

Coaching Confidential Podcast

A podcast about life coaching...

...Bringing you behind the curtain

Be a fly on the wall. Listen in to the process of exploration and transformation we call coaching.

Available everywhere you find your podcasts.

At the beginning stages of experimentation and creativity we have committed to 10 episodes. Our initial iteration is to bring folks behind the scenes of coaching sessions. The way we have done this is to share live, unscripted coaching sessions followed by a 'post-game' of the session from the perspective of the coach and the client. We are doing this because we not only love coaching but we believe in the power and potential of the process.

A stake we hold is to talk about coaching so much that it becomes a second language. Bringing fluency to the 'coach approach' for the sake of conscious relationship.

Some of the values we hold in this project are; #creativity #courage #community #freedom. We believe that if you wait to become a Tesla before putting yourSELF into the world you may never leave the garage! We are lo-fi and #becoming, becoming a co-created platform to make coaching a second language, if you would like to contribute towards creating this platform, contact us!
