

COUNTING EVERYONE

Basques are good at counting, not just 1 and 2, but by the thousands, like they used to count sheep once. We could do no less when counting people, the Basques who worked and lived in Elko, or perhaps were born there but moved away. Further details such as birth, marriage, and death are provided when available. There are non-Basque surnames here, as well, usually because of their marriage to Basques or because they were members of the Basque Club.

Below you will find three main data sources: The Euzkaldunak Basque Club of Elko, the Northeastern Nevada Museum, and Koldo San Sebastian's two volumes:

Basques in the United States, Volume 1:Araba, Bizkaia, Gipuzkoa. Volumen 2: Iparralde and Nafarroa (Center for Basque Studies, University of Nevada, Reno), 2013.

Both Koldo San Sebastian and the publisher UNR's Center of Basque Studies graciously allowed the use of the data. Eskerrik asko, Thank you very much. Thanks also to the NNM and to Toni Mendive, who manages the research section of the museum.

In addition, the Elko Euzkaldunak Basque Club agreed to host the data in its website, which makes sense and is the logical venue. Finally, thanks to Mercedes Mendive for uploading and managing the data on the website.

A [?] indicates doubt on the name or other data. My apologies for the possible spelling errors or for other mistakes such as births and deaths. Altogether there are about 2,450 entries, keeping in mind that there are hundreds of repeat names.

Finally, these particulars about Basques in Elko are a companion to an upcoming book on the same subject, but they appear here and not in the book because of their excessive dimentions.
