Through support from a $3.5 million gift to the Diederich College from the Bernice Shanke Greiveldinger Trust in 2014, Marquette student media has an impressively equipped new home on the second floor of Johnston Hall.

The renovation included a green-screen room with state-of-the-art virtual sets to a sleek video-audio control room and two new radio studios, Marquette's oldest building is now home to some of the country's most cutting-edge technology.

The showcase of the renovation is the second floor newsroom where students from the "Wire" all come together to work on their stories in an airy space with windows overlooking Wisconsin Avenue.
