dr. W. L. Shamel of the Dental Reserve, who was commissioned First Lieutenant, Field Artillery.

Events the old timers remember best are the times horses were assigned to the Battery in 1927, and trucks were assigned in 1933. When the unit was motorized, its members staged the "Last Horse Parade" and a moving picture was made of the event.

In the spring of 1937, the Battery moved into its magnificent fire-proof Armory, and on May 27 and 28 held dedicatory exercises which were broadcast throughout Oklahoma. A three thousand copy edition of the Battery magazine "The Reel Cart," profusely illustrated, was printed and widely distributed. This was made possible only by the loyal support and contributions of the citizens of Sulphur and members of the Battery. The unit has maintained a continuously satisfactory rating, to date.

Factual History: Service Battery (Less Band) 158th Field Artillery Battalion: The first National Guard unit in Kingfisher was organized in 1921 under the command of Captain John J. McCartney, and was designated Headquarters Detachment and Combat Train, First Battalion, 160th Field Artillery. Other officers of the Battery were First Lieutenant Edward C. Newer and Second Lieutenant Lee M. Grimes. The Battery had an enlisted strength of fifty-two men.

By 1923 the unit's personnel had increased to over eighty enlisted men and in April of that year was divided into two batteries, Battery "F" 158th Field Artillery and Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, First Battalion, 158th Field Artillery. Captain McCartney was promoted to the rank of Major and placed in command of the Second Battalion, 158th Field Artillery. First Sergeant George I. Lacey of the old unit was promoted to Captain and placed in command of the firing battery, with Clarence R. Steele, Signal Sergeant, raised to Captain and given command of the Battalion Headquarters unit.

Since that date the personnel of Battery "F" has served under command of the following: Marion R. Woodworth, Major now commanding the First Battalion, 158th Field Artillery; Miles E. Elder; Clarence R. Steele, Major now commanding the Second Battalion; and Van L. Ogden. On March 1, 1937 the unit was redesignated the Service Battery less Band Section of the 158th Field Artillery. On June 1, 1937 Captain Dwight U. Cochrane, commanding officer of Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, Second Battalion, 158th Field Artillery was transferred to the command of the unit.

The history of the unit, both as a firing Battery and a Service Battery is replete with commendations on its training, appearance and ability "to get the job done."

Factual History: First Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, 158th Field Artillery: The Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, First Battalion, 158th Field Artillery was organized at Clinton on June 16th, 1927, under the direct supervision of Colonel Grover C. Wamsley of the 158th Field Artillery. The Battery has a high "esprit de corps" and with one exception in eleven years has received a very high rating on the annual Federal inspection. The attendance at the inspection has been 100 per cent, also with but one exception.

In the spring of 1934, during the flood of the Washita River in which fifteen lives were lost, this Battery, in company with Battery "D" of Weatherford, was on duty for thirteen days searching for bodies and serving as guards over property. The problem of supplies, sanitation and handling refugees in general was a serious one but there was not a single case where a conflict arose between civil or military law, or between soldier and civilian.

Two members who were connected with the Battery in the beginning and who are still affiliated with it are Captain George D. Hann, who has served as commander since the organization of the unit, and Lieutenant Ernest J. Stocks, who is serving as Senior Lieutenant. Second Lieutenant Henry T. Ford completes the officer personnel. The new Armory recently occupied by the unit has added greatly to the efficiency of the Battery and the morale of the men.

Factual History: Battery "B" First Battalion 158th Field Artillery Battalion:

Battery "B" 158th Field Artillery, was organized during the summer of 1918 and was Federally recognized and designated as Company "L" Second Oklahoma Infantry. Under the command of Captain Arthur B. Colbath, with Lieutenants L. C. Blackstock, Charles C. Slemph and Loren Ward the Company attended camp at old Camp Doniphan, Fort Sill, during the summer of 1919, and was called into state service at Wilburton and McAlester during coal field disturbances in that year.

In July 1921, the Infantry Company gave way to one battery of horse drawn artillery, which was under command of Captain John D. Brown, and designated as Battery "E" 160th Field Artillery. The personnel of the new battery was nearly the same as that of the old infantry unit.

The Battery attended camp for the first time in 1922. It was redesignated Battery "B" 158th Field Artillery on January 1, 1927 and was motorized June 5, 1933.

Successive battery commanders and their Lieutenants are: 1922-Captain John D.

Brown, First Lieutenant Grover C. Wamsley, Second Lieutenant Clifford D. Lyon. 1923-Captain Grover C. Wamsley, First Lieutenant Edgar B. Ross, First Lieutenant Paul E. Anderson, Second Lieutenant Edward S. Correia. 1923-Captain Edgar B. Ross, First Lieutenant Paul E. Anderson, First Lieutenant Bernhard Hammert, Second Lieutenant Edward S. Correia. 1924-Captain John A. Smith, First Lieutenant Paul E. Anderson, First Lieutenant Bernhard Hammert, Second Lieutenant Edward S. Correia. 1925- Captain Paul E. Anderson, First Lieutenant Bernhard Hammert, First Lieutenant Merl R. Warren, First Lieutenant Bruce Y. Dutcher, Second Lieutenant Edward S. Correia, Second Lieutenant Philip Monahan, Second Lieutenant Elmo V. Loomis, Second Lieutenant George C. Moran, Second Lieutenant Carl E. Hall, Second Lieutenant William B. McFadyen.

Factual History: Battery “C” First Battalion 158th Field Artillery Battalion: In 1926, when the 168th Field Artillery (Horse) was allotted to Colorado, “Uncle Charley” Barrett, by one of the “judicious” for which he is famous, succeeded in obtaining Battery “C” of the 158th Field Artillery, then stationed at Pueblo, Colorado. Many Oklahoma cities were clamoring for Field Artillery units but it was determined that Perry, Oklahoma, should have priority and on January 14, 1927, 65 embryo Field Artillerymen, recruited by 65 embryo Field Artillerymen, recruited by Captain Howard R. Cress, First Lieutenant William Z. Blake and Second Lieutenants Ralph H. Noah and Edward Q. Brengle, stood their formation for Federal recognition.

