President's Byline

Recently the press has sunk to a new low. The mainstream media has moved from being the mouthpiece of the Democrat party to being Soviet style propagandists. It is no secret that Kamala Harris has been on the campaign trail for 34 days as the new Democrat presidential candidate but has yet to do one interview. I will not call her the Democrat nominee because no one nominated her or voted for her. She was decided on by the higher ups in the Democrat National Committee. She is the single most terrifying candidate we have ever had, not just because of the way she made it into office, but because the media does not seem concerned that we have a candidate who has completely circumvented the normal elections process for candidates in our country. They are not asking her why she is flip-flopping on the issues voters care about that are in direct conflict with the Biden-Harris administration. They are not concerned about her policies or vision for running our country. They do not think it is odd that she now pro-fracking, pro-oil and gas, pro-closed border, and pro-family. They do not seem to be concerned she wants to enact an unconstitutional Federal Price Gouge law to force the private grocery industry to freeze prices because of the poor economy caused by Bidenomics. Instead, they have turned her coverage into a Kamala love fest.

In the New York Post, columnist Michael Goodwin wrote, It's déjà blue: The media is promoting Kamala Harris without substance – just like Obama in 2008. But will swing state voters demand policy? The mainstream media is using Hope and Change again for Kamala. But this time, that message should fall flat with all voters not just in those in the middle or in swing states because I do not understand how she will completely distance herself from the most disastrous presidency since Jimmy Carter. The Biden administration not only has destroyed the country's economy, but it has declared open war on the oil and gas industry and destroyed the American dream of home ownership for most families. Systemically put transgender friendly policies in place destroying women's sports at every level. These policies especially hurt young, poor women who need these athletic policies to climb out of poverty.

Despite being a woman, Kamala is surprisingly anti-woman. She only offers abortion to the Black community saying like all Democrats that abortions "free Black women from the financial burden of too many children." Margaret Sanger, the founder of Planned Parenthood said the same racist and eugenic rhetoric about Irish and Black women over a century ago. Current CDC statistics cite the number one reason for most abortions is perceived financial hardship from loss of current income or loss of future potential income across all demographics of women. Yet, Kamala Harris has not produced one single policy to help women. These problems are directly caused by economic instability and out of control inflation from the Biden-Harris administration's inept handling of the economy.

Kamala Harris with the rest of the Democrat party says one thing while doing another. Let us not forget the Biden Administration is letting all of the Trump era tax credit that helped families will expire.

These are the "real accomplishments" of Biden-Harris Administration:

- They overstated job growth in the past 12 months, we are down 818, 000 jobs with total payroll levels down 0.5% according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.
- From January 20, 2021, to the present, the Biden-Harris administration added $7.4 trillion to National Debt.

- Overall inflation is at 19.4% and real wages after being adjusted with inflation are down 1.8%.
- On immigration we have had 8.1 million plus encounters at the South border.
- Because of the Biden- Harris Open Border policy, a new report from the Homeland Security Inspector General office report says they have lost track of 291,000 migrant children and over 32,000 migrant children have failed to appear for court dates. This means widespread exploitation of minors into forced labor, organized gangs, and sex trafficking.
- The average monthly cost of groceries has increased to $1,200- $1,500 per family according to the U.S. Census Bureau.
- Inflation from Jan '21- June '24 reports gas up 46%, groceries up 21%, energy up 33%, daycare up 16%, rent up 22%, car insurance up 53% and transportation up 36%.

What the mainstream media is not reporting, the Harris- Walz tax proposals:

- Corporate tax rate increased to 28% from the current rate of 21% - which will drive businesses to other countries with better tax rates.
- Capital gains tax increased to 44.6%, from the current rate of 20% - which will kill investments.
- Unrealized gains tax increase to 25% from the current rate of zero – The stock market will crash like in the 1920's.

