Smashing Stereotypes:

What do you think of when you are asked to picture a scientist? Many people, including children think of a white man, in a lab coat with grey hair. aka Albert Einstein. We are asking anyone in our school community who works in science to please get in touch. We will be hosting a science workplace workshop for our older children on Monday 27th June in the afternoon. We would love it if you could talk to the children in person. If not, if you could make a short video at your workplace explaining what you do would be excellent. There are example videos on Smashing Stereotypes - British Science Week. Many thank Science team.