The formation was held in an empty store, on Courthouse Square. The Federal government was represented by First Lieutenant John W. Beck, U.S. Army, while State authority was represented by Captain Elmo Flynt, of the Adjutant General’s staff. One of the highlights of this ceremony was occasioned by the fact that the unit had been meticulously coached, for days preceding the formation, in the execution of “Open ranks, March,” being assured that this would be their first command. Imagine the amazement of the Inspecting Officer, upon taking command and giving ‘Right dress,’ to see the entire unit studiously and faultlessly executing “Open ranks”.

Only two changes in commissioned personnel have been made in the eleven and one-half years of this organization's existence. Captain Howard R. Cress is still functioning as Battery Commander, while Edward Q. "Quine" Brengle, one of the original Second Lieutenants, was promoted to First Lieutenant December 2, 1929, and is still Battery Executive. All four of the present Battery officers are charter members of the organization. The principal "turnover" has been in Second Lieutenants, Lieutenant Ralph H. Noah being required to move from Perry shortly after organization and Lieutenant John A. Samuelson, his successor, being compelled, for business reasons, to resign in November 1931. Lieutenant Otho R. Powers and Lieutenant Floyd R. Laird (present Band Leader) were appointed to fill the vacancies but were succeeded, in 1931 and 1935, respectively, by the present junior officers, Second Lieutenant Harold D. Roads and Second Lieutenant Myrl A. McCormick.

The record of this unit is one of continued progress. It has served as a model, for many years, for other units of the Regiment in the matter of care and storage of property. Every year since organization the Battery has received the highest rating authorized on annual Armory inspection reports. The report for the 1938 inspection, conducted by Captain Stephen Y. McGiffert, F. A., U.S. Army, concludes with the following "remark": "For the purpose of emphasis I am obliged to state that I consider this Battery the best trained and commanded unit of all units inspected by me in this regiment."

Factual History: Second Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, 158th Field Artillery Battalion: Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, Second Battalion, 158th Field Artillery, was originally Federally recognized November 16, 1921, as Headquarters Detachment and Combat Train, 160th Field Artillery. The unit was redesignated Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, 158th Field Artillery (Horse Drawn) on May 15, 1923, and again redesignated Second Battalion, Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, 158th Field Artillery (Truck Drawn) in August 1937.

Battery Commanders of the organization have been: Captain John J. McCartney, 1921 to 1923; Captain C. R. Steele, 1928; Captain Dwight U. Cockrane, 1928 to 1937; and Captain Glenn Gilmour, 1937 to date. Present officers of the Battery are Captain Gilmour, commanding, First Lieutenant Van L. Ogden and Second Lieutenant Geen Gilmour.

During the time the unit was a horse drawn outfit, several polo teams were organized among the officers and enlisted men, and quite a few of the players became very proficient. The Battery was mobilized for riot duty in December 1933, and was assigned the task of guarding a prisoner held in the county jail. The expected lynching did not come off, however, and the Battery was dismissed after about four hours. Motive power of the unit now consists of four 1 ½-ton trucks and one station wagon.

Factual History: Battery “D” Second Battalion 158th Field Artillery Battalion:

From the fall of 1920 to the spring of 1924 the Chamber of Commerce and other patriotic and service groups of Weatherford had attempted to obtain a Field Artillery unit of the Oklahoma National Guard. Finally, in the latter part of May 1924, a “trade” was consummated by General Barrett and one of the two remaining firing Batteries in Arizona, Battery “D” 158th Field Artillery, was ordered transferred, lock, stock, barrel, spare parts and accessories, to Weatherford, Oklahoma.

It was a memorable day for the civic-minded citizens who had sponsored the project when the thirty-two prancing quadrupeds, none under twenty-nine years of age, were unloaded in the railway yards at Weatherford. They snorted and “rared,” with all the vigor of their average age, as if to register their delight at being transferred from the sand dunes of Arizona to the green pastures and balmy springtime of Oklahoma. The Battery had been inspected on June 2, 1924, by Captain John P. Crehan, of the Regular Army and recommended for Federal recognition. There was but one difficulty, on one in Weatherford, who knew nothing about Field Artillery. Francis M. Burks had seen service during the World War in the Air Corps; Carl Remund was an ex-pill-roller; Cortis A. Clark was a local boy who had made good in the Officers’ Training Camp, graduating shortly after the Armistice, and “Dutch” Voyles, football coach at Southwestern State Teachers’ College, had graduated from the same course. Both Clark and Voyles were commissioned in the new unit, as a Captain and “Dutch” as First Lieutenant.

With date of Federal recognition officially recorded as June 2, 1924, the ex-doughboys, aviators, medical corps men and college students formed a smart aggregation. They quickly mastered the intricacies of Field Artillery harness and 75 mm guns and in August 1924, two months after their first formation, took their place on the firing line at the Ft. Sill encampment of the Oklahoma Guard. To the astonishment of all observers, they could maneuver, signal, ride, calculate firing data and shoot as well as the other Batteries of the, by this time, “seasoned” Oklahoma Field Artillery Brigade. At this first camp one of the gun crews from Weatherford registered a direct hit upon an old caisson, placed as a target, 4,000 yards distant. In Field Artillery, using indirect laying, the probability of this occurrence can be compared to holding four aces or thirteen spades.

At the annual encampment of 1925, 1926 and 1927 the Battery won the Regimental Cup awarded for proficiency in all departments. The rules provided that the cup should be kept permanently by any unit winning it for three years and this coveted award, consequently, was Battery “D’s” following the 1927 encampment, for keeps.