The silence and compliance of the mainstream media outlets is deafening. You have to dig to find these statistics or watch conservative news outlets like Fox, OneAmerica or News Max. But since the mainstream media labels all of these networks as right wing, conspiracy theory places, most people skip them and stay indoctrinated by CNN, MSNBC, ABC, CBS, and NBC.

Then there is Robert Kennedy, Jr, who, in his concession speech, cited the press as being a major factor in him losing his campaign for president. He said they often said misleading things about his campaign. Or worse they exaggerated or lied about his record. Sound familiar? The media also under reported the problems he was having with the Democrat party. They wouldn't stop suing him. Yes, that is correct. The Democrats sued the son of Democrat hero RFK to keep him off the ballot in several states. By June, he was only going to be on the ballot for Utah, Michigan, Delaware, Oklahoma, and Tennessee. By August he was still dealing with lawsuits from Nevada, New York, North Carolina, Delaware, and New Jersey to keep him off the ballot. Why? Because the DNC was afraid, he would take 6-10% of the vote away from Biden and now Harris during the election.

Another political adversary that the DNC has been allowed to destroy by weaponizing the justice system. In his concession speech, he accurately predicted the mainstream press would inaccurately report what he said in his concession speech because the majority of them present during his speech have misrepresented the truth about him many times in the last sixteen months. RFK said the press have lost their way and become the mouthpiece of the Democrat party. True to form, the next day the only stories you heard about RFK stepping down and supporting Donald Trump was that he was "unbalanced," the Kennedy family was worried about his mental health, and he was a thief accepting illegal campaign donations who is trying to avoid prosecution. All of these things have been said about or done to President Trump. The Constitution protects a Free Press, but we no longer have a free press. We have an aggressive propagandist tool used by one political party to destroy political adversaries.

The Soviet Union had two newspapers, Pravda which translates to "Truth ", was the official newspaper of the Communist Party, and Izvestiya which means "News," was the official newspaper of the Soviet government. The Russian people in the Soviet Union used to say, "In Pravda (Truth) there is no news, and in Izvestiya (News) there is no truth." That sums up our current media problem in one simple sentence. Most voters make their choices based on what they see in the news, they do not dig or ask hard questions. The best way to rig an election is by controlling what people hear. If we no longer have a free press, then we no longer have a free society. We are only given the illusion of freedom and choice as candidates and policies are fed to us by a propagandist machine.

AMERICANISM REPORT

by Ellen Leyrer

THE TIME IS NOW: A CALL TO ACTION

SEPTEMBER 1, 2024

Voting is more than a right; it is a sacred duty and privilege of every American citizen. Our Founding Fathers understood this deeply, paying tremendous costs in life, health, money, family, and honor to establish a nation where every citizen's voice matters. As a conservative Republican, it is crucial to not only exercise our right to vote but also to galvanize our communities to do the same, to save the values and principles fought for by our Founders.

The Challenge We Face Today

Today, America is at a crossroads. The nation has seen a shift towards more liberal, socialistic policies. While Democrats have excelled at mobilizing their base and getting out the vote, Republicans often lag behind. This is a challenge we must overcome to ensure that conservative values are not overshadowed.

The Importance of Grassroots Mobilization

We must take a page from the Democrats' playbook and become more effective at grassroots mobilization. This means:

- Educating Voters: Informing our communities about the importance of voting and how to register.
- Community Engagement: Hosting events, town halls, and discussions to engage with potential voters and address their concerns.
- Volunteer Networks: Establishing strong networks of volunteers to assist with phone banking, canvassing, and voter assistance on Election Day.
- Utilizing Technology: Leveraging social media and other digital platforms to reach younger voters and spread our message more effectively.

