HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

Context

Africa is entering a decisive period of economic, technological and institutional transformation. The continent's expanding population, growing consumer markets, digital innovation, natural resources, entrepreneurial talent and implementation of the African Continental Free Trade Area present significant opportunities for sustainable economic development.

African enterprises, however, continue to operate in a challenging environment characterised by fragmented markets, infrastructure gaps, inconsistent regulations, restricted access to capital, high operating costs, skills shortages and limited cross-border collaboration. Climate-related risks, geopolitical uncertainty, technological disruption and changing international trade and investment requirements have added further complexity.

Chief executives are expected to navigate these challenges while maintaining organisational performance, protecting stakeholder interests, embracing innovation and identifying new growth opportunities. They require trusted relationships, relevant intelligence, stronger institutional representation and practical platforms through which they can engage investors, policymakers and other business leaders.

The African CEO Council exists to respond to this need by connecting credible African chief executives to markets, capital, knowledge and influence.

Background

The African CEO Council, legally incorporated as the African Council of Chief Executives, Inc., was established in New York City, United States of America, in October 2010.

It was conceived as an independent, non-partisan, pan-African membership-based organisation bringing together chief executive officers, and chairpersons, managing directors, presidents, founders, executive directors and other senior corporate leaders from Africa and the African diaspora.

The Council was created in recognition of the need for a trusted platform through which African business leaders could exchange knowledge, build strategic relationships, promote investment, strengthen corporate leadership and contribute collectively to Africa's economic development.

Following a period of limited activity, the Council has recently been reactivated and repositioned as a modern, action-oriented institution serving the changing needs of African chief executives and their organisations.

The reactivated Council gives a particular attention to practical member value, measurable outcomes, institutional credibility and cross-border business opportunities. Its programmes promote executive leadership, responsible business practices, market access, investment mobilisation, corporate governance, innovation and private-sector participation in public policy.

WHO WE ARE

Leadership for a stronger African private sector

Corporate Indentity

The African CEO Council is an independent, non-partisan, pan-African membership-based organisation dedicated to strengthening executive leadership, enterprise competitiveness and private-sector collaboration across Africa. It is CEO-level platform for serving chief executive officers, managing directors, executive chairpersons and qualifying board chairpersons across Africa and the African diaspora.

The Council provides a trusted platform through which chief executives can develop strategic relationships, access business intelligence, identify investment and partnership opportunities, strengthen their leadership capabilities and contribute to policies affecting the African business environment.

Membership is intended for credible chief executives and senior organisational leaders from established companies, growth enterprises, financial institutions, professional organisations, investment bodies and other qualifying private-sector institutions.

The Council also engages governments, regulators, development finance institutions, investors, multilateral organisations, diplomatic missions, professional bodies, universities, research institutions and development partners where such engagement supports its mission.

Its role is not limited to networking. The Council seeks to convert executive relationships into meaningful cooperation, including commercial partnerships, investment opportunities, policy recommendations, leadership development, market-entry support and collaborative initiatives.

The Council maintains a continental outlook while recognising the different economic, linguistic, regulatory and cultural environments in which African companies operate. Its activities may be delivered through continental programmes, regional engagements, country-level meetings, sector working groups, digital platforms and strategic institutional partnerships.

The African CEO Council is guided by the principles of integrity, professionalism, accountability, inclusion, responsible leadership, collaboration, innovation and measurable impact.

Our profile

The Council convenes senior business leaders to build trusted relationships, exchange practical knowledge, identify opportunities, strengthen governance and contribute informed private-sector perspectives to Africa's policy and development agenda. Its work is designed around the realities facing African enterprises: fragmented markets, uneven access to finance, rapid technological change, governance demands and the transition to sustainable growth.

Mission

To connect, equip and represent African chief executives so they can lead resilient enterprises, expand across markets and contribute responsibly to shared prosperity.

Vision

An Africa in which capable, ethical and connected business leaders build globally competitive enterprises and help shape inclusive economic progress.

Pan-African reach Cross-border relationships and programmes grounded in national and regional priorities.	CEO-level trust A peer environment designed for candid exchange, practical cooperation and executive learning.	Responsible influence Evidence-led engagement that protects institutional independence and public credibility.

WHAT GUIDES US

Five strategic priorities

The Council concentrates its convening, research, partnerships and member services in five areas where collective CEO leadership can produce practical value.

01	Intra-African trade and market access Helping enterprises navigate regional markets, build commercial relationships, use the African Continental Free Trade Area and overcome operational barriers to cross-border growth.
02	Access to capital for growth companies Connecting credible businesses with banks, development finance institutions, investors and capital-market actors while improving investment readiness and financial leadership.

03	CEO board and governance capability Strengthening strategic leadership, board effectiveness, ethics, risk oversight, succession planning and institutional resilience.
04	Digital transformation and responsible AI Helping leaders convert technology into productivity and growth while addressing data governance, cybersecurity, workforce readiness and responsible artificial intelligence.
05	Sustainability and ESG leadership Supporting commercially relevant environmental, social and governance practices, climate resilience, credible reporting and sustainable business transformation.