In March 1930, Captain Clark moved from Weatherford and Francis M. Burks, then First Lieutenant and Battery Executive, was appointed to command the organization. Captain Burks resigned in July 1931, because of business reasons, and Captain Albert R. Harris, present Battery Commander, assumed command.

On April 7, 1935, the Battery was ordered to active duty on the Washita River for flood relief. Headquarters were established in the Clinton Armory and fourteen sentry, and relief posts were established along both sides of the river from Clinton to a point two miles north of Hammon. The Battery remained on duty until April 19.

The record of the Battery since it” organization in June 1924, has been one of continued progress. Backed by an interested citizenry and manned by the highest type of young men, it has performed conscientiously and efficiently every duty required by Federal or State authorities. In informed military circles the "Weatherford Battery" is recognized at the present time as one of the most efficient Field Artillery units in the southwest.

Factual History: Battery "E" Second Battalion 158th Field Artillery Battalion:

Battery "B" forerunner of the present Battery "E" 158th Field Artillery, was organized at Mesa, Arizona, on March 24, 1921, with Captain Donald H. Biery as commanding officer. Drills were held in the basement of the old Vance building (now the Mezona Recreational Hall), where the guns and equipment were housed. The horses were kept in stables rented from the Kleinman Livery Stables. The Battery's present armory was built by the State of Arizona in 1921 on South MacDonald Street. When the First Battalion, 158th Field Artillery, was organized in Oklahoma, the Mesa unit was designated Battery "E" its only designation.

Referred to as the "Wandering Battery," this unit has attended field training in five different camps. From 1921 through 1926, camp was held at Fort Bliss, Texas; in 1927 and 1928, Fort Huachuca, Arizona; from 1929 to 1932, due to shortage of horses at the Arizona camp, training was at Fort Bliss; motorized in 1933, the unit motored to Flagstaff, Arizona, in four Chevrolet trucks and one station wagon; from 1935 to 1937, at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and in 1938, the unit joined the Third Army maneuvers at Camp Bullis, San Antonio, Texas. In the last four years, Battery "E" has traveled approximately 9,000 miles to and from camp.

To make these trips more interesting and educational, Captain George L. Brown routed the Battery by Dallas to visit the Texas Centennial in 1936, and in 1937, the unit spent one day at Carlsbad Cavern, New Mexico.

Factual History: Battery "F" Second Battalion 158th Field Artillery Battalion:

Battery "F" 158th Field Artillery, was mustered and Federally recognized June 1, 1935, as the Service Battery, 158th Field Artillery. It had been originally organized at Hugo, but in 1935 was disbanded and moved to Duncan. The unit is only three years old, yet the record it has made in this short length of time would be difficult to surpass.

Captain Hugh A. Neal was the first commander, under the direction of whom a battery was formed and trained that could function with the best at the summer encampments. Other officers of the new Battery were First Lieutenant John E. Weiler and Second Lieutenants Paul E. Scheefers and Herbert Von Tunglen.

On March 1, 1937, the Service Battery was moved to Kingfisher and Battery "F" was moved to Duncan. With but four months in which to recognize and train a firing battery before the summer encampment, every man of the organization had to put out all he could. The record made at that first camp shows the men cannot be praised too highly for their efforts. Shortly after returning from camp, Captain Neal had to move to Tulsa for business reasons. Lieutenant Weiler was then placed in command and received his promotion to Captain on December 20, 1937. The present officers of the Battery are Captain Weiler, First Lieutenant Paul E. Scheefers, and Second Lieutenants Ben Parrott and Basil Shirley. Captain Weiler has just completed the three-months course at the Field Artillery School at Fort Sill.

Brigadier General Raymond S. McLain: General McLain was born in Washington County, Kentucky, on April 4, 1890. He enlisted in the Oklahoma National Guard December 12, 1912; appointed Second Lieutenant, Infantry, December 16, 1914, and assigned to Company M, First Oklahoma Infantry; promoted to First Lieutenant, May 14, 1915. Mustered into Federal service as First Lieutenant, Infantry, June 19, 1916, serving on the Mexican Border, and mustered out March 1, 1917. Returning to Oklahoma, he was promoted to Captain, March 13, 1917, and assigned as commander, Company M, First Oklahoma Infantry, and was mustered back into Federal service, March 31, 1917. He served overseas from July 18, 1918, to June 4, 1919, and was discharged July 5, 1919. He was reappointed Captain, Infantry, April 12, 1921, and assigned as Adjutant, Third Oklahoma Infantry; promoted to Major, October 19, 1922, with assignment as Battalion Commander, Third Oklahoma Infantry; promoted to Lieutenant Colonel February 8, 1924, and assigned to the Forty-fifth Division Staff; promoted to Colonel December 22, 1925, and assigned as Chief of Staff, Forty-fifth Division; promoted to Brigadier General April 2, 1937, and assigned to command the Seventieth Field Artillery Brigade, with assignment he now holds. General McLain graduated from the Command and General Staff School in 1938, A.E.F., March 31, 1917, to July 5, 1919. Battles: Meuse-Argonne.

Colonel Charles A. Holden: Commander One Hundred and Fifty-Eight Field Artillery. Colonel Holden was born in South Carolina on September 28, 1887. He entered the Federal Service on August 31, 1918, and served as an enlisted man, F. A., C. O. T. S., until discharged, November 30, 1918. He was appointed Captain, Field Artillery, March 14, 1921, and organized Battery D, First Oklahoma Field Artillery, at Pawhuska. He was promoted to Major, November 16, 1921, and assigned to the 160th Field Artillery; promoted to Lieutenant Colonel, February 15, 1923. On May 15, 1923, he was promoted to Colonel, and assigned to command the 158th Field Artillery. He was transferred to the 160th Field Artillery on September 6, 1925, and has been in command of the Regiment since that date. Colonel Holden was graduated from the Field Artillery School in 1933.

