

Our Tree Book

Create a tree identification book that all students in a class can contribute to. The book will represent the interests, abilities and learning levels of individual classes.

Consider including:

Identification templates / printouts

Student-made artwork or diagrams

Photographs

Student-made identification pages

Teacher contributions

Collected items including leaves, and bark

Choose trees in your schoolyard, and or have students bring in samples from their home 'place'

The book will be a record and a learning process, an experience that will engage the senses, creativity, and natural understanding. The book can become to be an active resource for continued identification and exploration.
