A REVIEW FOR YOUR BUSINESS CASE

HATS provides Due Diligence Reviews for water and tailings storage facilities as part of mining asset acquisition. HATS understands that the ultimate purpose of a Due Diligence Review is to allow the potential purchaser to understand the opportunities and risk of an asset and whether it will align with the business case and goals. Therefore, it is important for the review to consider the overarching business case and goals for the overall site.

We present our technical findings and recommendations in the context of your business case and goals to allow them to be understood and considered as part of your overall Due Diligence Review.

BEYOND REVIEW

In our Due Diligence Reviews, we go beyond providing just a technical review of the storage facilities in isolation.

We utilise our knowledge of processes upstream of storage facilities such as tailings processing and material handling technologies to provide solutions and recommendations that consider and are integrated with the processing plant and supporting infrastructure. We consider how existing storage facilities on site could be modified to be used more efficiently and still meet your business case and goals.

TECHNICALLY INFORMED REVIEW

Our Due Diligence Reviews are grounded in robust engineering practices and technical assessments, enabled by the knowledge and skill of the HATS team.

We are directly involved in shaping numerous regulatory frameworks and guidelines including ANCOLD Guidelines, ICOLD bulletins, ICMM Guidance Notes and have cooperated in development of the CDA guidelines.

Therefore, we understand the underlying intent and the wider context of the requirements and recommendations in these guidelines that form the basis for reviews.

We bring this industry knowledge and our technical aptitude to provide a high-value Due Diligence Review.

HATS aims to maximise value to our clients through integrity, honesty and delivery on our commitments.

We work with you to deliver a Due Diligence Review of water and tailings storage facilities that aligns with your business case and goals to allow our findings and recommendations to be easily consolidated into your overall mine site Due Diligence Review.
