St. Clair College adds to its coaching lineup

BY DAVE WADDELL
STAR SPORTS WRITER

Perhaps St. Clair College should change the school emblem from a Gryphon to a Phoenix.

The athletic department, reduced to near ashes by cutbacks a few short years ago, continued its re-birth Tuesday with the addition of a women's fastball program for this fall.

Bill Smith

In what is becoming an annual summer rite under the reign of college president John Strasser, fastball joins men's hockey, women's basketball and men's volleyball as the latest programs to be introduced.

"It's been a dream of mine and of the many athletes here at the school to see this come here," said Bill Smith, who was introduced as the Saints' first fastball coach at a Tuesday news conference.

"We're only one of seven schools to offer fastball. It's a national sport and an Olympic sport. We're providing another opportunity for female players to continue playing."

Smith, who has coached women's fastball locally for a decade with the Windsor Expos and Windsor Wildcats, will literally have to go to summer school to get the program up and running.

Training camp will open in just over a month with the 12-game schedule beginning Sept. 6 at Seneca.

"It'll be a huge task putting the team together quickly,"

Smith said. "We have a core of a team and we'll see who else walks through the door."

One of those players will be Niki Ouellette.

The student athletic association president helped plant the seed for the program last spring during the OCAA hockey championships.

"Dr. Strasser was open to the idea and we had to provide a list of names to prove the program could fly," Ouellette said. "I know we already have enough players here to have a good team."

"It's very exciting because this provides a place for players to play after the midget level."

Start on the road

The Saints play their first six games plus a tournament on the road before opening at home with a doubleheader Sept. 28 at Windsor Stadium.

Saints turn around season

Pitchers propel fledgling fastball team

TAKING A RIP: Tara Carrier of the St. Clair Saints takes a swing against Mohawk College in women's fastball action at Mic Mac Park Tuesday evening. The Saints split the doubleheader.

• OCAA standings, C5

They've come a long way in just a month against teams with programs two decades old.

St. Clair College's fledgling women's fastball team was drubbed at the start of their first season by Seneca College.

But with pitchers Sara Smith and Niki Ouellette giving them a chance to win against anyone, the Saints have rebounded to play .500 ball and guarantee themselves a playoff spot.

In their first home stand Tuesday, they split a doubleheader at Mic Mac Park with second-place Mohawk College — taking the first 7-4 and dropping the second 14-5.

With a 5-5 record, they'll host first-place Durham next Saturday at the college in a doubleheader starting at 2 p.m., then have a week off before the OCAA playoffs.

Tuesday's games showed the team's strengths and weaknesses.

Smith pitched an outstanding first game, taking a 7-1 lead into the final inning.

A mini-rally by Mohawk fizzled when Smith went back to her change-up to strike out Jackie Rizzo.

On their way

And when Mohawk pitcher Teresa Duffy struggled at the start of the second game, giving up three straight walks and ultimately three runs, the Saints seemed on their way.

But Ouellette didn't have her usual control and shaky defence didn't help as the Saints gave up six runs in the first and never recovered.

Smith finished the game but Mohawk squelched any attempts to rally with great defence from shortstop Tory Holub and third baseman Kelly Fazekas, a LaSalle native.

A fine running catch in the outfield by Rizzo was the game's defensive highlight.

Smith came off the field with a right arm that was a little sore after almost two full games, but she was happy with the team's first season.

"It's so much fun," Smith said. "We came together as a team in the first week in September," Ouellette said.

Shortstop Mandy Grummit agreed that a little better defence to go with already great pitching could give them a shot against anyone.

Durham outguns St. Clair

St. Clair College catcher Mandy Grumitt is in position to apply the tag but the ball arrives too late as Durham baserunner Barb Courtney (8) scores during women's baseball play Saturday at St. Clair College. Durham won both games, 11-0 and 5-2 respectively. Sara Smith went the distance on the mound for the Saints in their 5-2 loss while adding a pair of hits along with teammate Cori Recker. April Lounsbury had two hits in the 11-0 loss. Niki Ouellette was the losing pitcher. Durham sits in first place at 10-1 while the Saints slipped to 5-7 and await their final seeding for the OCAA championship tournament Oct. 18-19.