Colonel Grover C. Wamsley: Commander One Hundred and Fifty-Eight Field Artillery. Colonel Wamsley was born in Huttonsville, West Virginia, on October 8, 1884. He enlisted in the National Army at Camp Taylor, Kentucky, on August 29, 1918, and served as an enlisted man in the Field Artillery C. O. T. S., Camp Taylor, Kentucky, until he was discharged on December 18, 1918. On August 6, 1921, he was appointed as First Lieutenant, Field Artillery, Oklahoma National Guard; promoted to Captain, February 16, 1923, and to Lieutenant Colonel, May 15, 1923. He was promoted to Colonel on September 23, 1925, and assigned to command the 158th Field Artillery, with station at Anadarko, which assignment he has held continuously to the present date.

Explanatory Footnote No. 1: "Army and Navy Publishing Company did produce "historical annual" style books for various National Guard units across the United States in the late 1930s, but available search results indicate a 1938 publication for the New Mexico, may have not been published. While it is possible a similar book exists for the New Mexico National Guard, a thorough and comprehensive search has been conducted the current search results do not confirm a publication."

HAF/ILT

From: The Chief, Militia Bureau.

To: The Adjutant General of Oklahoma.

Subject: Additional allotment of National Guard units.

1. Certain changes in the allotment of National Guard troops has made it necessary for the Militia Bureau to add to the ultimate allotment of National Guard to the State of Oklahoma the following units:

- 1 Regiment Field Artillery (155 mm.)
- 1 Battalion Engineers
- 1 Headquarters Company Engineers
- 1 Engineer Train (Headquarters and Supply sections only)
- 1 Headquarters Troop, Infantry Division.

With the addition of the units listed above the ultimate allotment to Oklahoma will become

- 1 Division Headquarters Troop.
- 1 Brigade Headquarters Infantry
- 2 Regiments Infantry
- 1 Separate Battalion Infantry (to be converted into machine-gun units when Regular Army organization is finally adopted)
- 1 Regiment Cavalry (This may later be assigned elsewhere)
- 1 Regiment Field Artillery (75 mm.)
- 1 Regiment Field Artillery (155 mm.)
- 1 Regiment Engineers and Train
- 1 Battalion Signal Corps.

In addition to the above there may be allotted to Oklahoma certain units for use as Corps or Army troops the composition of which has not yet been fixed. As indicated the Cavalry regiment may later be assigned to another state if the Oklahoma authorities find their allotment too heavy.

2. The allotment for the present fiscal year which has been accepted by the Oklahoma authorities is composed as follows:

- 2 Regiments Infantry
- 1 Battalion Field Artillery (75 mm.)
- 1 Company Engineers
- 1 Company Signal Corps (Radio)
- 1 Field Hospital Company.

The Field Hospital Company is the nucleus of a sanitary train which is contemplated for Corps use. The organization of this unit need not be assumed by the Oklahoma authorities if such action will handicap the prompt organization of the remaining units, all of which enter into the composition of an Infantry Division.

December 31, 1919.

3. In addition to the units accepted for the present fiscal year the Militia Bureau hopes that the Oklahoma authorities, who have heretofore displayed such commendable energy in handling National Guard affairs, will undertake the task of organizing the following additional units:

1 Battalion Field Artillery (155 mm.) (to be expanded into a regiment)

2 Companies Engineers (raising the present assignment

General Chas. L. battalion). Adjutant General of Oklahoma, and my

The Militia Bureau is particularly impressed with the necessity for organizing the additional Field Artillery regiment, and it is believed that Oklahoma, having the advantage of being accessible to the Artillery this school at Fort Sill, is best prepared to undertake the formation of this unit. The Militia Bureau is also counting upon the energy which the Oklahoma authorities have already demonstrated.

The Militia Bureau will take prompt action on issuing the necessary authorization upon notification from the office of the Adjutant General of Oklahoma. and the good start we have, to give the National Guard a lasting credit to the State and Nation.

I want to thank you and your department for past favors and cooperation and to ask for a continuance of your valuable efforts.

Very sincerely called for duty at Longview, Tex., on account of a race riot. Martial law was in effect in the town and county, and the troops were on duty about one week. During the latter part of September, 1919, about 150 officers and men of the Third and Seventh Cavalry, Texas National Guard, were called to Corpus Christi, Tex., to assist storm sufferers, protect property, and suppress disorders. These troops were on duty about three weeks. On June 7, 1920, a considerable portion of the First Brigade of Cavalry, Texas National Guard, were ordered to Galveston, Tex., to protect property and suppress disorders arising from a strike of longshoremen. About 85 officers and 820 enlisted men were called for duty. Martial law was declared in the city of Galveston. The troops, on June 30, 1920, were still on this duty.

Two troops of Rhode Island Cavalry were ordered to Bristol, R. I., May 29, 1920, on account of industrial disorders at that place, and were on duty until June 9, 1920.

In all these cases the services of the troops are reported to have been efficient, and the experience and instruction derived was of marked benefit to the officers and men participating.

A rifle camp of instruction for 10 days was held at Camp Mabry, Austin, Tex., during December, 1919, participated in by all machine-gun troops, and by 10 men from all lettered troops of the Cavalry, Texas National Guard. Sixty-three officers and 687 enlisted men attended this camp.

A camp of instruction for officers and selected enlisted men of Cavalry was conducted at Peekskill, N. Y., for the week ending June 19, 1920, at which detachments from New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania were present.

A camp of instruction was held at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., from June 14 to June 28, 1920. Eleven officers and 219 enlisted men, Utah National Guard, and 4 officers and 75 enlisted men, Idaho National Guard, were in attendance at this camp.

