

“With over $135 million sales CLOSED (individual career sales volume), I’ve found real estate is more than a structure and some land — it’s about people, it’s about dreams and aspirations. It’s about families buying the place that will become a home. When it’s time to sell, the home that has meant so much to them in the past now means even more to their future. It’s critical that they’re able to maximize their investment. I know what’s important in my clients’ lives. I take my responsibility very seriously.” —Barb Banman