The Role of Republican Women

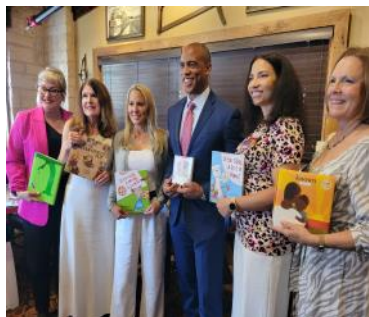

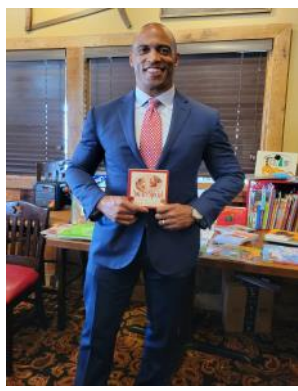

As Republican women, we have a unique role to play in this effort. We must lead by example, showing our communities the importance of civic engagement and the power of their vote. Here are some steps we can take:

- Voter Registration Drives: Organize and participate in voter registration drives to ensure that every eligible voter is registered.
- Information Campaigns: Distribute literature and host informational sessions on key issues and candidates.
- Support Networks: Create support networks to help voters with transportation, childcare, and other barriers that might prevent them from voting.
- Election Day Activities: Volunteer as poll workers or election monitors to ensure a fair and transparent voting process.

The survival of America as we know it depends on voting and mobilizing voters. By honoring the sacrifices of our Founding Fathers and recognizing the critical role we play in today's political landscape, we can ensure that conservative values remain a guiding force in America. Let us commit to voting, encouraging others to vote, and working tirelessly to get out the vote. Together, we can shape a future that honors our past and secures our freedoms for generations to come.

Remember the words of Ronald Reagan: "Freedom is never more than one generation away from extinction. We didn't pass it to our children in the bloodstream. It must be fought for, protected, and handed on for them to do the same. So, it is up to us to get out there, vote, and work hard to make a difference!"

"The tasks may change, but the Connections will last."

We have one of the most unqualified individuals ever to run for President of the United States in our history. The mainstream media along with social media in the process of propping her up and “reinventing” her. She is basically co-opting President Trump’s stances on various issues. For example, she is touting that under her administration there will be “no taxes on tips. She’s now for fracking even though she emphatically said in 2020 in her unsuccessful bid for the Democrat Party nomination for president that she would absolutely ban fracking on day one. Do not be fooled, this woman and her choice for vice president are dedicated communists hellbent on destroying our Republic (we are a Republic, not a democracy). THEY ARE THE GREATEST DANGER TO OUR REPUBLIC!!

We must work daily to connect with our family and our friends to get them to the polls on October 21, 2024, the first day of Early Voting. Encourage them not to wait for November 5th!

Kamala’s moment: The pantsuit is truly empty

by Derek Hunter, Opinion Contributor - 08/22/24 11:43 PM ET

When Joe Biden picked Kamala Harris as his running mate four years ago, he said he did so because she could assume the office “on day one.” More than 30 days after becoming the presumptive nominee, Harris still does not seem ready to be the Democratic Party’s nominee, let alone president. She is an empty pantsuit, basking in the glow of positive media coverage and unburdened by accountability.

Her acceptance speech confirmed that.

Harris has now officially accepted the Democratic Party’s nomination. Her nomination was “historic,” as liberals like to say, but not because of her ethnicity. Rather, she is the first nominee of either party who did not have to secure a single delegate or a single vote in the primaries. She is “historic” in that it is highly unlikely that she could have secured that nomination had there been any sort of competition for the job.

In keeping with how she got the nomination, her acceptance speech was all sizzle and no steak. It will be billed as containing her “vision” for America, but it contained no such thing. It wasn’t much different from the stump speech she’s been reading off the teleprompter since Nancy Pelosi and the rest of the Democratic Party power elite knifed Biden last month and tossed his body into the dumpster earlier this week.

Kamala came from humble beginnings; she repeated them, as if the circumstances of anyone’s birth could be an accomplishment. She was born in Oakland, Calif., which sounds pretty rough nowadays thanks to its misgovernment, but she was actually the child of two college professors, not manual laborers or blue-collar workers. Raised on the “mean streets” of Berkeley, and Montreal, Canada, she was not some underprivileged child or hard-luck story.

The biographical part of her speech was spent reshaping standard information into applause lines. Her introductory video talked about her time on various Senate Committees, questioning witnesses about issues near and dear to the left. What it didn’t contain was any accomplishments.

In her brief time in the Senate, Harris authored zero bills that became law. The crowd didn’t care. Its sustained standing ovation took the place of a resume. Existence as accomplishment is something speakers do only when they lack actual accomplishments. This was why Harris’s speech ran flat.

The night was more about vibes than anything else. The crowd cheered like it was their job, because it was their job. They’re partisans bent on selling her candidacy. That’s what they did.

As for what Harris would do as president, your guess remains as good as mine. She has given us no vision to talk about. There was nothing new in the speech, and nothing specific. It’s difficult to fight a cloud. You can see it coming, but there’s really nothing to it.

When it came to policy, the speech consisted of multiple word salads. She’s against this, in favor of that and will make everything better to fight a cloud. You can see it coming, but there's really nothing to it.

When it came to policy, the speech consisted of multiple word salads. She's against this, in favor of that and will make everything better somehow, the "somehow" part being key. How she will pay for her laundry list of promises is unknown. For example, she just promised to make everything more affordable and to fight inflation through price controls that almost certainly cannot be executed and won't work in any case. Say what you will about Trump's wall or Obama's health care plan, but they were both actual proposals. Neither of their promises were so inane or inconsequential.

For a big speech, this one was also devoid of urgency or earnestness. Her price controls discussion began and ended with her denunciation of "corporate greed." She never even bothered to define what that means.

The only things for certain is she loves abortion and hates Donald Trump, whom she falsely claimed wants to jail political opponents and journalists.

She said she "grew up immersed in the ideals of the Civil Rights Movement." She didn't explain what this word salad meant, but the truth is that she was born in 1964. She almost certainly has no memories before 1970.

It was just one empty line in a very empty speech. "We are all in this together" is a great bumper sticker, but it's meaningless when you view people as parts of separate groups based on their skin color, sexual orientation or whatever other ways you can divide and conquer voters based on irrelevant demographic characteristics.

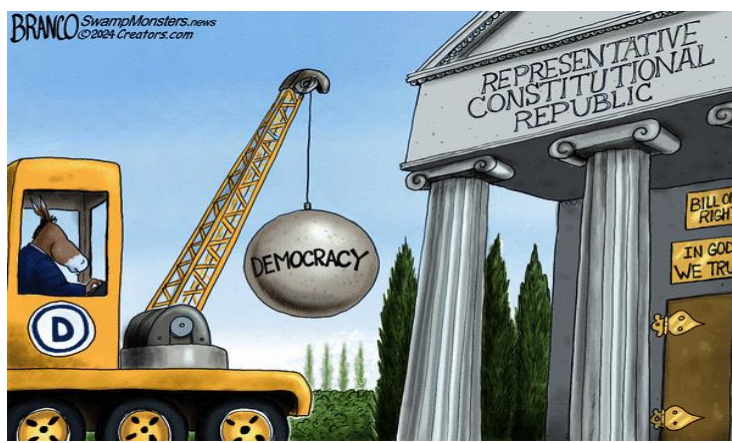

After four days of speeches, I have no clearer an idea of what Harris would do as president than I did beforehand. I have no idea why, if she has all these wonderful ideas to "fix" the nation's problems, she has sat by as vice president and let things get so bad during the last three years and seven months.

Kamala Harris's resume is a mostly blank page. Her time in the Senate was mostly spent grandstanding for the cameras in committee hearings with meaningless lines of questioning from which nothing substantial resulted. Her tenure as vice president might as well not have happened, if you just listened to the speeches at the Democratic convention. In fact, her participation in Biden's hugely unpopular administration was quite deliberately buried in the midnight time slot on Monday along with Biden. And she treated your desire to change the nation's direction as if it were a character flaw on your part.

The many fawning speakers, the positively glowing press coverage and so many unquestioned assertions; At the end of it all, the only thing you can say for sure about what Harris believes is that she should be president, and she'll say literally anything to get there. She will renounce all of her past positions if that's what it will take.