A camp of instruction for officers and selected enlisted men of Cavalry was held at Fort Riley, Kans., in June, 1920, for Kansas National Guard Cavalry units.

FIELD ARTILLERY.

During the year ending June 30, 1920, the Field Artillery of the National Guard showed an increase of 19 batteries, 1 headquarters company, and 2 supply companies. The only battery of Field Artillery in existence on June 30, 1919, was Battery A, Field Artillery, Colorado National Guard, stationed at Colorado Springs, Colo. Federal recognition was withdrawn from this battery on January 14, 1920, due to lack of sufficient men.

The batteries gained during the year 1920 have been officered and organized on a very sound basis and a healthy evidence of desire for efficiency is displayed.

It has been very difficult to secure competent instructors in sufficient numbers to supply the demands of the National Guard Field Artillery and this has been a serious handicap in the training and efficiency of the organization.

The armory and stable facilities for many organizations are not entirely suitable for Field Artillery purposes. It is hoped that the States will soon correct this discrepancy.

COAST ARTILLERY.

On July 1, 1919, one company (3 officers and 84 enlisted men) in New York was the only organization of National Guard Coast Artillery in the United States.

During the period from July 1, 1919, to June 30, 1920, the following organizations were inspected and recognized:

State.	Companies.	Officers.	Men.
New York.....	13	45	938
Oregon.....	13	8	215
Rhode Island.....	7	25	566
Total.....	23	78	1,719

¹ Two companies transferred from Infantry, Oregon National Guard.

The total strength of the Coast Artillery, National Guard, on June 30, 1920, was 81 officers and 1,803 enlisted men.

One State, Rhode Island, completely organized its allotment of Coast Artillery troops, but while efforts were made in other States,

SERGEANT-INSTRUCTORS.

Twenty-six sergeant-instructors were detailed for duty with the several States of the department during the fiscal year, there being at its end 22 on duty within the department. These noncommissioned officers have demonstrated the excellence of their selection, and it is sincerely hoped that they may be rated as warrant officers.

SUMMARY OF REPORT OF OPERATIONS OF THE NATIONAL GUARD IN THE CENTRAL DEPARTMENT, JULY 1, 1919, TO JUNE 30, 1920.

[Report submitted by Col. A. L. Dade, I. G., temporarily in charge of militia affairs.]

The following report covering the operations of the National Guard within the Central Department for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920, is hereby submitted in compliance with Militia Bureau letter 319.1 of July 19, 1920.

Col. D. B. Devore, Infantry, has been in charge of the office during the entire year.

At the beginning of the year the National Guard was composed of the following organizations which previously had been federally recognized, viz:

Colorado: 1 regiment, Infantry (the Third Colorado); 1 battery, Field Artillery (Battery D); 1 troop, Cavalry (Troop A), and 1 Signal Corps company (outpost).

Iowa: 1 regiment, Infantry (the Fourth Iowa).

Kansas: 1 regiment, Infantry (the Fourth Kansas). (Federal recognition was extended to this regiment subject to the prompt organization, inspection, and recognition of the Sanitary Detachment, to which recognition was extended to date from August 6, 1919.)

Minnesota: 3 regiments, Infantry (the Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Minnesota).

Missouri: 1 regiment, Infantry (the Seventh Missouri) and 1 company, Infantry (Company H, First Missouri).

Ohio: 8 companies, Infantry (Companies B, E, H, and K, Second Ohio, and Supply Company and Companies C, H, and L, Fourth Ohio).

The following National Guard organizations were organized and received recognition during the year, viz:

Iowa: 4 separate companies, Infantry; 1 sanitary detachment, Infantry; 1 battery, Field Artillery (Battery B); 3 troops, Cavalry (Troops E, F, and G, First Iowa).

Kansas: 4 troops, Cavalry (Troops A, B, C, and D, First Kansas); 1 Signal Corps company (outpost).

Kentucky: 2 troops, Cavalry (Troops A and B, First Kentucky).

Michigan: 3 companies, Infantry (Companies B, F, and H).

Minnesota: Brigade headquarters and staff (Infantry); 2 companies, Infantry (Companies I and K, Sixth Minnesota); 1 regiment, Field Artillery (the First Minnesota), and 1 tank company, less two platoons (Company M).

Missouri: 4 companies, Infantry (Companies E, F, G, and H, First Missouri); 1 troop Cavalry (Troop A).

Ohio: 13 companies, Infantry (headquarters company, machine-gun company, sanitary detachment, supply company, and Companies A, B, D, E, F, G, I, K, and M, Fourth Ohio); 10 companies, Infantry (headquarters company, machine-gun company, supply company, and Companies A, C, D, F, G, I, and L, Second Ohio); 2 separate companies, Infantry.

Wisconsin: 35 separate companies, Infantry; 1 supply company, Field Artillery (First Wisconsin); 1 battery, Field Artillery (Battery A, Second Wisconsin); 1 sanitary detachment, Field Artillery (Second Wisconsin); 10 troops, Cavalry (Troops A, B, C, E, G, H, I, K, M, and Machine-gun Troop, First Wisconsin); 1 troop, Cavalry (Troop A, First Separate Squadron); 3 ammunition train companies, Cavalry division (Companies A, B, and C); 3 supply train companies, Cavalry division (Companies A, B, and C); 1 tank company, less one platoon (Company I).

NATIONAL GUARD ORGANIZATIONS DISBANDED OR CONVERTED DURING THE YEAR.

Colorado.—The Secretary of War under date of August 5, 1919, authorized the adjutant general of Colorado to disband Troop A, Cavalry, Colorado National Guard, stationed at Steamboat Springs, and to organize in place thereof a troop of Cavalry at Denver. The disbandment of Troop A was accomplished March 1, 1920, while the new troop at Denver had not received Federal recognition at the end of the year.

