

Hello, Friends!

Happy Friday!

Wow, what a windy day here in Connecticut! Beautiful, but breezy. A few days ago, we had such lovely weather, it made for the perfect day to go Pumpkin and Apple picking at two local farms. I love the fall... the fresh Apple Cider donuts and Apple Pie might have something to do with that!

Sunday, I'm heading up north, to Rangeley, Maine. I'm hoping the rain and wind, that hit Connecticut the past 24 hours is kind to the north, as I love my drive up to Fall Quilt Camp.

We have a wonderful group of Quilters that are joining us for Fall Quilt Camp this year. Camp starts Wednesday midday through Sunday midday. Tons of fun to be had, I can't wait. We may have to take in some karaoke!

I will forever be grateful to my good friends Dan and Carol, for introducing me to so many of you and to the fabulous Rangeley area five years ago. Additionally, for asking me to teach at all the Spring Quilt Camps and the last three years of Fall Quilt Camp. I truly love the area and the event. We will miss Dan and Carol, but hopefully they will not become strangers! I'm sure until their home is sold, we can count on their shop being there for all our must have quilting needs! I'm thrilled that Lynn Wheatley and I will be able to keep Fall Quilt Camp going! We encourage my Spring Camp Quilters, to consider Lake Morey, Spring Getaway (although we only have a couple spots left), or one of my many other retreats. I'm trying to offer different locations throughout New England, ranging in days and type of amenities.

Next year, I'm teaching at AQS Lancaster, March 27th-30th, so I'm not hosting a Lancaster Retreat in 2019. I'm hoping to have an announcement soon, for 2020! Stay tuned! Additionally, make sure to sign up for emails from AQS. Registration opens November 20th! AQS Lancaster details here.

If you are looking for a more intimate retreat size, consider my Strong House Retreat, in Vergennes, VT. I have a few spots left in my Fall Retreat, November 8th-11th and in the very popular February Quilter's Choice retreat, February 7th-10th.

Finally on the retreat front, if you are on the fence with signing up for my Cabin Fever retreat, on Martin Luther King's weekend, in CT, now is the time to make a decision. I have a few spots left and my final rooming list is due November 18th. So give it some thought and send that registration in!

Here are some additional details on my retreats:

SPRING GETAWAY!

May 2nd-5th (Thursday - Sunday)

Spring Quilter's Getaway @ Lake Morey with Michelle Renee Hiatt & Lynn Wheatley

Only a couple of spots remain! Enjoy the 4 day/3 Night Retreat at the Lake Morey Resort in Fairlee, VT

Escape the chores of spring cleanup by joining Michelle and Lynn at the beautiful Historic Lake Morey Resort! Set on a pristine lake surrounded by green hills, the Lake Morey Resort provides a beautiful natural setting yet still offers all the best features of any full-service resort, an inviting place to relax with new found quilting friends. You can sew to your hearts delight, take a swim in the heated indoor pool or hot tub, get a massage or take a paddle out on the lake. At night you'll hear the call of the loons across the lake and feel like you can reach out and touch the stars—all without having to “rough it.”

Do not miss out of this fabulous retreat that is sure to be an annual event!

My upcoming Events

Be sure to follow my events on my Facebook Events page. I'm adding events all the time!

Please make sure to head over to my Blog and check out my tips for this week's block. Remember, you need to download this week's block by Thursday, October 18th!

Next week, I will be teaching at Fall Quilt Camp in Rangeley, so I hope to get the post ready prior to Camp on Friday morning, it may be after dinner, depending on how things end up going. I'm finding less and less runway in my days, I don't know where time is going. All good things, but busy, busy, busy!

Go get sewing! Be sure to post those finished blocks and Quilts on the Timeless with a Twist Facebook page!

Have a great weekend!

Keep Stitching,
Michelle