What she'd do on that job is entirely a matter of speculation. Her unwillingness to tell people either means that she doesn't know or she doesn't want us to know. Neither option is good.

Heritage Action Sentinel Summit, August 24, 2024

Catherine Gibb, August 30, 2024

I recently attended the summit in Atlanta and I wanted to pass along some of the information that we were given to our PRW members, Associates and Sponsors.

Heritage Action is the political action arm of Heritage Foundation. When I attended the 50th Anniversary of the Heritage Foundation in Washington, D. C. in April, 2023, all attendees were given a copy of Heritage Foundation's Project 2025.

According to Kevin Roberts, the CEO of the Heritage Foundation, "Project 2025 has built upon the decades-long legacy of providing public policy solutions by creating a database of strong conservatives who want to serve in government and enrolling them in our Presidential Administration Academy. ... This terrifies the left and they have taken to smearing the 2025 Project and putting out false information.

In just the past 7 weeks, 50 outlets have published pieces fact-checking the outrageous and false claims about our project.

We [Heritage Foundation] have launched a website to counter the Left's worst lies about Project 2025. This in partnership with dangerouslyliberal.com is part of our ongoing effort to highlight the profound policy contrast before the American people."

I urge you to check out this site and encourage your friends and family as well. I am also including links to other websites that we were introduced to at the Sentinel Summit.

You can become a sentinel in Heritage Action and be included in these events. I know there are a few of the members of PRW who are sentinels as I am. Just text Now to 51776.

DNC Doubles Down: More of the Same Under Harris

Key Takeaways from the 2024 DNC

As expected, the Democratic National Convention has solidified Kamala Harris as their 2024 presidential nominee. The messaging was clear and consistent: they're committed to doubling down on failed policies that have already put our economy in jeopardy, weakened our borders, and promoted a divisive, woke socialist agenda.

Under this administration, we've seen skyrocketing inflation, chaos at the southern border, and a relentless push towards extreme policies that are out of step with everyday Americans. The DNC's decision to move forward with Harris signals that we can expect more of the same if they remain in power.

Now, more than ever, it's critical that we stay focused on the issues that matter to hard-working Americans and push back against policies that harm our communities.

Texans and all Americans deserve a leader like President Trump who will prioritize your needs and the future of our nation. This election presents a clear choice between the Democrats' failed socialist policies that have failed America over the past four years and our vision for a thriving, secure, and free America.

Get ready to vote in November to Make America Great Again!

Was it Luck? Or Part of a Bigger Plan?

I called my friend Matt Crouch, President and Chairman of TBN (Trinity Broadcasting Network), after President Trump was shot. I asked if he would consider a show to talk about whether God spared the life of the president, as I believe, or was just a random act of incredible luck.

The week before last, I taped an hour with Matt, Dr. Phil, Pastor Allen Jackson, and news anchor Kris Gutierrez about what the Bible says about God choosing our leaders and being involved in elections.

There was no script or plan. None of us knew what the other was going to say beforehand.

Thank you all for your support and everything you do to keep Texas red. May God bless you and your family, and may He continue to bless the greatest state of all—Texas.

Sincerely,

INTERESTING FACT: TEXAS IS THIRD MOST RELIGIOUS STATE

Texas is the third most religious state in the U.S., after Alabama and Virginia, according to a study by charity directory SmileHub.

Using various data sets, such as the U.S. Census Bureau, the U.S. Religion Census, and Google Trends, SmileHub compared the 50 states across several categories.

Texas leads in faith-based charities per capita and religion-themed Google searches, earning it a first-place ranking in the "Religion-Affiliated Organizations" category and second place (behind North Carolina) in "Religious Interest & Places of Worship."

Although denomination didn't factor into the study's rankings, the U.S. Religion Census shows that Southern Baptist is the predominant religious identity in North Texas and the Panhandle, while South and West Texas are predominantly Catholic.
