HSBD is uniquely qualified and versatile in growing our brand. We work constantly to discover improved design ideas to customize systems in order to best serve new and existing clients. After 18 years of successfully building and growing HSBD, as the owner, designer and developer of HSBD, I am now pleased to offer you options for higher quality listening experiences and even better performance from your entertainment systems. I am proud to offer new, exceptional levels of excellence in design and equipment from Home Systems By Design.

Currently on display, are a few new products: A McIntosh two channel amplifier powering a pair of Sonus Faber Sonetto GII speakers sourcing an Eversolo high quality digital music streamer and a McIntosh Turntable.

Next, experience a Kaleidescape high quality movie server shown on a 75” Samsung The Frame TV.

An example of the HSBD existing brand offering is a stunning Steinway Model S Soundbar. It boasts outstanding sound and performance. To call it just a sound bar is simply an understatement. It is truly an amazing all-in-one theater experience!

A full Sonos surround system is set up complete with Samsung TV with full motion mount, Apple TV, Audioquest, and the new Sonos Ace headphones to audition. Lastly, demonstrating HSBD Pro technician programming expertise to show off, Elan and Lutron just for fun!

This equipment demonstrates one incomparable unique experience. HSBD continues not only to keep up with the ever-changing world of technology for sound, picture, power, and control in the home but also to simply have some fun enjoying a higher quality presentation in a living setting.

HSBD is now using Audioquest products to enhance the Experience Room with more clarity, better power conditioning; simply taking everything to much greater performance levels to show more possibilities in any environment. Be sure to ask if Audioquest products can enhance you current design and setup to give you a better picture, sound and entertainment experience..
