Event Description: The Maritime Interdiction Operations course, offered by the United States Naval Sea Cadet Corps, is an intensive training program designed to simulate the critical operations conducted by the Coast Guard's Maritime Security Response Team and Tactical Law Enforcement Team. This course provides cadets with a foundational understanding of the principles of maritime interdiction, focusing on the skills and knowledge required to perform operations aimed at securing the maritime domain. Cadets will engage in a series of lessons covering mission planning, military communications, weapons handling, vessel clearing operations, detainee operations, sensitive site exploitation, and night operations. Conducted at the Navy Reserve Center in Milwaukee, WI, and incorporating real-world scenarios within buildings and on vessels, the course offers a hands-on, immersive experience. Cadets are divided into two six-person teams, fostering an environment that emphasizes teamwork, leadership, and decision-making. This setup ensures that each participant gains practical experience in executing missions, operating in a disciplined and structured environment akin to actual maritime security operations.

Event Notes: See the Welcome Aboard Letter for more information regarding berthing, readiness, medical, reporting, etc. Cadets should be highly mature and be able to meet "EXCELLENT" standard for the Physical Readiness Test (PRT) and will be tested upon arrival to training.

Lodging Notes: Cadets will berth at the NOSC in Milwaukee and will be provided cots. They must bring sleeping bag and pillow; light blanket also recommended.

Travel Notes: Flyers will travel to Milwaukee Mitchell International Airport; cadets will not be shuttled by the training upon arrival; upon departure, cadets will be shuttled.

Training Requirements: Prerequisites: Staff cadets: minimum of PO2 and have experience with Maritime Interdiction Ops & Law Enforcement Or similar trainings, either national or through local unit training, CG ops, or other advanced training