Upon recommendation of the department commander, authority was also granted to disband Battery D, Colorado Field Artillery, and Federal recognition was withdrawn from this unit under date of January 14, 1920.

 New Mexico: None.
 Oklahoma: 2 regiments and 4 separate companies.
 Texas: 6 regiments of Cavalry and 3 regiments of Infantry.

NEW ORGANIZATION RECOGNIZED DURING FISCAL YEAR 1920.

Arizona: 1 troop Cavalry, 1 battery Field Artillery.
 New Mexico: None.
 Oklahoma: None.
 Texas: 2 troops Cavalry.

DISBANDMENTS—ORGANIZATIONS CONVERTED.

Texas: During the year 12 troops of Cavalry and 7 companies of Infantry were disbanded. Fourteen letter companies, 2 supply companies, and 1 machine-gun company; Infantry, were converted into corresponding Cavalry organizations, 2 of which had been recognized prior to June 30, 1920.

Oklahoma: The disbandment of the First Separate Battalion, Infantry, was authorized in letter from Chief, Militia Bureau, dated October 16, 1919, and was effected by the State authorities.

EXAMINATIONS.

Pursuant to instructions contained in Circular Letter No. 66, Chief, Militia Bureau, dated December 26, 1919, and under the provisions of paragraph 225, National Guard Regulations, boards of officers were appointed for the purpose of examining such persons not in the Federal service as may be ordered or authorized to appear before them to determine their qualifications for appointment, promotion, or retention of present commission in the National Guard.

Paragraph 2, S. O. 75, Hq. So. Dept., 1920, appointed boards of officers to meet at the following places: Austin, Waco, and Dallas, Tex., and Oklahoma City, Okla.

Paragraph 1, S. O. 13, Hq. So. Dept., 1920, appointed boards of officers to meet at Houston and San Antonio, Tex.

To date the above boards, with the exception of the one appointed to meet at Oklahoma City, have not functioned, due to the continual changing of the commissioned personnel in the National Guard; the board of officers appointed at Oklahoma City examined all officers that were present at the camp of instruction during June physically, postponing the mental examination until after the annual encampment that is expected to be held in August.

CAMPS OF INSTRUCTION.

Circular Letter No. 36 from the Chief, Militia Bureau, dated July 17, 1919, authorized States having recognized units of the National Guard to hold camps of instruction during the present calendar year. Also advised under what provisions that these camps would be held.

The question of holding camps of instruction for the units of the National Guard of Oklahoma and Texas was immediately taken up with the adjutants general of these two States, Arizona and New Mexico not having any recognized units at that time.

Oklahoma.—Camp of instruction for the National Guard of Oklahoma was held at Fort Sill, Okla., from August 16 to August 30, 1919, inclusive.

Reports covering the field inspection made at close of the encampment were forwarded to the Chief, Militia Bureau, from these headquarters September 16, 1919.

Texas.—A 10-day camp of instruction for target practice of detachments was held at Camp Mabry, near Austin, from December 8 to December 17, 1919; 6 officers and 31 noncommissioned officers of the Regular Army were detailed as instructors. The following detachments from organizations were in attendance:

Second Cavalry, 11 officers and 104 enlisted.
 Third Cavalry, 12 officers and 124 enlisted.
 Fourth Cavalry, 5 officers and 66 enlisted.
 Fifth Cavalry, 14 officers and 193 enlisted.
 Sixth Cavalry, 10 officers and 105 enlisted.
 Seventh Cavalry, 9 officers and 89 enlisted.
 Eighth Infantry, 2 officers and 29 enlisted.
 Ninth Infantry, 11 officers and 135 enlisted.
 Tenth Infantry, 8 officers and 120 enlisted.

During the course of the camp, the officer in charge of militia affairs visited Camp Mabry, pursuant to paragraph 8, S. O. 313, Hq. So. Dept., 1919.

Cavalry Brigades and to organize additional units to complete the division. Of the 50 Infantry units, 33 were recommended disbanded by the department commander, Gen. Hulen concurring in the disbandment of 31 of these units; 17 were authorized converted into Provisional Cavalry troops, and two were held on probation. To date few of these units have been disbanded, although the majority of them have returned all property to the State arsenal, the enlisted personnel have been transferred to other organizations, the disposition of the commissioned personnel has been decided on, and all that remains is to issue the orders announcing the disbandment; the delay is being caused, as understood by this office, by the absence of the officer who issues the order, who is on strike duty at Galveston.

The annual armory inspection of the National Guard of Texas, disclosed the fact that some organizations were careless in the care of horses issued them; in one instance, the horses were found in such a deplorable condition that it necessitated the immediate disbandment of the organization. This was Troop H, Seventh Cavalry, stationed at Columbus. From time to time, reports have been received from inspector-instructors complaining about the condition in which horses were found on their visits of instruction.

Property in possession of the National Guard of Texas is not being properly cared for and stored; in a few cases, organizations have no armory, and in many, proper storage facilities are not provided. Equipment has never been removed from the original packages in many instances.

(i) Conclusions.

The National Guard of Oklahoma is doing fairly well; this, in my opinion, is due, in a great measure, to the personal enthusiasm, initiative, realization of his responsibilities, and knowledge of his various duties on the part of the present adjutant general, Gen. Barrett.

The State authorities of Arizona and New Mexico have at last awakened to a partial realization of their duties in connection with the organization of a National Guard.

~~The National Guard of Texas is in process of reorganization by Maj. Gen. Hulen.~~

The State authorities should exercise more care in the selection of officers for the National Guard; men who are best fitted and who will attend strictly to their duties should be appointed; officers who are deserving should be promoted instead of appointing outsiders who have had no military training whatever; the present roster of officers of the National Guard should be gone over very carefully and all officers who are indifferent or lax in any way should be immediately separated from the service.

