

Renee Family Health and Psychiatric Nurse Practitioner Office PLLC
Virtual Office
Reading PA 19601
1(800) 235-9770

5. Pregnancy & Risk Acknowledgement

Renee Family Health and Psychiatric Nurse Practitioner Office PLLC have been provided with information about the possible side effects of this medication and the possible drug and/or food interactions that may occur while taking this medication. I understand that in the event of pregnancy certain medications prescribed may pose a threat to the developing fetus. I will be provided with additional options, both pharmacological and non-pharmacological, to consider. I consent to the administration of this medication. I have also been informed of the reason or purpose for which this medication was prescribed. It is recommended that woman who are or may become pregnant, or are breast feeding, discuss this with their primary care physician(Doctor) before taking any medication. It is recommended that patients be educated on reporting all side effects they experience, including, but not limited to, which side effects to report immediately to a health care provider. It is recommended that any provider prescribing medications obtain a thorough patient history that should include (but may not be limited to):1. What medications, including prescribed and over-the-counter medications, the patient is or has been taking;2. What food and drug allergies the patient has;3. What medical conditions the patient has;

Patient or Authorized Legal Representative sign below: