My Anecdotes with God

Tulsa author releases book about lifetime of divine encounters

"I remember pressing God again for answers, 'Is heaven beyond the galaxy? If I could travel far enough into outer space would I find you, God, out there somewhere in heaven? Where are you?' Just moments after that emphatic question registered in my mind, I felt something like a tender tap on my chest from the inside and heard the gentle answer, 'I'm right here.' A new understanding washed over me. Suddenly, I felt profoundly silly to have been searching for God out in the vast distance of space. What an intimate, deeply personal, and reassuring response from God...He was right here, inside me all the time."

-excerpt from GodSway

Have you ever felt, for better or worse, that you weren't always in control of your life? Like an outside force was nudging you, guiding you?

In this heartwarming and hopeful book, Diana Skidmore Keathley shares pivotal moments in her life and how they impacted and were impacted by her relationship with God. Readers will follow her from her youth in Tulsa as a Daddy's girl, to her turbulent teenage years pulled away from her hometown and her dream of performing, and into her adult life as a foreign language teacher.

Throughout her early life she was often overtaken by panic attacks. In one of these moments, she challenged God, questioning His love for her, and cried out for help. When she did, she began to feel His personal response, launching her into a life full of incredible interaction with her Creator.

In these pages, with the benefit of hindsight, she recognizes the pull God had in her life from the beginning – the sway He had over her. She calls this divine interaction her GodSway – the evidence of His work in her life.