In the organization of the new units allotted the various States, the enlisted personnel of these units should be composed of residents of one locality, and not scattered over a wide area as heretofore; the same should apply to the commissioned personnel, officers should reside at the home station of the organization to which assigned. In the appointment of officers to organize new units, these officers should receive instructions covering in detail the requirements necessary to receive Federal recognition, and all discrepancies should be remedied before the unit is reported ready for inspection by an officer of the Regular Army.

The deadwood which now exists in the present National Guard should be eliminated, in order that the actual strength that could be depended upon in an emergency may be known.

More interest should be manifested in matters pertaining to the National Guard by the State authorities; greater cooperation should exist between the various officers of the State Staff Corps and the line, and these various staff offices should function as contemplated by regulations; at present about the only office that is even partially in action is that of the adjutant general of the State. The necessity of prompt action being taken on all papers referred to State authorities should be impressed upon them; heretofore, it has been necessary in almost every case to trace for return of papers or to request information as to what action has been taken on papers referred to them.

All organization commanders should reside at the home station of their organizations, other officers should reside in the close vicinity, near enough to enable them to attend all drills and exercises held by the organization to which assigned.

All officers of National Guard should be instructed in the care, protection, and accountability of property issued to them.

The State authorities should realize the necessity of promptly distributing all regulations, instructions, orders, circulars, and bulletins governing the National Guard to all officers, who in turn will inform each and every member under them of the provisions under which they are working.

NOTE.—Credit is given all States in columns 4 and 5 for units which had been ordered inspected before June 30, 1921, but which had not received recognition at that date. Credit is also given Texas in column 4 for seven provisional Infantry companies which require certificate by instructor, as to conformity with conditions imposed by the Militia Bureau, before Federal recognition can be extended them.

PROSPECTIVE NEW ORGANIZATIONS.

Each State has signified its intention to complete organization of the 1921 increment. Should that increment be completed in each State before June 30, 1922, the following new units will be organized in this corps area during the fiscal year 1922:

Arm of service.	Arizona.	Colorado.	New Mexico.	Oklahoma.	Texas.
Infantry.....	None.....	None.....	None.....	1 brigade headquarters company; 1 brigade veterinary detachment.	Texas is short an entire Infantry division except 1-brigade headquarters company, 1 regimental headquarters company, 4 rifle companies.

EXAMINATION OF NATIONAL GUARD OFFICERS.

Boards for the examination of National Guard officers have been maintained in four States in this corps area, i. e., Oklahoma, Arizona, Colorado, and Texas. The fifth State, New Mexico, has not had, during the fiscal year just ended, any officers who had been commissioned more than a year. The numbers of National Guard officers examined, by States, according to the records of this office, is as follows: Arizona, 1; Colorado, 11; Oklahoma, 78; Texas, 20.

National Guard troops were called into active State service during the year in the following cases:

Colorado: Flood relief work and preservation of law and order, Pueblo. Troops which participated: Battery A, Field Artillery, Troops A, B, and C, and Headquarters Detachment, Cavalry Squadron; Howitzer Company; Companies F, G, K, L, and M, Infantry Regiment, Tank Company, and State staff corps and departments.

Oklahoma: Riot duty, Tulsa, May 31 to June 12, 1921. Troops employed: Company A, C, and D, Second Infantry; Service Company, Sanitary Detachment, and Companies A, B, C, D, and E, Third Infantry.

Texas: Strike duty, Galveston, July 1, 1920, to about October 1, 1920. Troops employed: 1st Cavalry, Brigade Headquarters; State staff corps and departments; 2d Cavalry; 3d Cavalry; 5th Cavalry; 7th Cavalry; 2d Provisional Cavalry Troop; 4th Provisional Cavalry Troop, and 8th Provisional Cavalry Troop.

The Tulsa race riot was admittedly a serious incident and the fact that the Oklahoma National Guard succeeded in coping with that grave situation in a remarkably short time, without the discharge of a rifle and emerged therefrom with only praise from both factions in the riot and from the city administration, won for them the esteem of others, as indicated in press accounts of the affair.

ARMORY DRILL AND INSTRUCTION.

Formulation by a board of officers of a plan of elementary instruction for all arms and branches of the service, to cover approximately the equivalent in time of 25 days of actual instruction, each of five 30-minute drill periods, is recommended. The plan should provide for individual instruction and instruction by squads and platoons only. All training should be dismounted. There will be plenty of time to devote to special training for arms following this elementary instruction.

Assuming that a National Guard Cavalry regiment of eight troop units called into Federal service brings with it to the concentration point the 240 mounts issued at its home stations, the organization would then have to receive 600 riding horses, 100 pack and draft horses, and 160 mules before it could be counted as fully equipped on a peace strength basis. If placed on a war status, the above total of 860 additional animals would be increased to upward of 1,100.

In view of these facts, it will be seen that even under the most favorable conditions it will require perhaps two months to place the average National Guard Cavalry regiments on a footing for effective field service.

Gain (78 per cent).....	12, 254

Of the June 30, 1922, aggregate 27,933, there are 1,534 officers.

It was not necessary to withdraw Federal recognition from any battery because of inefficiency during the past year. Battery A, One hundred and fifty-eighth Field Artillery, Colorado National Guard, was badly disrupted by the Pueblo flood, and as a consequence this unit was placed on probation by the Militia Bureau in June, 1922.

The state of completion of the Field Artillery component of the 18 Infantry divisions follows, the percentages being based on the number of units federally recognized rather than the strength of these units:

The authorized peace strength of a Regular Army Field Artillery regiment is 1,088.

In addition to the divisional Field Artillery organizations, a beginning has been made on the formation of the corps and general headquarters Field Artillery units assigned to the National Guard.

