PDATLAS LLC RECOMMENDATION

My name is Trent Bailey, founder of ParWalker. We are building a golf brand focused on walking golfers. Our first product is a spill-resistant cupholder that clips onto a golf bag and lets golfers carry a drink while walking the course without worrying about spills or setting it on the ground.

I was introduced to Think through my design partner. Like many first-time founders, I had concerns about manufacturing overseas. My biggest questions were around trust, product quality, communication, protecting the idea, and whether the final product would actually meet the standard I had in mind. My partner kept telling me how honest and dependable Think was, and that proved true very quickly.

Working with Think and PDAAtlas has been a great experience. Communication has always been strong, timelines were clear, and costs were straightforward. If additional work came up, it was handled fairly. What stood out most to me was that Think cared about getting the product right. He was invested in making something customers would actually love, not just pushing a project through.

Together with PDAAtlas, we brought ParWalker to life. This was not a simple product. We had to solve movement and balance challenges so the holder stayed stable while walking. We had to make it work across different golf bag styles. We also needed it to fit multiple can sizes while still looking clean and premium. There were plenty of revisions and real problem solving along the way, and Think helped us get to a final product we could confidently launch.

If I had gone with a U.S. manufacturer, I am sure costs would have been much higher. Just as important, I valued how available and responsive Think was throughout the process. That level of hands-on partnership matters a lot when building something new.

I would absolutely recommend PDAAtlas to other founders and product owners. Fair pricing, strong communication, and a real willingness to go above and beyond. Think cares about the details, the tolerances, the quality, and the end customer experience.

Most importantly, Think earned my trust. I am already working with him and PDAAtlas on project number two, which says all that needs to be said. I look forward to continuing to build together.

Best regard,

Trent Bailey
