

The Groove

Shaun LaBelle

Featuring

Everette Harp & Stokley

Sony music recording artist Shaun LaBelle is coming off his hit single “Feel the Breeze”, featuring Patrice Rushen, with his latest single, “The Groove”. “The Groove” is an exciting and funky cut from his new album featuring his close buddies, Everette Harp, Gerald Albright, Jeff Lorber and Stokley, formerly of Mint Condition and now #1 R&B solo artist.

LaBelle, a multi-Platinum Producer, Brit Award winner (British Grammy) and former Jody Watley Bassist, was hired by George Duke back in the early 90’s. Shaun co-produced Everette Harp's very first record and together, Shaun and Everette have collaborated for more than 30 years including producing four of Everette's solo albums. Shaun and Stokley also share the same multi-decade history of writing and producing together.

The song, “The Groove”, is exactly what the title says it is, a total groove with beautiful melodic melodies with a catchy hook that just makes you feel good.

The long list of Shaun’s collaborations continues. George Duke, Jeff Lorber, Patrice Rushen, Prince, The Pointer Sisters, Ray Charles, Jody Watley, Howard Hewett, Ambrosia, Branford Marsalis, Pieces of a Dream and more just to name a few. They have all chosen Shaun LaBelle for one reason... He knows how to groove!
