

JULY Non-Fiction

"A group of Native American kids from different tribes presents twelve historical and contemporary time periods, struggles, and victories to their classmates, each ending with a powerful refrain: we are still here"

"RSVP and join the ball—a moth ball—and study backyard moths. Captivating photographs show how to lure in moths in order to study and appreciate them. Approachable text with direct address to the reader shows the magic of being a citizen scientist right in your own back yard."

"A book that explores the hidden truth about the American Revolution featuring sidebars, illustrations, photos, and graphic panels"