Of the 155-millimeter howitzers, New York, Pennsylvania, and Indiana have organized complete regiments, and scattered over various States there are now 8 battalions, 6 firing batteries, 2 regimental headquarters batteries, and 4 regimental service batteries.

The 155-millimeter guns are represented by regiments in Connecticut and New York and a battery in Washington. One corps ammunition train has also been formed in New York. South Dakota has completed the organization of a 75-millimeter regiment assigned to the general headquarters reserves, while Missouri has a battalion and two batteries of a like regiment.

Due to the shortage in appropriations for the fiscal year 1923, it has been found necessary to discourage the organization of additional Field Artillery regiments other than those pertaining to divisions.

No horsed artillery for use with the Cavalry divisions has yet been formed.

The authorized peace strength of a Regular Army Field Artillery regiment is 1,088.

The modified program, to which reference has already been made as covering the National Guard development for the next three years, provides for eighteen 155-mm. Field Artillery regiments. Of these regiments, the organization of 15 has already been started and 6 of them are complete. These 15 regiments are distributed as follows:

One hundred and sixth Field Artillery (155-mm. howitzer), New York, complete.

One hundred and eighth Field Artillery (155-mm. howitzer), Pennsylvania, complete.

One hundred and seventy-sixth Field Artillery (155-mm. howitzer), Pennsylvania, complete.

One hundred and eighty-ninth Field Artillery (155-mm. howitzer), Oklahoma, complete.

One hundred and seventeenth Field Artillery (155-mm. howitzer), North Carolina, complete.

One hundred and fiftieth Field Artillery (155-mm. howitzer), Indiana, complete.

One hundred and ninety-second Field Artillery (155-mm. gun), Connecticut, complete.

¹ After July 1, 1923, becomes Thirty-first Division.

² The remaining field artillery regiment for the Forty-fourth Division is allotted to New York. It has not been organized and has received no official designation.

NEW MEXICO

RICHARD C. DILLON, Governor, Commander in Chief
 WILLIAM G. HALTHUSEN, Colonel, The Adjutant General
 Maj. HERMAN G. BACA, QMC, USP and DO

CREST: Approved 18 Feb 24. On a wreath, or and gules, a coiled rattlesnake proper.
DESCRIPTION: The snake appears on the State seal. The serpent is the classic symbol of wisdom and the rattler is the American symbol of independence. The diamond-back is native in the State. The predominant original white settlement within the State is of Spanish origin, and the wreath is accordingly gold and red.

NEW MEXICO

RICHARD C. DILLON, Governor, Commander in Chief
 WILLIAM G. HALTHUSEN, Colonel, The Adjutant General
 Maj. HERMAN G. BACA, QMC, USP and DO

Crest: Approved 18 Feb 24. On a wreath, or and gules, a coiled rattlesnake proper.
Description: The snake appears on the State seal. The serpent is the classic symbol of wisdom and the rattler is the American symbol of independence. The diamond-back is native in the State. The predominant original white settlement within the State is of Spanish origin, and the wreath is accordingly gold and red

NEW MEXICO

RICHARD C. DILLON, Governor, Commander in Chief
 WILLIAM G. HALTHUSEN, Colonel, The Adjutant General
 Maj. HERMAN G. BACA, QMC, USP and DO

CREST: Approved 18 Feb 24. On a wreath, or and gules, a coiled rattlesnake proper
DESCRIPTION: The snake appears on the State seal. The serpent is the classic symbol of wisdom and the rattler is the American symbol of independence. The diamond-back is native in the State. The predominant original white settlement within the State is of Spanish origin, and the wreath is accordingly gold and red

QM 424 S-GE 158th Field Artillery 15th Ind.
War Department, OCSG, Washington, April 26, 1933 - To The Adjutant General.

1. In view of preceding indorsements, it is recommended no action be taken at this time toward approving a regimental coat of arms for the 158th Field Artillery. If at a later date the organization requests approval of a coat of arms and it is still allocated to the three states the quiver should not appear on the regimental coat of arms, due to the fact that the crests of the three states would indicate the allocation of the organization.

2. The motto submitted - Virtute omnibus presare (To excel all in respect to valor) - has not been approved for any other organization, and is therefore reserved for the 158th Field Artillery.

3. It is recommended that the following distinctive insignia for the 158th Field Artillery, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona National Guard, under the provisions of paragraph 46, AR 600-40, June 22, 1931, be approved:

BADGE: An Indian quiver argent fringed and with three arrows or, the quiver marked with an avanyu azure, a setting sun gules, and a mullet of the third voided.

The badge will be manufactured in bright metal and enamel in one size, as the organization may select, but not in excess of 1-1/4 inches in height.

TO BE WORN:

By officers: On the service uniform on the upper portion of the shoulder loops of coat; on the front of the service hat midway between band and crease.

On olive drab shirt on the upper portion of the shoulder loops.

On white uniform same as on service coat.

On mess jacket on both lapels above line of miniature medals.

By enlisted personnel: On the service uniform on both sides of the collar; on standing collar, 3/4 of an inch in rear of the service insignia; on lapel collar coat, on the lapel, upper edge of insignia 3/4 inch below notch of lapel on the prolongation of a vertical line through the center of button insignia; on the front of the service hat midway between band and crease.

4. The design of the distinctive insignia and the method of wearing are in accord with the established policy.

5. It is requested that copies of the approval be sent to the Chief of Field Artillery and The Quartermaster General and that a copy be filed for eventual publication.

6. It is also requested that the organization commander, through the Chief of the Militia Bureau, be notified of the approval and that he be instructed to submit two manufacturer's samples to the War Department for approval before supplying the organization with the finished product.

7. The enclosed manufacturer's drawing is in conformity with the above blazon and description.

For The Quartermaster General:

JOHN R. HOLT,
Captain, Q. M. C.,
Assistant.
