Pachter previously served for nearly two decades as President and CEO of Long Island Cares, where he led one of Long Island's largest hunger-relief organizations. During his tenure, Long Island Cares expanded its food distribution network, strengthened partnerships with community agencies and increased advocacy efforts focused on addressing food insecurity and poverty.

As Vice Chairman, Pachter will help guide board governance, strategic growth initiatives, and long-term planning efforts as Pronto continues to broaden its impact.

“I’m honored that Pronto of Long Island has invited me to join the dedicated members of its board of directors as Vice Chairman,” Pachter said. “Pronto’s approach to supporting people experiencing food insecurity is comprehensive because they focus on the root causes of hunger by providing an array of services and programs that enable people to move from being in need to becoming more self-sufficient. I’m looking forward to working with the board to position Pronto to meet the growing needs within our region.”

Pronto of Long Island operates a large food pantry in Bay Shore and offers a range of programs designed to support families facing hardship. The organization is also planning a grand opening for its new walk-in pantry in the near future.
