

YOUR WORRY

Everyone's worry looks different. In the circle below, draw what you believe your worry looks like. Name your worry. This will help you externalize your worry, so that it is not something inside of you, but something tangible that you can start to confront and make "go away."

